House Probers Find Frauds In Vets' Housing

Teague Reports 'Vicious Practice' Of Selling Rights

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Chairman Teague (D-Tex) said today the House Veterans Affairs Committee has found a widespread "vicious, illegal practice" involving the buying and selling of veterans' housing rights.

Teague, whose group has under way a $50,000 inquiry into alleged GI housing irregularities, said still-incomplete findings also indicate:

1. Veterans Administration laxity in its home loan guarantee program. He said the VA has lost some 23 million dollars in foreclosures, and some veterans have found themselves in debt to the government even though they had sold their homes and were living somewhere else when the foreclosures took place.

2. Instances were VA employes working on housing have used their position to make money outside their salaries—such as appraising a project for more than its worth and accepting money from the builder. However, he said VA vigilance on this score seems better than when the committee last looked into the matter in 1952.

Teague called the selling of GI home loan guarantee rights "a vicious, illegal practice that is widespread throughout the United States."

Committee investigators said the rights sales, punishable by fines up to $5,000 and five years in prison upon conviction, have involved both builders and real estate agents as well as the veterans. However, they said most of the veterans did not know they were violating the law in selling their rights at prices ranging "from a drink up to $400."

Communists Free Four Guards After Stiff West Demand

BERLIN, April 23 (AP)—The Communist East German government announced tonight the release of four German custom guards kidnaped with their speedboat from West Berlin two days ago.

Their release was announced by the Ministry of the Interior a few hours after publication of a vigorous protest by the Western commandants of the city to Soviet authorities, demanding the immediate return of both craft and crew. The announcement was carried by the official East German news service, ADN. It did not disclose whether the seized customs boat would also be returned.

The released custom guards arrived in West Berlin tonight in the U.S. sector.

They walked over the border at Glienicker Bridge not far from where they had been seized on Thursday. The Communists so far have not returned the boat.

West Berlin officials also announced Communist customs guards have seized in the last three days six trucks carrying scrap metal and metal products

Storm Warnings Are Lifted Here

While severe storms and at least one tornado battered the mid-south yesterday, the Twin Cities area escaped with only cloudy skies. However, severe storm warnings were issued for northeast Louisiana early yesterday evening, but were lifted about 9 p.m. The government weather bureau also issued severe storm warnings with possible tornadoes between El Dorado, Ark., and Bowling Green, Ky., and an area 70 miles on either side.

Louisiana is expected to be fair and mild today and Monday. Arkansas is expected to be clearing today and fair and mild Monday.

CAA officials at the Selman Field station last night reported that the high in Monroe was 83 degrees. The low for the day was 76 degrees.

Many From Region Flock To Las Vegas To Wait Tuesday's Atomic Blast

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written by Charles Richardson, who is covering the Atomic Energy Commission's "Operation Cue" at the Nevada proving grounds for the Monroe Morning World and the Shreveport Times.)

By Charles Richardson

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 23—Some 2,000 special observers from all parts of the nation—including a delegation of about 75 from Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas,—poured into this gaudy gambling mecca today for participation in the Atomic Energy Commission's "Operation Cue," a week long test program which will be climaxed early Tuesday morning with a spectacular atomic burst from a 500 foot steel tower in the nearby desert.

Hopes of watching the nuclear detonation on schedule were buoyed this morning with a statement from Dr. Alvin C. Graves, scientific adviser to the atomic test manager. Graves told the observers gathered in Las Vegas high school auditorium that a special long range weather forecast for the early hours Tuesday indicated calm winds from the desired direction and virtual absence of an overcast sky. He emphasized, however, that the weather evaluation was based on long range information and was subject to change.

Graves also disclosed that Tuesday's shot—which will furnish the first graphic introduction into the ways of the atomic age for most of the civil defense workers and newsmen gathered here — will be a massive 40 kiloton burst from a tall steel tower at Yucca Flat, some 85 miles from here.

An explosion of a 40 kiloton bomb, AEC Authorities said, is equivalent to that of about 40,000 tons of TNT.

Graves declined to be more specific about the estimated "yield" of the Tuesday tower shot. But he advised observers that "you're certainly not going to see something that is small and insignificant, I'll say that."

A 40 - Kiloton nuclear device would pack roughly twice the lethal punch as the atomic bombs set off in 1945 over Nagasaki and Hiroshima in Japan. Graves said the Tuesday burst would not be the biggest of this spring series but would definitely be "one of the biggest."

The burst will be the 14th this spring and the 44th blast set off in the continental United States.

The week - long operation gathered speed today with special briefings and lectures from a number of high AEC and military authorities. Speaking before the observers at the headquarters in the high school were Dr. Graves; Val Peterson, former governor of Nebraska and now federal civil defense administrator; James E. Reeves, test manager for the AEC, and Dr. Gordon M. Dunning, of the AEC division of biology and medicine.

Observers from the Ark-La-Tex, like those in most other states, have been split into two categories. Most of them will attend the lectures and special briefings, take notes for future application to local civil defense problems, and visit the mock town which will be destroyed in Tuesday's burst.

But some few of the delegations will get more practical training in civil defense emergency procedure. Those in this category have been listed as "field participants" and are being quartered at the Army's Camp Desert Rock on the proving grounds.

They will carry out assignments Tuesday similar to those which they will be expected to do in the event of a real atomic attack on Shreveport, Monroe Texarkana, or any other town. Many of them, like 29 - year - old George Whitlow, a Monroe policeman and civil defense worker will be assigned to police service work during "shot day." Most of the others, like Col. Fred Mechlin of Shreveport, who is Shreveport - Bossier City radiological defense chief, will remain on the observation knoll and watch the burst with the majority of other delegates.

The celebrated operation, biggest "open shot" in AEC history, has drawn top authorities from Washington. On hand for the test are Robert Anderson, deputy secretary of defense; Robert Stevens, secretary of the army; Gen. Matthew Ridgway, army chief of staff and some members of the presidential executive staff. About a dozen army officers of general rank are also participating.

From outside the country, scores of Canadians and visitors from a dozen other countries have been cleared in for participation in the test. A contingent of 70 Canadian troops, all trained in radiological detection, have been sent down from Quebec and are being quartered at Camp Desert Rock.

The explosion is tentatively set to go off at 5:20 (PST) Tuesday morning. The incandescent blast is

Governors' Effort To Bring Peace Is Dismal Failure

ATLANTA, April 23 (AP) — The governors of three Southern states failed tonight to settle the southern telephone strike and six men were injured in the derailment of a freight train which an official said was caused by sabotage.

Violence also erupted in the telephone strike, but none was as serious as the derailment.

Four Diesel engines and 27 of the 95 cars in a strikebound Louisville & Nashville freight train went off the rails five miles south of Barbourville, Ky.

A company spokesman who asked his name be withheld, said the train hit an open switch which had been spiked down and plowed into a string of empty cars on a rail siding. The spike and switch block were found nearby.

The six injured crewmen were taken to a hospital for treatment. None was believed to be injured seriously.

The governors of Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama met with company and union representatives for 2 hours and 47 minutes at the Georgia Capitol and then said in a statement:

"We sincerely regret that we have been unsuccessful in getting the parties in dispute to resolve their differences. We have labored long and diligently in the public interest and we condemn the intolerable conditions which now exist and which have been brought about by the arbitrary action of both parties in dispute."

The governors said that the responsibility for good and uninterrupted service rests "equally on the shoulders of both management an labor.

"The public must be dealt with fairly and in this respect we do not believe the public interest has been served.

"It is our opinion, after an all-day hearing of both sides, that their differences are of such a nature that they should be able to resolve these differences and terminate the strike without further delay."

Govs. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, Hugh White of Mississippi and James Folsom of Alabama first met separately with representatives of the company and the striking CIO Communications Workers of America and then arranged a face-to-face meeting in the afternoon.

After the session broke up, Griffin sent a telegram to Gov. Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky, chairman of the Southern Governors Conference, in which he said, "Your associates, Govs. Griffin, White and Folsom, report efforts to resolve differences were unsuc-

Chou Says Red China Does Not Want Fight

But U.S. Says Nationalists Must Sit In

Asks Evidence Before World Of Good Intent

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The United States told Red China today that the Nationalists must sit in at any Formosa peace talks, and that the Reds should show their sincerity in advance.

This was the official response to the offer of Chou En-lai, Premier of the Communist China regime, to open direct negotiations with this country on easing tensions in the war-threatened Formosa area.

"The United States always welcomes any efforts, if sincere, to bring peace to the world." The State Department said in a public statement cleared with President Eisenhower.

"In the Formosa area we have an ally in the Free Republic of China (Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists) and of course the United States would insist on Free China's participation as an equal in any discussion concerning the area."

The statement suggested Red China could "give evidence before the world of its good intentions" three ways:

1. Agree to an immediate cease-fire in the narrow strait separating China's Communist-held mainland and the Nationalist-held island of Formosa. Red China has vowed to take Formosa, which the United States is pledged to defend.

2. Release at once the 15 American airmen and others, including 41 U.S. civilians, held by the Peiping regime.

3. Accept the standing invitation of the United Nations Security Council to appear before it and take part in a debate aimed at pacifying the Formosa area. Less than three months ago Red China rejected this U.N. bid.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Knowland of California, Republican leader, denounced Chou En-lai's offer as

Formosans Scoff At Red's Bid For U. S. Negotiations

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sunday, April 24 (AP) — The Nationalists today scoffed at a Red China bid to negotiate directly with the United States over Formosa as a move "to divide the free world" at the very time when a high U.S. mission is arriving here to deal with the crisis.

An adviser of President Chiang Kai-shek said the offer by Red Premier Chou En-lai at Bandung was intended to placate worried Asian-African conference delegates but that Chou knows the United States is on record as saying any such talks must include the Nationalists.

The adviser, Tao Hsi-sheng, labeled Chou's offer "a peace offensive and a well-timed bit of propaganda," geared to the arrival later today of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, head of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of the U.S. State Department.

The purpose of their mission has been a subject of much speculation. On one hand, there is fear here that the two officials are bringing word from President Eisenhower that the United States will not help the Nationalists defend Quemoy and the Matsus, just off the coast of Red China.

On the other hand, there is hope among the Nationalists that the two officials want another look at the situation before helping Eisenhower decide what to do.

One guess given high rating is that Adm. Radford wishes to check for himself the speedy buildup of Chinese Red airfields along the coast opposite Formosa, a buildup reported to be as much as two years ahead of schedule. Some has more to do with Radford coming than Quemoy and the Matsus.

Chiang's adviser challenged the sincerity of Chou's bid to negotiate over Formosa.

Offers To Talk With U.S. On Formosa Issue

Issues Statement During 29-Nation Bandung Meeting

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 23 (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai declared today Red China does not want war with the United States and offered to negotiate with the United States on the question of relaxing tension in the Formosa area.

In a terse statement issued during the 29-nation Asian-African conference now drawing to a close, Chou said:

"The Chinese people are friendly to the American people. The Chinese people do not want to have a war with the United States of America. The Chinese government is willing to sit down and enter into negotiations with the United States to discuss the question of relaxing tensions in the Far East, especially the question of relaxing tension in the Taiwan (Formosa) area."

There was little elaboration from the Communist side. One of Chou's aides suggested the next step was up to Washington.

The initial reaction in Washington was one of extreme caution, but later the U.S. State Department, after consultations with President Eisenhower, issued a statement calling on Red China to agree to participation of the Chinese Nationalists in any negotiations on Formosa.

The statement called for threefold action by the Chinese Reds to prove their sincerity: Agreement on an immediate cease-fire in Formosa Strait; release of 15 imprisoned U.S. airmen and about 40 U. S. civilians; acceptance of a

Premier Bulganin Shows Readiness For Top-Level Talks With Ike And Eden

MOSCOW, April 23 —UP— Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin indicated Saturday night he is ready for top-level talks with President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden

Bulganin, attending a reception for visiting Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, was asked by Western correspondents:

"When will you meet with President Eisenhower and Eden?"

The Soviet leader replied: "Ask Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Eden when the date will be. I have already made my position clear."

Bulganin nodded in agreement when asked if he meant that he still takes a "positive attitude" toward a meeting of the heads of state of Russia, the United States and Britain.

(But British diplomatic observers in London said the West almost certainly will hold out for a meeting of foreign ministers with Russia before embarking on a top level meeting.

(They said a meeting of heads of state could be "the culmination" of such discussions by the foreign ministers in the near future.

(The Western foreign ministers will meet in Paris early next month to decide on the phrasing of their invitation to Moscow for a conference. All indications point to a proposal for a meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov early this summer.)

Bulganin was dressed in a well-cut black suit, black tie and white shirt. His blue eyes twinkled as he traded toasts with the correspondents.

Ferrell Trial

Vivid Picture Of Phenix Vices Painted In Court

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 23 (AP) —State's attorneys drew a vivid picture today of Phenix City gamblers pouring $23,000 into a political fund in a futile attempt to defeat crime fighter A. L. Patterson for attorney general.

The testimony, during the trial of a former prosecuting attorney, Arch Ferrell, charged with murdering Patterson, came from one of the gamblers, Godwin Davis Sr.

Despite the opposition of Ferrell, former Atty. Gen. Si Garrett and the big shots in Phenix City's rackets domain, Patterson won the nomination for attorney general June 1.

But he was shot to death outside his Phenix City law office 17 days later before he could carry out his promise to rid his community of lawlessness.

Davis, sentenced to two years in prison during the vice cleanup that followed Patterson's death, told the Ferrell jury he turned over $18,000 of the gamblers' money to the campaign of the other candidate in the race for attorney

Cornea Of Child's Eye Restores Woman's Sight

DALLAS, April 22—UP— Mrs. Amie Crosson, 47, of Fort Worth is seeing clearly for the first time in 15 years through the eye of a six-month-old baby.

The cornea of one eye of six-month-old Celia Ann Covington of Grand Prairie was transplanted a month ago into one of Mrs. Crosson's clouded eyes.

Mrs. Crosson left Methodist hospital Saturday for Fort Worth to look at grandchildren she had never seen before. One of Celia Ann's eyes was artificial, but it was almost impossible to tell it.

"I broke down the other night when I saw for the first time out of my new eye," Mrs. Crosson said. She said she was so happy she kissed her doctor, Dr. Carrol W. Browning.

Mrs. Crosson had severe dystrophy of both eyes, a condition in which a grey veil gradually covers the eyes. Her vision started to cloud 15 years ago.

Celia Ann was born with an incurable abnormality of one eye and physicians advised its removal, because they also feared it had a malignant tumor in it.

She and Mrs. Crosson were taken into the same operating room. Celia Ann's deformed eye was removed. The cornea was perfect and a laboratory examination disclosed that there was no malignant tumor in it.

The cornea was stitched into Mrs. Crosson's eye. Before Celia Ann left the operating room, an artificial eye replaced her defective eye, from which she had never seen.

It wasn't until a few nights ago that Mrs. Crosson knew the operation had been successful. Before she left for home, she took Celia Ann in her arms and hugged her.

Shot Fired Here At Strikers Near Phone Exchange

The first violence of the telephone strike in Monroe, involving the great Bell telephone interests in nine Southeastern states, occurred last night.

Ray Hobbs, of 1105 Warren Drive in West Monroe, was arrested by Monroe city police on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon, and disturbing the peace.

Striking telephone workers, who were massed in front of the downtown Monroe telephone exchange after a mass meeting, declared through their union officials that Hobbs parked his car across the street from the exchange and fired at them, one shot with a pistol.

Police said that Hobbs asserted he had come to the exchange on a peaceful and necesary mission, and was "egged" by the strikers as he stepped out of his car.

Nobody was hit, and the excitement died down.

Union officials declared that they were not resorting to mass picketing, but had assembled on the street for a brief time, following a rally of their members. They declared that they are against all violence in the strike.

The spot has been marked with a buoy and the divers will resume the search early Sunday, police reported. Police obtained the information via a radio message from the bridge.

Chou Says Red China Does Not Want Fight

Asks Evidence Before World Of Good Intent

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The United States told Red China today that the Nationalists must sit in at any Formosa peace talks, and that the Reds should show their sincerity in advance.

This was the official response to the offer of Chou En-lai, Premier of the Communist China regime, to open direct negotiations with this country on easing tensions in the war-threatened Formosa area.

"The United States always welcomes any efforts, if sincere, to bring peace to the world." The State Department said in a public statement cleared with President Eisenhower.

"In the Formosa area we have an ally in the Free Republic of China (Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists) and of course the United States would insist on Free China's participation as an equal in any discussion concerning the area."

The statement suggested Red China could "give evidence before the world of its good intentions" three ways:

1. Agree to an immediate cease-fire in the narrow strait separating China's Communist-held mainland and the Nationalist-held island of Formosa. Red China has vowed to take Formosa, which the United States is pledged to defend.

2. Release at once the 15 American airmen and others, including 41 U.S. civilians, held by the Peiping regime.

3. Accept the standing invitation of the United Nations Security Council to appear before it and take part in a debate aimed at pacifying the Formosa area. Less than three months ago Red China rejected this U.N. bid.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Knowland of California, Republican leader, denounced Chou En-lai's offer as

Formosans Scoff At Red's Bid For U. S. Negotiations

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sunday, April 24 (AP) — The Nationalists today scoffed at a Red China bid to negotiate directly with the United States over Formosa as a move "to divide the free world" at the very time when a high U.S. mission is arriving here to deal with the crisis.

An adviser of President Chiang Kai-shek said the offer by Red Premier Chou En-lai at Bandung was intended to placate worried Asian-African conference delegates but that Chou knows the United States is on record as saying any such talks must include the Nationalists.

The adviser, Tao Hsi-sheng, labeled Chou's offer "a peace offensive and a well-timed bit of propaganda," geared to the arrival later today of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, head of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of the U.S. State Department.

The purpose of their mission has been a subject of much speculation. On one hand, there is fear here that the two officials are bringing word from President Eisenhower that the United States will not help the Nationalists defend Quemoy and the Matsus, just off the coast of Red China.

On the other hand, there is hope among the Nationalists that the two officials want another look at the situation before helping Eisenhower decide what to do.

One guess given high rating is that Adm. Radford wishes to check for himself the speedy buildup of Chinese Red airfields along the coast opposite Formosa, a buildup reported to be as much as two years ahead of schedule. Some has more to do with Radford coming than Quemoy and the Matsus.

Chiang's adviser challenged the sincerity of Chou's bid to negotiate over Formosa.

Premier Bulganin Shows Readiness For Top-Level Talks With Ike And Eden

MOSCOW, April 23 —UP— Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin indicated Saturday night he is ready for top-level talks with President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden

Bulganin, attending a reception for visiting Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, was asked by Western correspondents:

"When will you meet with President Eisenhower and Eden?"

The Soviet leader replied: "Ask Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Eden when the date will be. I have already made my position clear."

Bulganin nodded in agreement when asked if he meant that he still takes a "positive attitude" toward a meeting of the heads of state of Russia, the United States and Britain.

(But British diplomatic observers in London said the West almost certainly will hold out for a meeting of foreign ministers with Russia before embarking on a top level meeting.

(They said a meeting of heads of state could be "the culmination" of such discussions by the foreign ministers in the near future.

(The Western foreign ministers will meet in Paris early next month to decide on the phrasing of their invitation to Moscow for a conference. All indications point to a proposal for a meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov early this summer.)

Bulganin was dressed in a well-cut black suit, black tie and white shirt. His blue eyes twinkled as he traded toasts with the correspondents.

The entire Moscow diplomatic

Ferrell Trial

Vivid Picture Of Phenix Vices Painted In Court

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 23 (AP) —State's attorneys drew a vivid picture today of Phenix City gamblers pouring $23,000 into a political fund in a futile attempt to defeat crime fighter A. L. Patterson for attorney general.

The testimony, during the trial of a former prosecuting attorney, Arch Ferrell, charged with murdering Patterson, came from one of the gamblers, Godwin Davis Sr.

Despite the opposition of Ferrell, former Atty. Gen. Si Garrett and the big shots in Phenix City's rackets domain, Patterson won the nomination for attorney general June 1.

But he was shot to death outside his Phenix City law office 17 days later before he could carry out his promise to rid his community of lawlessness.

Davis, sentenced to two years in prison during the vice cleanup that followed Patterson's death, told the Ferrell jury he turned over $18,000 of the gamblers' money to the campaign of the other candidate in the race for attorney

DALLAS, April 22—UP— Mrs. Amie Crosson, 47, of Fort Worth is seeing clearly for the first time in 15 years through the eye of a six-month-old baby.

The cornea of one eye of six-month-old Ceilia Ann Covington of Grand Prairie was transplanted a month ago into one of Mrs. Crosson's clouded eyes.

Mrs. Crosson left Methodist hospital Saturday for Fort Worth to look at grandchildren she had never seen before. One of Celia Ann's eyes was artificial, but it was almost impossible to tell it.

"I broke down the other night when I saw for the first time out of my new eye," Mrs. Crosson said. She said she was so happy she kissed her doctor, Dr. Carrol W. Browning.

Mrs. Crosson had severe dystrophy of both eyes, a condition in which a grey veil gradually covers the eyes. Her vision started to cloud 15 years ago.

Celia Ann was born with an incurable abnormality of one eye and physicians advised its removal, because they also feared it had a malignant tumor in it.

She and Mrs. Crosson were taken into the same operating room. Celia Ann's deformed eye was removed. The cornea was perfect and a laboratory examination disclosed that there was no malignant tumor in it.

The cornea was stitched into Mrs. Crosson's eye. Before Celia Ann left the operating room, an artificial eye replaced her defective eye, from which she had never seen.

It wasn't until a few nights ago that Mrs. Crosson knew the operation had been successful. Before she left for home, she took Celia Ann in her arms and hugged her.

Offers To Talk With U.S. On Formosa Issue

Issues Statement During 29-Nation Bandung Meeting

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 23 (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai declared today Red China does not want war with the United States and offered to negotiate with the United States on the question of relaxing tension in the Formosa area.

In a terse statement issued during the 29-nation Asian-African conference now drawing to a close, Chou said:

"The Chinese people are friendly to the American people. The Chinese people do not want to have a war with the United States of America. The Chinese government is willing to sit down and enter into negotiations with the United States to discuss the question of relaxing tensions in the Far East, especially the question of relaxing tension in the Taiwan (Formosa) area."

There was little elaboration from the Communist side. One of Chou's aides suggested the next step was up to Washington.

The initial reaction in Washington was one of extreme caution, but later the U.S. State Department, after consultations with President Eisenhower, issued a statement calling on Red China to agree to participation of the Chinese Nationalists in any negotiations on Formosa.

The statement called for threefold action by the Chinese Reds to prove their sincerity: Agreement on an immediate cease-fire in Formosa Strait; release of 15 imprisoned U.S. airmen and about 40 U. S. civilians; acceptance of a

Shot Fired Here At Strikers Near Phone Exchange

The first violence of the telephone strike in Monroe, involving the great Bell telephone interests in nine Southeastern states, occurred last night.

Ray Hobbs, of 1105 Warren Drive in West Monroe, was arrested by Monroe city police on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon, and disturbing the peace.

Striking telephone workers, who were massed in front of the downtown Monroe telephone exchange after a mass meeting, declared through their union officials that Hobbs parked his car across the street from the exchange and fired at them, one shot with a pistol.

Police said that Hobbs asserted he had come to the exchange on a peaceful and necesary mission, and was "egged" by the strikers as he stepped out of his car.

Nobody was hit, and the excitement died down.

Union officials declared that they were not resorting to mass picketing, but had assembled on the street for a brief time, following a rally of their members. They declared that they are against all violence in the strike.

Air Force Order Keeps Clubs In Japanese City Cleared Of Servicemen

By FRED SAITO

TACHIKAWA, Japan, April 23 (AP) —Paradise is lost, Harlem and Monaco are deserted and the streets of Tachikawa no longer swarm with American GIs out on the town.

These once booming night clubs —notorious since the outbreak of the Korean War as markets of sin —have been caught in a U. S. Air Force crackdown.

They have been placed off limits along with 80 per cent of the city's business district.

Main thoroughfares, alleys and byways are almost empty. Air police patrols move through town every 30 minutes to enforce the ban.

Tachikawa, a city of 50,000 immediately west of Tokyo, rings one of the biggest U. S. Air bases in the Far East. The Air Force order was issued last December and overnight the trade of 100 bars, 400 brothels, 3,000 prostitutes and hundreds of legitimate businessmen was virtually wiped out.

"It was a dirty town and something should have been done about it a long time ago," one airman told a reporter.

The owner of a coffee shop in the forbidden zone said "the decision was of course a healthy one . . . but it has ruined our business."

A bar gir, sitting dejectedly in a local dive, commented bitterly: "The provost marshal thinks he knows everything, but he doesn't most of the girls were on this side of the station, where the off limits signs apply. But the dope and black market joints are on the side that stayed on limits.

The mayor, Shinichiro Itaya, and most businesses have taken a somewhat similar attitude. They complain that not all the guilty spos were hit and that many honest business houses were hurt.

Tachikawa is a name that has long been known to service men. The shady reputation of the area surrounding a former Japanese imperial air base began shortly after occupation forces took over in 1945.

Thousands of American soldiers, Marines and airmen began moving in and out of the area with the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950.

What lies ahead for the community is anyone's guess. Almost certainly the clean-up will force hundreds of businesses to move away. But for the present at least, Tachikawa has taken on an atmosphere reminiscent of ghost towns in the American West, left lonesome and decaying by the gold fever of an earlier day.

Johnson Enters Governor's Race In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., April 23 (AP) — Paul Johnson today formally announced his candidacy for governor in the Aug. 2 Democratic primary election.

Johnson said he would release his platform later but added, if elected, he would help Mississippi "retain our segregated way without compromise."

He blasted the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools as "one of the greatest political Frankensteins since Reconstruction Days."

An unsuccessful candidate for governor four years ago, Johnson slapped at the Huge White administration: "The bulk of our normal, healthy surplus in the state Treasury has been foolishly squandered and the Magnolia State has to borrow funds . . . to meet its operative payroll."

Mississippi borrowed three million dollars this year to keep the general fund from going broke. But Governor White said yesterday "We have enough tax money now to repay the loan and leave a surplus of five million dollars.

1,000 Students Expected At Senior Day Activities

At least 1,000 high school seniors and members of faculties from high schools all over northeast Louisiana are expected to be on the Northeast State college campus on Friday, April 29, according to E. J. Foster, general chairman of Senior Day activities.

This will be the eleventh annual Senior Day held at Northeast. The day - long program is designed to acquaint prospective graduates of high schools in the surrounding area with college life and to provide for them a wholesome attitude when they enter an institution of higher learning.

Invitations to participate in the Senior Day program here were mailed to about 70 high schools in the northeast section of Louisiana. A large number o these have already indicated that they will be represented.

The tentative program follows:

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the lobby of Brown Hall, with the Northeast band entertaining as guests assemble in the auditorium.

At the general assembly following at 9 o'clock, visitors will be welcomed by President Lewis C. Slater, Dean William M. Smith and Perry Elder, student council president.

From 9:15 to 10:15 is scheduled an informal visitation hour by the students, when they will view the various displays, exhibits and demonstrations representing science, fine arts, military science, journalism, social science, agriculture and home economics, commerce, and library science. During this time, also, is planned a coke hour in the college president's home for high school senior class presidents and high school faculty sponsors, assembling at 9:15.

The new girls dormitory, too, will be opened for inspection by all guests between the hours of 9:15 and 10:15.

Dance demonstrations, to be held in Brown auditorium, are expected to follow at 10:30 to 11 a.m. A general assembly and band concert are set at 11 to 11:30 a.m. in the auditorium.

The college will host the seniors and their sponsors at an outdoor luncheon from 11:30 to 12 in Brown stadium.

A highlight of the day's program will follow the luncheon, when the Reserve Officers Training Corps will pass in review, with high school senior class presidents constituting the reviewing committee.

A style show sponsored by the home economics classes will be held in the auditorium from 1 p.m. to 1:30.

A fitting end to a full spring day's activities will be the double-header baseball games between Northeast State and Southwestern Institute, beginning at 1:45 p.m.

Troopers Smash 25 More Slots

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 23 — UP— State police today smashed 25 more slot machines they seized in raids last night at Cottonport and Marskville in Avoyelles parish.

The raids were the fifth in a month in Avoyelles parish and brought to 81 the number of slot machines seized.

Capt. Edward R. Lemmons and six troopers seized 17 of the slots in a cornerib on a farm some three miles north of Marksville, while the other eight were found in an old tenant house three miles west of Cottonport.

The first railroad locomotive to reach America came from England in 1829, but there is no record that it was ever operated in this country.

Hollywood's Worst Kept Secrets: Sneak Previews

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD, April 23 (AP) — Keeping any secret in Hollywood is like trying to conceal Marilyn Monroe's curves. And the worst kept secret of all is the Hollywood sneak preview.

Big studios want an honest audience reaction to their product before they release it generally. That's why secrecy surrounds all sneak showings.

But the word gets around faster than gossip in a ladies' bridge club. Look what happened to two sneaks this week.

An important friend at Warners, amid cloak and dagger whisperings, told me: "We're sneaking 'Mr. Roberts' tomorrow night. Only a select few know. Weill give you the word on the theater a few hours before showtime."

Three hours ahead of time, the friend phoned, said only: "Downtown Paramount, 8:30 on the button."

It took 25 minutes to drive from home in Sherman Oaks down the Hollywood Freeway to the ramp nearest the theater. It took 25 minutes more to drive the last four blocks; cars were stacked bumper-to-bumper.

At the Pershing Park underground garage, the attendant waved cars down to the third level underground, rare for nighttime. The attendant explained:

"They're sneaking 'Mr. Roberts' at the Paramount. This is the most cars we've had since Dollar Day."

At the theater, the lobby was jammed. Everybody in Hollywood was there including hundreds and hundreds of fans.

One studio executive gave a solid reason why the studios want secrecy on the sneak.

"Several years ago we sneaked a pretty good picture and were amazed at the audience reaction to one of the minor actors in it. His bit role was cheered and most of the cards singled him out as a new find.

"So we took the picture back to the studio, spent $100,000 more and built this fellow's role into a major one. For $100,000 more, we got a lousy picture that lost money.

"Later we found out that the actor had invested his last dollar to pack the theater with relatives, friends and skidrow bums he bribed."

Paramount sneaked the new Martin and Lewis picture this week also. The studio publicity department had a meeting wherein the boss told them that the location of the theater would be given them at suppertime that night. One of the publicists spoke up:

"It's at the Academy Theater, Inglewood, Isn't it?"

The boss, perplexed, asked: "Where did you find out? That's top secret."

The staffer heard it broadcast by a Los Angeles disc jockey while driving to work that morning.

Typhoid fever and diphtheria have been practically eliminated as a cause of death in the United State.

The boss, perplexed, asked: "Where did you find out? That's top secret."

The staffer heard it broadcast by a Los Angeles disc jockey while driving to work that morning.

Golf Ball Fishing Sponsors Wash. Tour For 17-Year-Old Illinois Student

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each spring more than 100,000 high school youngsters visit Washington in group tours. One of this year's tourists was John Arimond, 17, of Winnetka, Ill., a senior at Loyola Academy in Chicago. In the following article he gives his impressions of the trip.

By JOHN ARIMOND

CHICAGO, April 24 (AP)—A high school excursion from Chicago to Washington and historic Virginia costs $106. That represents 1,060 golf balls I fished from the 10th fairway pond at Indian Hill Country Club during summer vacations.

But a five-day tour with 77 senior classmates at Loyola Academy was worth all those hours of squishing around in the mud.

It was like watching a three-ring circus and being in it, too.

It meant trying to sleep in a day coach that was as quiet as a hot-rod race.

It meant piling in and out of buses and tramping through marble halls and over hallowed ground.

It brought the pages of our history and civics textbooks to life as we viewed Mount Vernon, Jamestown, Williamsburg, Yorktown, Arlington and Annapolis.

It was the most.

And here are some of the mosts that made it so:

Most thrilling moment—meeting Rep. Rabaut (D-Mich), father of Father Francis D. Rabaut, S.J., one of the five Loyola teachers on the trip. The veteran congressman took us onto the floor of the House of Representatives and showed us the holes made by bullets fired by the Puerto Rican fanatics a year ago.

For the No. 2 thrill I'd pick our Marine guided tour through the Essex class aircraft carrier Valley Forge at Norfolk, Va.

Most interesting site — the headquarters building of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. We saw how science is used in the detection of crime.

Biggest surprise—finding de luxe accommodations for my roommate, Bon Schumann, and myself on the steamer that took us on an all-night cruise down the Potomac from Washington to Norfolk. Ours was a big stateroom with twin beds and private bath, whereas the rest of the fellows had only cubbyholes and bunkbeds.

Biggest disappointment — one day's weather. I live and sleep photography so I always judge a trip by the lens opening I have to use. On the day we visited the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial there was a bad haze and the view from the top of the monument was poor.

Hardest day — the one on which we traveled through colonial Virginia and wore our feet up to the knees. As anyone could guess, we didn't get much rest; I counted up about 20 hours of sleep in the whole five days.

Most memorable sight — the Lincoln Memorial. This gigantic masterpiece of classic Greek architecture cast a certain spell over each of us.

Most beautiful sight — Williamsburg, Va. Once the capital of colonial Virginia, it has been restored to its original appearance and was the most pictorial spot on the whole tour.

Biggest Mystery — how the people of Washington can go on with their work while thousands of tourists mingle among them every day.

Best advice — If your school is getting up an excursion like this, don't miss it. It will be a long time before I can put together another $106 but I'll never be a high school senior again.

Editors Predict Ike Would Defeat Stevenson In '56

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Most of a group of the nation's leading editors predicted today that President Eisenhower would defeat Adlai Stevenson again if the two run against each other in 1956.

The forecast came from members of the American Society of Newspapers Editors who participated in a poll conducted by the Washington professional chaper of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity.

Seventy editors said Eisenhower would win while 20 picked Stevenson.

As for the possibility of a repeat of 1952 presidential contest: 88 though Eisenhower would be the Republican nominee, 11 though he wouldn't; 74 said Stevenson would be the Democratic candidate, 22 said he wouldn't.

The poll was taken at a Sigma Delta Chi breakfast on the final day of the annual ASNE convention.

A Sigma Delta Chi announcement said "forecasts reflected in past polls have created a high batting average for the editors." Last year, it said, prior to the Army-McCarthy hearings 80 editors predicted the influence of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) "would wante," while 31 thought it would "continue as a force in U. S. politics."

About a third of all cancer deaths in the United States could have been avoided if the cancer had been located and treatment begun before it started to spread.

In boom years before World War II, U. S. spending for personal consumption was often 70 per cent of gross national product, but it was 63 and 65 per cent in 1953 and 1954 respectively, says the National Industrial Conference Board.

Television Skims Cream Of Chorus Girls, Causes Headaches In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
For Wayne Oliver

HOLLYWOOD, April 23 (AP)—Television, by skimming the cream of the chorus girls, is causing the movies and Las Vegas more headaches than Mario Lanza at his most unpredictable.

For the first time, dance directors say, Hollywood faces an acute shortage of shapely young girls who can execute a simple time step without falling flat on their pretty faces. Hardest hit are the plush Nevada hotels which have always been able to fill their chorus lines from the Hollywood reservoir.

In Las Vegas a shapely doll, who need not be an Ann Miller, can prance onstage 10 minutes a night and average $150 a week. But why, ask the talented chorines, should we go up there when we can get more money on television and live at home?

With new hotels opening almost weekly along the Vegas strip, stage directors are starting to beat the bushes in the South and Midwest for chorus girls.

The Dunes Hotel, set for a May 23 opening, needs 30 girls and dancers for its line. It may well come up with an all-Chinese chorus recruited from clubs in San Francisco's Chinatown. Two Oriental beauties already have been signed.

"Why not?" asks Impresario Robert Nesbit. "Those Chinese girls are among the world's most beautiful."

He made his observation after the Dunes widely advertised an audition for its line. Only 12 girls—several of them unsuitable — answered. Five years ago such a call would have brought girls by the hundreds.

The new Riviera Hotel, looking for a line to match the talent of its opening star, Liberace, had to recruit from as far away as New Orleans and Miami.

Jack Entratter of the Sands had no trouble for quite a while by stressing beauty rather than talent. TV does just the opposite. The Sands line has been called the prettiest in town and most of the customers don't seem to mind if the girls can't always execute the more intricate dance patterns.

But even Entratter now reports that as his girls get well trained, he loses them. He says he's had a turnover of 100 in two years to maintain a working line of 12.

The more desperate hotels are offering $175 plus such inducements as free food and lodging—and still getting scant response.

Here's what a girl can get on television, and the example is fairly typical:

A Jimmy Durante cover girl earns a minimum rate of $125 for three or four days of rehearsal plus the show. If the rehearsals go over eight hours, it's time and a half. If she hands Durante his hat and says: "Here's your hat, Mr. Durante." That's $70 more. If chorus boys lift her off the ground it's another $50. A check for $250 a show is not unusual.

When the Durante show goes on Saturday night over NBC, she is off until the next Wednesday or Thursday. That means she can, and many do, repeat the same deal at CBS with Red Skelton whose show is on Tuesday night.

A top notch TV chorine can drive a limousine that she's paid for herself. Most of the successful ones are married. Some have children.

Even the movies—once considered the valhalla of all good chorus girls—can't compete with TV. The movies' base rate is higher—$157.50—but it's a full week and little, if any, overtime.

Perhaps the most astute observation on the economics of the TV chorine situation came from a well known man-about-Hollywood lately removed from Texas:

"You know, those TV showgirls even sneer at a mink coat."

Censorship Of The Press

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former "boy wonder" president of the University of Chicago and now the active head of the Fund for the Republic, has renewed his proposal for a form of newspaper censorship in America.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington Thursday, he urged that a special agency be set up to watch over the press and report whether it is doing the right kind of job.

It will be recalled that Dr. Hutchins figured prominently in the deliberations and findings of a commission on freedom of the press set up during the administration of Harry S. Truman.

This commission, in a long report made public in 1947, displayed an amazing lack of understanding as to which constitutes freedom of the press; and the duties and functions of American newspapers.

Dr. Hutchins evidently has not been enlightened during the eight years since this massive collection of biased and slanted findings was made public. He offered fresh criticisms of the newspapers in his speech Thursday, declaring, "You have filled the air with warnings of the sinister figures on the left, but you have printed almost nothing about the fat cats on the right."

He deplored a post office ban on the importation of newspaper propaganda from Russia; rapped Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy; and lamented the firing of Edward J. Corsi, New York Republican, by Secretary of State Dulles.

He accused most editors of following an "official line" in stressing the dangers of international communism, while at the same time "watching the erosion of freedom without a twinge."

His board of censors no doubt would seek to change all this, and censure the editors who failed to treat modern developments more in line with Dr. Hutchins' ideas.

The Fund for the Republic which the educator heads was described by Rep. B. Carroll Reece, Republican of Tennessee, in a speech made in the House of Representatives in 1953, as a "king-sized civil rights congress." Paul G. Hoffman, former New Dealer, as chairman of the board of this organization, denied Reece's charges. The foundation was one of several investigated by a select House committee which Reece headed. Pressure against the probe became so great that public hearings were adjourned after 16 days. The three Republican members of the committee later issued a majority report which said:

> "The power of the individual large foundation is enormous . . . Influence on national policy is amplified tremendously when foundations act in concert . . . A professional class of administrators of foundation funds has emerged . . . Foundations are clearly desirable when operating in the natural sciences and when making direct donations to religious, educational, scientific, and other institutional donees. However, when their activities spread into the field of the so-called 'social sciences,' or into other areas in which our basic moral, social, economic and governmental principles can be vitally affected, the public should be alerted to these activities and be made aware of the impact of foundation influence on our accepted way of life."

Dr. Hutchins' foundation operates under a $15,000,000 grant, and therefore may be classed as big. According to Paul G. Hoffman, it has financed various studies in the fields of "social sciences," including the impact of national security on individual rights, and "an inquiry into the nature and extent of the internal communist menace."

Nothing in the background or career of Dr. Hutchins suggests even the least qualification on his part to act as a guide or mentor for the press of America. The very fact that, as an outspoken critic, he was invited to address the great annual meeting of newspaper editors tends to refute his charge that the press is biased and one-sided.

Battle Of San Jacinto

Throughout Texas, and in Washington, the 119th anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto was observed last Thursday. This brief but bloody conflict fought near what is now the Houston ship channel is listed as one of the few decisive battles of history. It resulted in complete rout of Santa Anna's invading army, and the capture of the "Napoleon of the West"; and eventually brought Texas and several other Southwestern states into the American union.

A towering memorial, higher than the Washington Monument, marks the site, as part of a Texas state park.

San Jacinto Day is a state holiday in Texas, and the Lone Star State is proud of the heroism of the little army led by General Sam Houston which killed half the invading force and captured the other half, to wrest independence from Mexico.

Quite a number of soldiers fighting under Houston's banners were Mexicans. Many others were from Louisiana, which earlier had given one of its most illustrious sons, Col. James Bowie, to the cause of Texas freedom. He died in the Alamo at San Antonio, when that bastion fell to the Mexican army.

The battle of San Jacinto forms a glorious chapter in American annals of war, symbol of the heights of valor to which free men can rise when their liberties are endangered.

A BRAND-NEW SOCIETY whose charter members describe themselves as 'Waiters-in-Line for Travel to the Moon' was registered in Istanbul this week. The clerk who issued the documents of incorporation claims he does not recall just exactly what means of transportation was specified as being preferred.

Radar is the science which discovers hidden objects from the echoes which bounce back. The idea may have been gained from rubber checks.

Bernard Baruch says no one can tell whether stocks will go up or down. Many amateur speculators discovered that fact a long time ago.

Just now the Open Door to China is entirely filled by Reds.

'MINE EYES HAVE SEEN THE GLORY'

Public Forum—Voice Of All The People

In Memory Of Albert Einstein

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

All of Albert Einstein's talents, it seems, were moulded into one: Mathematics. Without this, he becomes just an ordianry person. But mathematics, physics, enabled him to be a cynosure among men of erudition. With his powerful imagination, and with the aid of gigantic telescopes, he could look into infinite space, billions of light years away, and calculate the movements of other worlds as well as the one we live on but he couldn't see a man standing in front of him; we can see only the flesh. Einstein didn't believe in God; he couldn't see God; no man has ever seen God.

Einstein was not the father of the A-bomb as some Left Wing groups are now trying to make believe. Neils Bohr, a Danish scientist, was the first to discover this chain reaction. But it was Lise Meitner who correctly read the formula. Neither did Einstein come to this country of his own free will. Hitler's Gestapoe's were hot on his trail. Einstein was connected with an undermining clique which was seething with aspirations to dominate the world. Hitler had the same plans and he allowed no one to conflict with his schemes.

At the time of his death Einstein was still in with this clique which is now working in conjunction with the Communists. He had 30 Communist citations. He was not a true friend to the country which took him in and shielded him. No doubt he divulged the A-bomb secret to President Roosevelt because he had no other place to go. That was practically all he had to do with the A-bomb. Mr. Roosevelt sent for Neils Bohr and Neils Bohr was the true father of the A-bomb. He was in New Mexico when the first A-bomb was exploded. Neils Bohr refused to cooperate with Soviet spies.

'Brooding' Another Egg

Bristol, Conn.

Editor, Morning World:

When decent Americans started holding their noses at the mention of United Nations, the foreign and domestic boosters of one world began taking turns at "brooding" another egg, in the hope of fooling us with a bird of different plumage. This, they planned to cross with a few other ornithological specimens (not including the American Eagle) to produce the bird for which they were scheming. America was committed to furnishing the nest and feeding the sitters!

Well, the shell is beginning to crack, and there are faint "cheeps" from within. The boosters are assembled and the band is tuning up. There will be much ado when the awkward fledgling comes forth and "makes" for the cracked "corn" but don't let it fool you, folks! This Atlantic union is the same old scavenger, with feathers touched up and a gilded beak.

And, back of the egg is the same "hen!"

A Guilty Conscience

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The thing that worries people most, is a guilty conscience. When Eve committed the first sin, a guilty conscience convicted her, and the first thought that crossed her mind was to hide her sin. Guilt, shame, and depravity was present with her, and her first impulse was that her husband should share the disgrace with her; so she induced Adam to do the same thing that she did; so they both attempted to hide their sin from God, but when they were asked about their disobedience, they tried to justify themselves with an excuse.

From the day of Eve's transgression, hitherto the present day this same remedy has been sought to mitigate the torture of a guilty conscience. In every place you may go to, you can find people trying to hide shame and legalize sin. In all walks of life, mostly in politics, they concentrate in smearing someone with depravity to provide a scene to hide their own shame. Every time you pick up a news paper to read, or turn on your Radio to listen, you can see and hear villifications being hurled at someone in high places who are actually trying to promote the cause and advancement of social and public welfare; but, like the snake that bit the hand that fed it, they are willing to receive the benefits and then stab him in the back. The custom of respect for the integrity and uprightness of others that existed from Washington, to Buchanan; which if a man disregarded with smear tactics, he was immediately challenged to a fist fight, or a gun duel, are no more, and the reasons are very obvious.

About one hundred years ago, The Republican political party was organized by a coalition of Capitalists and Communists. History affirms these facts. The basis of the capitalist policy is unlimited possession, and the Communist policy is evolution. The Communist leader was asked why the Communist supported the Capitalist party? his answer was that the "Communist always support the bourgeoisie when it acts in a revolutionary way". Revolution, turmoil, and strife, are the principal theory and practice of the Communists. They never allow you a moments rest and peace of mind. In the Republican campaign of 1860, the Communists were pro and con with smear, defamity and vilifications against Democracy. And those practices have been prevalent in politics ever since.

When the Communists coerced with the Republican party, they attempted to infiltrate the Democrat party, but the Democrats promptly rejected them. But, after the civil war which the Republicans cannot deny engendering, because history affirms the facts; the Communists succeeded in infiltrating the Democrat party and have set the two major parties up as contestants in defamation and corruption. If our political leaders are really opposed to communism they should desist from practicing communistic principles, because they are the outgrowth of Communist theology.

For instance, Harry's bitter attack against President Eisenhower's far eastern policies, was only an effort to hide his own short comings in the same policy. It appears that Mr. Truman has either forgotten, or would like for the people to forget, he engineered a gift to Chiang Kai-shek of two billion dollars worth of arms and ammunition. Chiang sent the arms out on the front lines, then retreated and left the arms to the reds; then withdrew his troops and fled to Formosa, the richest man in the world. May I ask this question, What do we have in common to justify defending Formosa?. I think that if they could recover the two billion in gold that Harry gave to Chiang, they all, wouldn't care a happy what becomes of Chiang and Formosa. But, please don't loose sight of the fact that they all are trying to hide their own meanness.

Labor Vote

Secretary of Labor James M. Mitchell learning that his efforts to woo organized labor to Republican support are futile. He has gone on record against state "right to work" laws, favors change in Taft-Hartley act to outlaw them, but no changes will be made in that law at this session. Ignoring Mitchell's effort to get on labor's good side, labor publications direct their fire at Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, whom they assert has more influence with the White House than does Mitchell. Though Eisenhower is estimated to have had at least 50 per cent of the organized labor vote in 1952, prediction is he wouldn't get more than 25 per cent now.

Big Noise With No Echo—Washington uproar over abrupt firing of Edward J. Corsi by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as special immigration consultant has no repercussion west of New York City, in the opinion of Republican members of Congress. Corsi, former New York state commissioner of immigration, close friend of former Governor Thomas E. Dewey, has been left to shift for himself by GOP. He tried to stir up opposition to McCarran - Walter act and to speed up refugee immigration. Neither has much support in Congress. Prediction is that Republicans won't suffer through loss of "the Italian vote" don't impress, as it is mostly Democratic.

Vote Getters Won't Pass — Administration bills with high public appeal are stymied so far, those which have backing of interested groups are moving along. Predictions are that foreign aid, exemption of independent gas producers from federal regulation, and increased reciprocal trade powers for the president will pass, but that increased minimum wage, bond issue financing for highway construction, aid to education and health reinsurance will be shelved until the next session.

Loyal Democrats May Disagree —Top Democrats, eager to get rid of loyalty oath hangover were dismayed when former National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell forecast that Governor Allan Shivers of Texas, Governor Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana and former Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina who supported Eisenhower in 1952 will be challenged if they appear at Chicago convention next August as delegates. Chairman Paul Butler, Mitchell's close friend thinks his predecessor spoke too soon and that the fight can be averted.

Mitchell thinking reflects resentment of Stevenson followers at Southern defections in 1952, but predictions are that Southern national committee members will demand that some compromise be reached to avoid disruption of the convention by renewal of the loyalty fight.

Quemoy - Matsu on Skids — State Department double talk believed forerunner of abandonment of Quemoy and Matsu islands, in return for British Commonwealth agreement to join in protecting Formosa. President Eisenhower will wait until after British election May 26 to make his position clear. Unfriendly attitude of African - Asian conference toward communism said to have convinced our diplomats that U. S. would leave Communist China at a disadvantage in its argument that our designs are imperialist.

Those Helpful Democrats — Not in this century has a Congress controlled by one party given as much aid to a president of the opposite party. Now the Democrats are supporting the main features of Ike's reciprocal trade bill against Republican opposition. Six Democratic senators saved the 3 year extension of presidential authority to cut tariff rates by 5 per cent a year, just as five Democrats — not the same ones — eliminated the $20 tax cut in the tax bills. The Democratic side of the Senate gave him the authority he asked to deal with the Formosan question. Now Democrats may block new consideration of Bricker amendment to curtail presidents' treaty making authority.

Prediction is that box score show most defeats were at the hands of Republicans, which could influence Ike's decision about 1956.

Afraid Of The Dark

Because an Englishman was afraid of the dark half a century ago, you and I are going to be stumbling around in the dark and missing trains and confusing our milk cows for the next five months.

William Willett, a house builder in England in 1907, got the idea that by advancing the clock 80 minutes in spring — at the rate of four jumps of 20 minutes each — he could "increase cheerfulness, lessen anxieties and breed courage."

Today, 61,550,000 Americans are affected by DST and two Gallup polls since the war show they don't like it.

Fortunately for a lot of folks, 24 states have outlawed the silly system.

But this merely means that all rail stations have to have two clocks, further to confuse the traveler.

Some states which have Standard Time laws on the books, can't enforce them.

Indiana has a toothless law designating Central Standard Time the year around. No daylight time anymore.

But the law has no penalties and it is violated flagrantly.

At least 30 Hoosier counties are operating on Eastern time. Most counties switch with the rest of the country when daylight time comes and goes.

But not all counties.

And often a city won't go along with its own county!

I'm not saying Washington should do something about this. Washington meddles too much as it is.

And Paul Harvey isn't inclined to tell those other 24 states how to run their business.

But our states are laced so tightly now with instantaneous communication and rapid transportation that shrinks our old fashioned economy size day into a capsule . . . that, for the sake of travel schedules, phone rates, and insurance claims . . . I wish enough folks in each state would rise up and re-enact standard hop-skopping time the year around.

If this nonsense is, as advertised, for the convenience of city workers . . .

If it's to give them more daylight after they get off work at night . . .

Isn't it far more convenient to adjust working hours, rather than to grapple with all these contradicting clocks?

Business establishments are always changing their working hours anyway. Experience shows if one does it, the others follow suit.

Whatever the clock says, some department stores are going to stay open some nights until nine.

It is infinitely more simple for a few businesses to change their working hours to conform to daylight where this is desirable . . . rather than to continue this absurd disagreement over what time it is.

Congressional Quarterly

One In Three Meetings Closed To Press, Public

WASHINGTON — The "Keep Out" notice is still being posted before one of every three meetings of Congressional committees. But there are signs that Congress is becoming sensitive to public criticism of committee secrecy.

As tabulated by Congressional Quarterly, committees and subcommittees of Congress held a total of 986 meetings between Jan. 5, when the 84th Congress convened, and April 13, when Senate and House reconvened after the Easter recess. Of these meetings, 353 were "executive" sessions, closed to press and public alike. That means 35.8 per cent of all committee meetings were held in secret.

According to CQ records, the proportion of closed committee meetings during the first three months of 1954 was 38.4 per cent, and for the entire 1954 session it was 41 per cent. This seems to indicate a decline in the ratio of secret committee sessions.

At the same time, CQ learned that one or more committees have taken steps to keep notice of some executive sessions out of the public record. Official notice of all meetings, open and closed, supposedly is recorded in the Daily Digest of the Congressional Record.

In one instance, however, CQ learned that the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee's Special Subcommittee to Investigate Employee Funds met in executive session on March 17, 18, and 19. No record of these closed meetings appeared in the Daily Digest.

Contrasts Noted

The extent of any effort to withhold public notice of closed committee sessions cannot be determined, so it is impossible to say with certainty that secret meetings have declined or increased. But a study of the records of specific committees reveals some interesting contrasts.

During the first three months of 1954, the House Education and Labor committee held 29 meetings, of which 28 were closed to the press. During the entire 1954 session, the committee held 59 sessions, 54 of which were closed. That was 92 per cent, the highest "secrecy score" for any committee in 1954.

During the three months ending April 12, 1955, this same committee held 16 sessions, only two of which were closed. Score: 12.5 per cent.

The House Ways and Means committee also seems to have moved in the direction of the open door. During the first three months of 1954, 32 of its 40 sessions were closed, for a score of 80 per cent. For the entire session: 53 of 76 sessions, or 70 per cent, closed. In 1955: Eight of 27 meetings, or 30 per cent, closed.

In another case, little change was noted despite a public pledge of an open door policy. Chairman Carl Vinson (D Ga.) of the House Armed Services committee announced Jan. 25 that he would keep the doors open to the extent security considerations permitted. Of 79 committee meetings recorded in 1955, 26, or 33 per cent, were closed. This is the same score recorded by the committee in 1954, when 44 of 133 sessions were closed For the first three months of 1954, 19 of the committee's 67 meetings, or 28 per cent, were closed.

The Senate Armed Services committee has been meeting in secret more often. Its score in the first three months of 1954 was 51 sessions, of which 26, or 51 per cent, were closed. For the 1954 session: 103 meetings, 57 closed, 55 per cent. For 1955: 48 meetings, 33 closed, 69 per cent. Only the Senate Rules committee, which has met in secret seven of eight times, has a higher 1955 "secrecy score" on the Senate side.

Committees Choose

Least secretive of the busy committees this year is the House committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. Its record: 55 meetings, seven closed, 12.7 per cent. For the entire 1954 session: 151 meetings, 18 closed, 11.9 per cent.

Committees themselves have the power to decide whether their meetings shall be closed or open. Factors which may have influenced the apparent decline in the ratio of closed sessions, from 1954 to 1955, include newspaper criticism of committee secrecy and the changing nature of legislation considered by committees. Whether the switch from Republican to Democratic control of Congress and its committees has had any influence in this respect is a matter for speculation.

Censorship Of The Press

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former "boy wonder" president of the University of Chicago and now the active head of the Fund for the Republic, has renewed his proposal for a form of newspaper censorship in America.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington Thursday, he urged that a special agency be set up to watch over the press and report whether it is doing the right kind of job.

It will be recalled that Dr. Hutchins figured prominently in the deliberations and findings of a commission on freedom of the press set up during the administration of Harry S. Truman.

This commission, in a long report made public in 1947, displayed an amazing lack of understanding as to which constitutes freedom of the press; and the duties and functions of American newspapers.

Dr. Hutchins evidently has not been enlightened during the eight years since this massive collection of biased and slanted findings was made public. He offered fresh criticisms of the newspapers in his speech Thursday, declaring, "You have filled the air with warnings of the sinister figures on the left, but you have printed almost nothing about the fat cats on the right."

He deplored a post office ban on the importation of newspaper propaganda from Russia; rapped Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy; and lamented the firing of Edward J. Corsi, New York Republican, by Secretary of State Dulles.

He accused most editors of following an "official line" in stressing the dangers of international communism, while at the same time "watching the erosion of freedom without a twinge."

His board of censors no doubt would seek to change all this, and censure the editors who failed to treat modern developments more in line with Dr. Hutchins' ideas.

The Fund for the Republic which the educator heads was described by Rep. B. Carroll Reece, Republican of Tennessee, in a speech made in the House of Representatives in 1953, as a "king-sized civil rights congress." Paul G. Hoffman, former New Dealer, as chairman of the board of this organization, denied Reece's charges. The foundation was one of several investigated by a select House committee which Reece headed. Pressure against the probe became so great that public hearings were adjourned after 16 days. The three Republican members of the committee later issued a majority report which said:

> "The power of the individual large foundation is enormous . . . Influence on national policy is amplified tremendously when foundations act in concert . . . A professional class of administrators of foundation funds has emerged . . . Foundations are clearly desirable when operating in the natural sciences and when making direct donations to religious, educational, scientific, and other institutional donees. However, when their activities spread into the field of the so-called 'social sciences,' or into other areas in which our basic moral, social, economic and governmental principles can be vitally affected, the public should be alerted to these activities and be made aware of the impact of foundation influence on our accepted way of life."

Dr. Hutchins' foundation operates under a $15,000,000 grant, and therefore may be classed as big. According to Paul G. Hoffman, it has financed various studies in the fields of "social sciences," including the impact of national security on individual rights, and "an inquiry into the nature and extent of the internal communist menace."

Nothing in the background or career of Dr. Hutchins suggests even the least qualification on his part to act as a guide or mentor for the press of America. The very fact that, as an outspoken critic, he was invited to address the great annual meeting of newspaper editors tends to refute his charge that the press is biased and one-sided.

Battle Of San Jacinto

Throughout Texas, and in Washington, the 119th anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto was observed last Thursday. This brief but bloody conflict fought near what is now the Houston ship channel is listed as one of the few decisive battles of history. It resulted in complete rout of Santa Anna's invading army, and the capture of the "Napoleon of the West"; and eventually brought Texas and several other Southwestern states into the American union.

A towering memorial, higher than the Washington Monument, marks the site, as part of a Texas state park.

San Jacinto Day is a state holiday in Texas, and the Lone Star State is proud of the heroism of the little army led by General Sam Houston which killed half the invading force and captured the other half, to wrest independence from Mexico.

Quite a number of soldiers fighting under Houston's banners were Mexicans. Many others were from Louisiana, which earlier had given one of its most illustrious sons, Col. James Bowie, to the cause of Texas freedom. He died in the Alamo at San Antonio, when that bastion fell to the Mexican army.

The battle of San Jacinto forms a glorious chapter in American annals of war, symbol of the heights of valor to which free men can rise when their liberties are endangered.

A BRAND-NEW SOCIETY whose charter members describe themselves as 'Waiters-in-Line for Travel to the Moon' was registered in Istanbul this week. The clerk who issued the documents of incorporation claims he does not recall just exactly what means of transportation was specified as being preferred.

In Memory Of Albert Einstein

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

All of Albert Einstein's talents, it seems, were moulded into one: Mathematics. Without this, he becomes just an ordianry person. But mathematics, physics, enabled him to be a cynosure among men of erudition. With his powerful imagination, and with the aid of gigantic telescopes, he could look into infinite space, billions of light years away, and calculate the movements of other worlds as well as the one we live on but he couldn't see a man standing in front of him; we can see only the flesh. Einstein didn't believe in God; he couldn't see God; no man has ever seen God.

Einstein was not the father of the A-bomb as some Left Wing groups are now trying to make believe. Neils Bohr, a Danish scientist, was the first to discover this chain reaction. But it was Lise Meitner who correctly read the formula. Neither did Einstein come to this country of his own free will. Hitler's Gestapoe's were hot on his trail. Einstein was connected with an undermining clique which was seething with aspirations to dominate the world. Hitler had the same plans and he allowed no one to conflict with his schemes.

At the time of his death Einstein was still in with this clique which is now working in conjunction with the Communists. He had 30 Communist citations. He was not a true friend to the country which took him in and shielded him. No doubt he divulged the A-bomb secret to President Roosevelt because he had no other place to go. That was practically all he had to do with the A-bomb. Mr. Roosevelt sent for Neils Bohr and Neils Bohr was the true father of the A-bomb. He was in New Mexico when the first A-bomb was exploded. Neils Bohr refused to cooperate with Soviet spies.

From the day of Eve's transgression, hitherto the present day this same remedy has been sought to mitigate the torture of a guilty conscience. In every place you may go to, you can find people trying to hide shame and legalize sin. In all walks of life, mostly in politics, they concentrate in smearing someone with depravity to provide a scene to hide their own shame. Every time you pick up a news paper to read, or turn on your Radio to listen, you can see and hear villifications being hurled at someone in high places who are actually trying to promote the cause and advancement of social and public welfare; but, like the snake that bit the hand that fed it, they are willing to receive the benefits and then stab him in the back. When the Communists coerced with the Republican party, they attempted to infiltrate the Democrat party, but the Democrats promptly rejected them. But, after the civil war which the Republicans cannot deny engendering, because history affirms the facts; the Communists succeeded in infiltrating the Democrat party and have set the two major parties up as contestants in defamation and corruption. If our political leaders are really opposed to communism they should desist from practicing communistic principles, because they are the outgrowth of Communist theology.

For instance, Harry's bitter attack against President Eisenhower's far eastern policies, was only an effort to hide his own short comings in the same policy. It appears that Mr. Truman has either forgotten, or would like for the people to forget, he engineered a gift to Chiang Kai-shek of two billion dollars worth of arms and ammunition. Chiang sent the arms out on the front lines, then retreated and left the arms to the reds; then withdrew his troops and fled to Formosa, the richest man in the world. May I ask this question, What do we have in common to justify defending Formosa?. I think that if they could recover the two billion in gold that Harry gave to Chiang, they all, wouldn't care a happy what becomes of Chiang and Formosa. But, please don't loose sight of the fact that they all are trying to hide their own meanness.

The healthy heart and lungs I need . . . To stay away from death . . . I thank you for my friendships and . . . All pleasures I have had . . . And for Your kindly comfort in . . . Afraid Of The Dark

Because an Englishman was afraid of the dark half a century ago, you and I are going to be stumbling around in the dark and missing trains and confusing our milk cows for the next five months.

William Willett, a house builder in England in 1907, got the idea that by advancing the clock 80 minutes in spring — at the rate of four jumps of 20 minutes each — he could "increase cheerfulness, lessen anxieties and breed courage."

Today, 61,550,000 Americans are affected by DST and two Gallup polls since the war show they don't like it.

Fortunately for a lot of folks, 24 states have outlawed the silly system.

But this merely means that all rail stations have to have two clocks, further to confuse the traveler.

Some states which have Standard Time laws on the books, can't enforce them.

Indiana has a toothless law designating Central Standard Time the year around. No daylight time anymore.

But the law has no penalties and it is violated flagrantly.

At least 30 Hoosier counties are operating on Eastern time. Most counties switch with the rest of the country when daylight time comes and goes.

But not all counties.

And often a city won't go along with its own county!

I'm not saying Washington should do something about this. Washington meddles too much as it is.

And Paul Harvey isn't inclined to tell those other 24 states how to run their business.

But our states are laced so tightly now with instantaneous communication and rapid transportation that shrinks our old fashioned economy size day into a capsule . . . that, for the sake of travel schedules, phone rates, and insurance claims . . . I wish enough folks in each state would rise up and re-enact standard hop-slopping time the year around.

If this nonsense is, as advertised, for the convenience of city workers . . .

If it's to give them more daylight after they get off work at night . . .

Isn't it far more convenient to adjust working hours, rather than to grapple with all these contradicting clocks?

Business establishments are always changing their working hours anyway. Experience shows if one does it, the others follow suit.

Whatever the clock says, some department stores are going to stay open some nights until nine.

It is infinitely more simple for a few businesses to change their working hours to conform to daylight where this is desirable . . . rather than to continue this absurd disagreement over what time it is.

Labor Vote

Secretary of Labor James M. Mitchell learning that his efforts to woo organized labor to Republican support are futile. He has gone on record against state "right to work" laws, favors change in Taft-Hartley act to outlaw them, but no changes will be made in that law at this session. Ignoring Mitchell's effort to get on labor's good side, labor publications direct their fire at Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, whom they assert has more influence with the White House than does Mitchell. Though Eisenhower is estimated to have had at least 50 per cent of the organized labor vote in 1952, prediction is he wouldn't get more than 25 per cent now.

Big Noise With No Echo—Washington uproar over abrupt firing of Edward J. Corsi by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as special immigration consultant has no repercussion west of New York City, in the opinion of Republican members of Congress. Corsi, former New York state commissioner of immigration, close friend of former Governor Thomas E. Dewey, has been left to shift for himself by GOP. He tried to stir up opposition to McCarran - Walter act and to speed up refugee immigration. Neither has much support in Congress. Prediction is that Republicans won't suffer through loss of "the Italian vote" don't impress, as it is mostly Democratic.

Vote Getters Won't Pass — Administration bills with high public appeal are stymied so far, those which have backing of interested groups are moving along. Predictions are that foreign aid, exemption of independent gas producers from federal regulation, and increased reciprocal trade powers for the president will pass, but that increased minimum wage, bond issue financing for highway construction, aid to education and health reinsurance will be shelved until the next session.

Loyal Democrats May Disagree —Top Democrats, eager to get rid of loyalty oath hangover were dismayed when former National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell forecast that Governor Allan Shivers of Texas, Governor Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana and former Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina who supported Eisenhower in 1952 will be challenged if they appear at Chicago convention next August as delegates. Chairman Paul Butler, Mitchell's close friend thinks his predecessor spoke too soon and that the fight can be averted.

Mitchell thinking reflects resentment of Stevenson followers at Southern defections in 1952, but predictions are that Southern national committee members will demand that some compromise be reached to avoid disruption of the convention by renewal of the loyalty fight.

Quemoy - Matsu on Skids — State Department double talk believed forerunner of abandonment of Quemoy and Matsu islands, in return for British Commonwealth agreement to join in protecting Formosa. President Eisenhower will wait until after British election May 26 to make his position clear. Unfriendly attitude of African - Asian conference toward communism said to have convinced our diplomats that U. S. would leave Communist China at a disadvantage in its argument that our designs are imperialist.

Those Helpful Democrats — Not in this century has a Congress controlled by one party given as much aid to a president of the opposite party. Now the Democrats are supporting the main features of Ike's reciprocal trade bill against Republican opposition. Six Democratic senators saved the 3 year extension of presidential authority to cut tariff rates by 5 per cent a year, just as five Democrats — not the same ones — eliminated the $20 tax cut in the tax bills. The Democratic side of the Senate gave him the authority he asked to deal with the Formosan question. Now Democrats may block new consideration of Bricker amendment to curtail presidents' treaty making authority.

Prediction is that box score show most defeats were at the hands of Republicans, which could influence Ike's decision about 1956.

Congressional Quarterly

One In Three Meetings Closed To Press, Public

WASHINGTON — The "Keep Out" notice is still being posted before one of every three meetings of Congressional committees. But there are signs that Congress is becoming sensitive to public criticism of committee secrecy.

As tabulated by Congressional Quarterly, committees and subcommittees of Congress held a total of 986 meetings between Jan., 5, when the 84th Congress convened, and April 13, when Senate and House reconvened after the Easter recess. Of these meetings, 353 were "executive" sessions, closed to press and public alike. That means 35.8 per cent of all committee meetings were held in secret.

According to CQ records, the proportion of closed committee meetings during the first three months of 1954 was 38.4 per cent, and for the entire 1954 session it was 41 per cent. This seems to indicate a decline in the ratio of secret committee sessions.

At the same time, CQ learned that one or more committees have taken steps to keep notice of some executive sessions out of the public record. Official notice of all meetings, open and closed, supposedly is recorded in the Daily Digest of the Congressional Record.

In one instance, however, CQ learned that the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee's Special Subcommittee to Investigate Employee Funds met in executive session on March 17, 18, and 19. No record of these closed meetings appeared in the Daily Digest.

Contrasts Noted

The extent of any effort to withhold public notice of closed committee sessions cannot be determined, so it is impossible to say with certainty that secret meetings have declined or increased. But a study of the records of specific committees reveals some interesting contrasts.

During the first three months of 1954, the House Education and Labor committee held 29 meetings, of which 28 were closed to the press. During the entire 1954 session, the committee held 59 sessions, 54 of which were closed. That was 92 per cent, the highest "secrecy score" for any committee in 1954.

During the three months ending April 12, 1955, this same committee held 16 sessions, only two of which were closed. Score: 12.5 per cent.

The House Ways and Means committee also seems to have moved in the direction of the open door. During the first three months of 1954, 32 of its 40 sessions were closed, for a score of 80 per cent. For the entire session: 53 of 76 sessions, or 70 per cent, closed. In 1955: Eight of 27 meetings, or 30 per cent, closed.

In another case, little change was noted despite a public pledge of an open door policy. Chairman Carl Vinson (D Ga.) of the House Armed Services committee announced Jan. 25 that he would keep the doors open to the extent security considerations permitted. Of 79 committee meetings recorded in 1955, 26, or 33 per cent, were closed. This is the same score recorded by the committee in 1954, when 44 of 133 sessions were closed For the first three months of 1954, 19 of the committee's 67 meetings, or 28 per cent, were closed.

The Senate Armed Services committee has been meeting in secret more often. Its score in the first three months of 1954 was 51 sessions, of which 26, or 51 per cent, were closed. For the 1954 session: 103 meetings, 57 closed, 55 per cent. For 1955: 48 meetings, 33 closed, 69 per cent. Only the Senate Rules committee, which has met in secret seven of eight times, has a higher 1955 "secrecy score" on the Senate side.

Committees Choose

Least secretive of the busy committees this year is the House committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. Its record: 55 meetings, seven closed, 12.7 per cent. For the entire 1954 session: 151 meetings, 18 closed, 11.9 per cent.

Committees themselves have the power to decide whether their meetings shall be closed or open. Factors which may have influenced the apparent decline in the ratio of closed sessions, from 1954 to 1955, include newspaper criticism of committee secrecy and the changing nature of legislation considered by committees. Whether the switch from Republican to Democratic control of Congress and its committees has had any influence in this respect is a matter for speculation.

Leon Gary, Of Houma, Is Named La. Mayor Of Year

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 23—(Special)—Leon Gary of Houma is Louisiana's "Mayor of the Year."

The award, sponsored by the Louisiana Municipal Review, was presented at the final session of the Louisiana Municipal Association's 18th annual convention in Alexandria, Saturday. Mayor Gary was selected from among the 14 nominees by a committee composed of Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, Dr. Kimbrough Owen of the LSU school of Government and Ed Stagg of the Public Affairs Research Council.

MAYOR LEON GARY

One of the outstanding achievements of Mayor Gary was the unique community lease which he planned and spearheaded to permit directional drilling for gas beneath the entire city of Houma. The lease itself, first of its kind in the history of the industry, netted the city and its citizens $108,000 and the royalties on the gas that brought may go up into the millions. The well also means lower gas rates for the city and its citizens.

But the gas well is not the only achievement of the Terrebonne city's mayor. Municipal services have been expanded and the budget more than tripled in less than 8 years.

Contracts have already been let for additions to the municipal water plant, streets are being improved, power facilities are expanded. The recreation program is being developed into one of the finest in the state.

Mayor Gary has quietly, efficiently steered the program he and his council have developed. He has maintained an excellent standard of public relations, with all records on public display and with a full explanation of every move the council has made. This has been one factor in establishing the complete public confidence in the administration which has made the other accomplishments possible.

His activities have not been confined to Houma. He has been active in the Louisiana Municipal Association, and in the Louisiana Deep South Association, of which he is vice-president and one of the organizers. In other affairs, too, his influence has been felt throughout the state.

Parents Ask Aid For Retarded Children Here

Members of the Northeast Louisiana Association for Retarded Children have passed a resolution to ask U. S. lawmakers from Louisiana to support several bills pending now in Congress which will benefit parents of retarded children.

The action, taken at the regular meeting of the association, was to be directed to Congressman Otto E. Passman and Senators Russell Long and Allen Ellender.

Among these bills are one which would allow the parents of a retarded child to take an additional $600 income tax exemption for the child, one which would amend the social security act to provide for the payment of a child's insurance benefits to retarded children over the age of 18, and the appropriation for a bill for the department of health, education and welfare, which contains an allocation for $750,000 for research in mental retardation.

Ike Hamilton, president of the association, pointed out that 3,000 out of every 100,000 children born with permanent affications are mentally retarded, as compared to 350 with cerebral palsy, 300 with polio, and 200 blind.

Four-Car Mishap Fatal To Infant, Five Others Hurt

SHREVEPORT, La., April 23 (AP)—Police said a car driven by a teenager collided with another car at Longwood today, killing five-month-old infant.

After the accident, the teenager's car careened into two parked autos. The four-car smashup sent five persons to the hospital.

The dead child was James Elkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elkins of Palestine, Tex.

In the hospital, doctors treated:

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Walton of Edcouch, Tex., the child's grandparents.

Mrs. Elkins.

Chuck Elkins, three-year-old brother of the child.

Mary Moore, who was seated in one of the parked autos in Longwood, about 14 miles west of Shreveport.

Attendants said Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Elkins were the most seriously injured. There were no reports on their condition.

Capt. H. N. Terry and L. M. Truly of the Caddo Parish sheriff's office identified the teenage driver as Buddy McGonagill, 17, of Shreveport.

'Y' Camp For Younger Boys Is To Be Conducted

Dr. Roy L. Robertson, president of the Twin Cities YMCA, announced yesterday that the Young Men's Christian Association will again conduct a day camp during the summer for younger boys, age 6-12. The camp will be extended to include three two week periods beginning June 20 and running through July 29.

Day campers will be picked up by bus at the various elementary schools in Monroe - West Monroe and transported to Forsythe park which will serve as day camp headquarters. Boys in the day camp will enjoy such activities as swimming, boating, fishing, crafts, group games, riflery, archery, athletics, educational trips, nature lore, story telling, horseback riding, devotionals, camp outs, singing and fellowship with other boys.

Charles A. Wood, Jr., general secretary of the Twin Cities YMCA, will direct the camp. Wood has many years experience in the field of camping having directed both day camps and resident camps for the YMCA in Virginia and Georgia. Wood will be assisted by interested YMCA laymen and well trained competent young men. Parents can be sure that friendly supervision will be given to campers. The health, safety, and well being of the boy are of primary importance in day camp. Every boy in the camping program will be protected by accident insurance.

The day camp of the Twin Cities YMCA is organized to meet the needs of younger boys between the ages of 6 to 12 who desire an ourdoor program during the hot summer weeks in the city. Day camping affords an opportunity to grow bodily, spiritually and mentally while enjoying wholesome activities in friendship groups under competent leadership.

Tuition for the day camp will be $12 for each two week period and a boy may attend one or more periods. No registration fee is required of YMCA members but nonmembers are required to pay a $3.00 registration fee. This is paid only once during the summer and does not apply on tuition. Campers will bring their own lunches and milk money.

Band Boosters To Convene Thursday

Time for the regular meeting of the Neville Band Boosters Club has been changed from Tuesday until 7:30 p.m. Thursday, John P. Zoll, president, said yesterday.

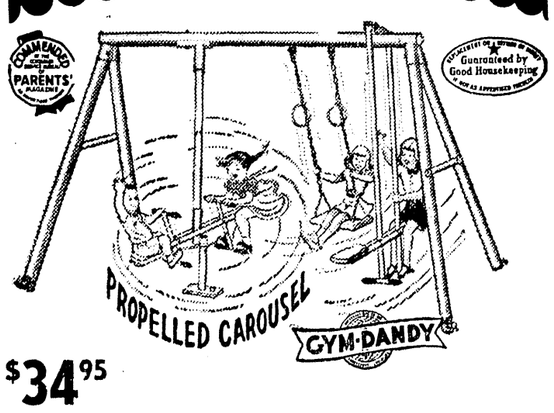

Zoll said the date was changed since the Twin Cities Sports will open the local baseball season Tuesday night. Election of officers will be held at the meeting on Thursday. The meeting will be at Neville High School.

'Y' Camp For Younger Boys Is To Be Conducted

Dr. Roy L. Robertson, president of the Twin Cities YMCA, announced yesterday that the Young Men's Christian Association will again conduct a day camp during the summer for younger boys, age 6-12. The camp will be extended to include three two week periods beginning June 20 and running through July 29.

Day campers will be picked up by bus at the various elementary schools in Monroe - West Monroe and transported to Forsythe park which will serve as day camp headquarters. Boys in the day camp will enjoy such activities as swimming, boating, fishing, crafts, group games, riflery, archery, athletics, educational trips, nature lore, story telling, horseback riding, devotionals, camp outs, singing and fellowship with other boys.

Charles A. Wood, Jr., general secretary of the Twin Cities YMCA, will direct the camp. Wood has many years experience in the field of camping having directed both day camps and resident camps for the YMCA in Virginia and Georgia. Wood will be assisted by interested YMCA laymen and well trained competent young men. Parents can be sure that friendly supervision will be given to campers. The health, safety, and well being of the boy are of primary importance in day camp. Every boy in the camping program will be protected by accident insurance.

The day camp of the Twin Cities YMCA is organized to meet the needs of younger boys between the ages of 6 to 12 who desire an ourdoor program during the hot summer weeks in the city. Day camping affords an opportunity to grow bodily, spiritually and mentally while enjoying wholesome activities in friendship groups under competent leadership.

Tuition for the day camp will be $12 for each two week period and a boy may attend one or more periods. No registration fee is required of YMCA members but nonmembers are required to pay a $3.00 registration fee. This is paid only once during the summer and does not apply on tuition. Campers will bring their own lunches and milk money.

Hundred Million Americans Read Comics Daily

WASHINGTON, April 23 —UP— Newspaper comic strips are a daily reading habit of about 100 million Americans, the American Society of Newspaper Editors was told Saturday.

The estimate was made by Carl J. Nelson of publication research service, at a panel discussion of newspaper features that highlighted the closing session of the three-day annual ASNE meeting here.

The meeting concluded with a banquet Saturday night at which the principal speaker was Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Nelson told the editors that "readership of comics has not suffered as much as your competitors would like to have you think" since the advent of television.

He estimated that 75 million adults and about 25 million children read some comics every day.

Cartoonist Milton Caniff said comics are a valuable feature for any newspaper. He said one paper got $100,000 in 1954 on sale of advertising space directly adjacent to one of the most popular comic strips.

E. B. Thompson of King Features Syndicate, said editors should treat comic strips as one of the great assets of a newspaper, and give them the same promotion they give other features.

Other highlights of Saturday's ASNE session included:

Kenneth MacDonald, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, was elected president for the coming year. Other officers chosen were Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Tulsa Tribune, first vice president; Virginius Dabney, Richmond Times-Dispatch, second vice president; George Healy Jr., New Orleans Times - Picayune, secretary, and J. R. Wiggins, Washington Post and Times Herald, treasurer.

News Publishers 69th. Convention Will Open Tuesday

NEW YORK, April 23—UP—The American Newspaper Publishers Association will open its 69th annual convention here Tuesday, April 26, it was announced Saturday.

More than 1,200 American and Canadian newspaper executives are expected to attend the convention at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The convention will end Thursday, April 28.

The publishers plan to give particular attention to the rising costs of newspaper publishing and research to improve newspapers.

A closed circuit television show will present operations of the research laboratory in Easton, Pa. This is the only research laboratory in the world devoted exclusively to research for newspapers.

Three separate meetings will be held opening day covering the problems of publishing small, medium and large daily papers.

Philip S. Weld, Newburyport (Mass.) News, will be in charge of sessions for dailies with circulations of less than 10,000.

W. T. Burgess, LaCrosse (Wis.) Tribune and Leader Press, will head the session for dailies with circulation from 10,000 up to 50,000.

Chairman of the committee in charge of both sessions under 50,000 circulation is Robert M. White II, Mexico (Mo.) Ledger.

Group To Read Bible Throughout Night

ACHILLE, Okla., April 23—UP—Members of the First Methodist Church hoped to read the entire New Testament during an all-night Bible reading session scheduled to end at 10 a. m. Sunday.

Rev. Roy Whitson, pastor, said more than 30 persons were lined up to read from the church pulpit starting at 7 p. m. Some were to read for 15 minutes, others for 30.

Whitson said his all-night "Bible-thon" had been planned before the non-stop reading of the book at Garber, Okla., recently during a 70-hour period. The Garber recitation received nationwide attention.

Visit By Soviet Farmers Getting Consideration

WASHINGTON, April 23 —UP— The United States still is giving "sympathetic consideration" to a proposed visit to Iowa of Russian farmers, it was learned Saturday.

If the visit is approved, the American strategy could explode a Soviet charge that the United States has thrown up an "Iron Curtain" around its borders.

Approval of the visit also would dampen the Russian charges against the United States which followed the recent cancellation of a trip to America by Soviet student editors.

Informants said a note will be dispatched to the Soviet government soon, perhaps next week, announcing the U. S. decision. Officials were not saying what the decisions will be.

But one strong line of State Department thinking calls for the United States to approve the farmers' visit, thereby testing whether the Soviet Union really wants to stimulate exchange of private citizens.

Actually, officials doubt the Russian farmers will ever get to see how the corn grows in Iowa. That is because there is no way to get around a U. S. law requiring all aliens entering the United States to be fingerprinted. The Russian editors refused to comply with this provision.

The editors were to have arrived in New York last week for a month's tour. They canceled the trip because the Russians felt that fingerprinting was "humiliating" and had a criminal implication.

Officials Report No New Leads In Elizabeth Blast

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 23 —UP— Rapides sheriff's deputies said today they had no leads in the dynamiting of a car in the Elizabeth area last night in the first outbreak of violence in almost six months.

A violent explosion tore apart a car belonging to Nathanial Johnson of Plainview, an employe of Calcasieu Paper Co. Authorities estimated a whole case of dynamite caps was used to set off the blast which hurled parts of the car as far as 150 feet.

The explosion was the first violent act reported since pickets were removed in November 1954 from the Calcasieu Paper Co. A strike against the mill began Sept. 13, 1952.

A total of 164 acts of violence were reported in the two-year period.

Johnson said he and members of his family had gone to Plainview school last night to hear gospel singing. He said his car stopped about our miles from Plainview and the family group started walking. About an hour later, he said he came back and found "I had no car at all."

He said it was completely demolished by the explosion.

State Park Sought At Poverty Point Mound

By PAUL YATES

When the Louisiana legislature meets in May, it will be asked to authorize and appropriate money for a new state park covering the site of the second-highest Indian mound in America, located near Epps, in West Carroll Parish.

This towering edifice, more than 2,000 years old, is the focal point of a prehistoric Indian city and a primitive culture that is attracting increasing attention, as one of the nation's most valuable archeological sites.

The Indian mounds near Epps, on Bayou Macon, take their name from the old Poverty Point plantation on which they are located. The prehistoric city represented one of the earliest stages of mound-building culture, which has assumed a generic name—"Poverty Point" culture.

Dr. James Ford, associate curator of North American Archeology for the American Museum of Natural History in New York, has been excavating in the ancient city for several weeks.

He is one of the nation's most distinguished archeologists. He told me, "There is no doubt in my mind that the "A" mound at Poverty Point, which rises 70 feet above the surrounding terrain, is suitable for preservation as a state park, and perhaps some of the smaller mounds could be included."

Dr. Ford pointed out that the only Indian mound in the nation higher than the one near Epps is located near East St. Louis.

Dr. Clarence H. Webb, noted archeologist of Louisiana State University, who was visiting the site, along with several other experts from different areas, was enthusiastic over the project for a state park at Poverty Point.

"This great monument should be preserved for posterity," he declared.

Dr. Webb has been in frequent conferences with State Park officials regarding the proppsed park. It is hoped to have estimates of the probable cost of acquiring the needed land ready for the Legislature when it convenes next month; along with a budget for proposed improvements and maintenance.

Dr. Ford has sent samples of charcoal from the mounds, and expects soon to have a report showing the age of these earthworks, based on radioactivity of carbon 14, which provides an accurate measurement.

"The Poverty Point culture extended over into Mississippi and other states," he pointed out. "Samples of charcoal from the mounds at Jaketown, Mississippi, embracing this same culture, were analyzed. One was 2,400 years old, the other 2,800."

From an archeological standpoint, one of the main values of the mounds at Poverty Point, within the old city, is that no later stage of mound - building culture is represented. A few miles away, however, are some smaller isolated mounds built many centuries later.

EXCAVATING AT POVERTY POINT—Dr. James Ford, internationally known archeologist, takes a bearing from the top of an Indian mound at Poverty Point, in West Carroll Parish, where he is making excavations that may shed new light on the mound-building Indians that inhabited Northeast Louisiana more than 2,000 years ago. Beside him is Bob Neitzel, curator of the Marksville Prehistoric Indian Culture State Park, administered by the Parks and Recreation Commission. (Staff Photo by Yvonne Herron, State Editor)

The prehistoric Indians who built the vast earthworks at Poverty Point — probably ancestors of the modern Indians of the Southwest were old stone-agers. They used no pottery — although they did fashion clay pipes, probably for smoking tobacco. In the excavations made this spring by Dr. Ford and his assistants, many clay "fireballs" were unearthed.These were formed by squeezing wet clay, and the hand-prints and finger-marks of the aborigines are visible on them today. Presumably they were used for cooking purposes.

These Indians apparently had not learned to use the bow and arrow, but employed spears, sling-shots and snares to trap game. They also raised crops.

The Poverty Point sites are characterized by a lack of bones and skeletal remains. The artifacts taken from the mounds include many types of chipped flint instruments, for use in war and in the chase and as household utensils; along with plummets and a wide variety of ornaments. The latter include hollowed out beads and amulets, some of them showing remarkable beauty and symmetry.

Dr. Ford found a piece of galena, native lead sulphide, in the "B" mound at Poverty Point. The nearest known occurance of this ore is in Arkansas, several hundred miles away. Mica-schist and other minerals not found in Louisiana also were unearthed.

The "A" mound, which formed the key to a once great city, marked by giant earthworks laid in concentric circles, is highly impressive from a scenic standpoint. It is covered by trees and brush from bottom to top, although a good footpath offers easy access to the summit.

Imprints of the fibre of baskets on which the earth was carried to erect these remarkable mounds were seen during Dr. Ford's excavations.

Speaking generally of Indian mounds, which stretch from Louisiana and Mississippi northward through a number of states, prehistoric cults and religious beliefs and superstitions seems to have been the animating motive for their construction. Some are totemic, and one Adams County, Ohio, mic, and one in Adams County, Ohio, suggests the ancient cult of serpent-worship, being formed in the shape of a serpent with jaws 75 feet across, and an over-all length of more than 1,300 feet.

The significance of the curiously shaped and compass-oriented ancient city at Poverty Point has not been determined fully from the idealogical standpoint. Dr. Ford's present excavations may shed new light upon this.

The Poverty Point mounds are within easy driving distance of Monroe. Backers of the state park project estimate that many thounually to see and climb the chief attraction, a man-made "mountain" covering many acres at its base. A museum of exhibits in connection with the park has been suggested.

Police Question 25 In Murder Of New Orleans Man

NEW ORLEANS April 23 —UP— Police today questioned some 25 persons in connection with the mysterious murder of bank teller Frank L. Bourg, 64, and took precautions to guard all witnesses from possible "strike again" attacks by the killer.

Bourg was bludgeoned in his hospital bed at Mercy hospital April 16 by a mysterious "killer in brown." He died Wednesday.

A Negro woman who saw the killer enter Bourg's room has been placed under heavy police guard. Several persons told police they saw the man in the hall, but no one saw the death blows believed to have been dealt by a hatchet wrapped in cloth.

Another heart patient, Ashton J. Charree, was in the two-bed room at the time of the beating but he did not see the attacker.

State P-TA Backs Fluoridation Of Water Supplies

SHREVEPORT, la., April 23 (AP)— The Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association today approved, in principle, the fluoridation of all city water supplies in the state.

After heated debate, delegates assented at the closing session of their 32nd annual convention. No plan was advanced, however, to pressure cities into using fluoridation.

Delegates installed three new officers. They were Mrs. George D. Walther Jr. of Lake Charles, vice president; Mrs. George Beste of Baton Rouge, fifth vice president; and Mrs. J. E. Hampson of Shreveport, secretary.

Nixon Caller Under Mental Observation

WASHINGTON, April 23 —UP— A man who mentioned he was carrying a revolver during a telephone call to Vice President Richard M. Nixon's office was committed to general hospital Saturday for mental observation.

Municipal Judge Armond W. Scott ordered Clifford W. Bryan, 34, of Los Angeles, committed when he was arraigned on charges of carrying a deadly weapon.

A report on Bryan's condition is to be made by May 24. Bryan did not threaten the vice president's life, but he was picked up by Secret Service agents who investigated after Nixon's office told them of the call.

Speaking generally of Indian mounds, which stretch from Louisiana and Mississippi northward through a number of states, prehistoric cults and religious beliefs and superstitions seems to have been the animating motive for their construction. Some are totemic, and one Adams County, Ohio, mic, and one in Adams County, Ohio, suggests the ancient cult of serpent-worship, being formed in the shape of a serpent with jaws 75 feet across, and an over-all length of more than 1,300 feet.

The significance of the curiously shaped and compass-oriented ancient city at Poverty Point has not been determined fully from the idealogical standpoint. Dr. Ford's present excavations may shed new light upon this.

The Poverty Point mounds are within easy driving distance of Monroe. Backers of the state park project estimate that many thounually to see and climb the chief attraction, a man-made "mountain" covering many acres at its base. A museum of exhibits in connection with the park has been suggested.

State P-TA Backs Fluoridation Of Water Supplies

SHREVEPORT, la., April 23 (AP)—The Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association today approved, in principle, the fluoridation of all city water supplies in the state.

After heated debate, delegates assented at the closing session of their 32nd annual convention. No plan was advanced, however, to pressure cities into using fluoridation.

Delegates installed three new officers. They were Mrs. George D. Walther Jr. of Lake Charles, vice president; Mrs. George Beste of Baton Rouge, fifth vice president; and Mrs. J. E. Hampson of Shreveport, secretary.

Nixon Caller Under Mental Observation

WASHINGTON, April 23 —UP— A man who mentioned he was carrying a revolver during a telephone call to Vice President Richard M. Nixon's office was committed to general hospital Saturday for mental observation.

Municipal Judge Armond W. Scott ordered Clifford W. Bryan, 34, of Los Angeles, committed when he was arraigned on charges of carrying a deadly weapon.

A report on Bryan's condition is to be made by May 24. Bryan did not threaten the vice president's life, but he was picked up by Secret Service agents who investigated after Nixon's office told them of the call.

Police Question 25 In Murder Of New Orleans Man

NEW ORLEANS April 23 —UP— Police today questioned some 25 persons in connection with the mysterious murder of bank teller Frank L. Bourg, 64, and took precautions to guard all witnesses from possible "strike again" attacks by the killer.

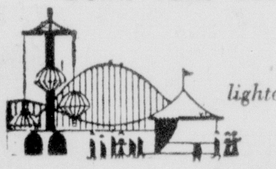

Bourg was bludgeoned in his hospital bed at Mercy hospital April 16 by a mysterious "killer in brown." He died Wednesday.

A Negro woman who saw the killer enter Bourg's room has been placed under heavy police guard. Several persons told police they saw the man in the hall, but no one saw the death blows believed to have been dealt by a hatchet wrapped in cloth.

Another heart patient, Ashton J. Charree, was in the two-bed room at the time of the beating but he did not see the attacker.

Capt. Al Theriot, police information officer, said "We are faced with one of the toughest cases in the history of the New Orleans Police Department."

cessful, and we beg leave to be excused from further sessions."

No comment was immediately available from either company or union officials.

Gov. Wetherby said at Frankfort, Ky., that he had asked the 13 governors of states affected by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike to meet Tuesday at Nashville, Tenn. in an effort to settle this walkout, also in its 41st day.

The action came as the striking AFL nonoperating unions of the L&N stood by their rejection of a Southern governors' arbitration proposal. The deadline passed at noon with no change in the stand of the unions. The railroad has accepted the plan conditionally.

At Montgomery, Ala., Chief Justice J. Ed Livingston of Alabama's Supreme Court issued an injunction to stop mass picketing, violence or destruction of property by striking L&N employes in Alabama. The action followed an informal hearing before five Supreme Court justices.

The chief justice earlier ordered an injunction to prohibit picketing of Seaboard Air Line Railroad facilities at Birmingham by L&N employes on grounds it amounted to a secondary boycott.

Striking L&N employes put up a picket line at Seaboard's yards, tracks and freight depot Wednesday and Seaboard employes refused to go through the picket line.

Judge Livingston made one exception in the temporary injunction order. It was for the Fifth Ave. North and 32nd St. property where Seaboard and L&N exchange freight.

As a result of the picketing Seaboard halted passenger service. Freight service is being operated by supervisory employes. Union spokesmen said the pickets were put out because Seaboard continued to interchange freight with L&N using supervisory personnel to operate their train.

In other developments, an early morning dynamite blast tore L&N tracks near London, Ky., and pickets halted train crews at the Birmingham, Ala., yards of the Illinois Central, Frisco and Central of Georgia railroads.

L&N employes struck for a medical care insurance plan to be paid on a 50-50 basis by the company and the employes. Southern Bell workers went out in a contract dispute. The company claimed a no-strike clause was the main obstacle. Union leaders said they might agree to such a clause if the new contract provided complete arbitration and satisfactory wage and working conditions.

The National Mediation Board met at Washington with representatives of both the L&N and the striking unions during the day. A board spokesman said there were "no definite developments."

Sessions will be resumed Sunday afternoon.

While the negotiations to settle the telephone strike were in progress, there were these other developments:

Bessemer, Ala. — windows were shattered in a residence by a dynamite blast today apparently aimed at a telephone pole near the house.

Gadsden, Ala. — Police Chief Fay Boman and Capt. C. H. Dobbs arrested Hoyt Fortenberry, 20, and Flavius Lee Maddox, 20, rubber plant workers, for throwing eggs at a telephone company employe. The men were captured after an 85-mile per hour chase during which the officers shot off all four tires of the car. They were charged with disorderly conduct.

Baton Rouge, La — Seven telephone cables and three long distance lines were slashed last night, Southern Bell officials reported. The cuttings followed gathering of a crowd of about 300 near the telephone exchange. It came together despite a temporary injunction against such meetings issued by District Judge Jess Johnson.

Jacksonville, Fla.—The home of a non-striking telephone worker was paint-bombed last night. William S. Mathias Jr. reported the paint was contained in what appeared to be Christmas tree ornaments.

Pensacola, Fla. — An underground vault containing all telephone circuits to the east was dynamited early today, detective Capt. R. C. Harper reported. Only two circuits were damaged.

Jackson, Miss. — Miss Supreme Court Justice Lee Hall issued a temporary order yesterday barring mass picketing, violence, wire cutting and threatening non-strikers. The injunction also bans Hattiesburg union members from using their union hall which is within 100 feet of the telephone exchange. The injunction prohibits mass meetings that close to a telephone company facility.

Louisville, Ky. — The main track of the L&N was dynamited today near London, Ky. "I have no doubt it is sabotage," said FBI special agent Edward L. Boyle.

Augusta, Ga. — A picket-banning injunction was obtained by the Augusta and Summerville railroad today. It would have the effect of removing pickets from property of the small train company which owns no rolling stock, only trackage and switching facilities.

Montgomery, Ala. — Cecil Robertson, president of the Alabama CIO council, credited the right to work law passed by the 1953 Alabama Legislature with being partially responsible for the strikes. He said the CIO would make a major effort to have the law repealed at the upcoming session.

Atlanta — At Southern Bell headquarters in Atlanta, company spokesmen said service throughout the nine-state area served by the company has been "generally normal." They said "approximately half of the company's 60,000 workers were on the job during the past week. Employes not on strike, aided by supervisors put through long distance calls at a rate of 99 per cent of a normal week. The company has four million dial telephones which are not affected by the strike.

Maryville, Tenn. — Officials pledged "to protect the telephone company's property and to safeguard the peace" if Southern Bell will reopen its Maryville exchange. It was closed because of violence.

Mobile, Ala. — William F. Yandell, Southern Bell district manager, reported tonight that a dynamite blast in a manhole in northern Mobile had knocked out at least 5,000 telephone circuits.

Progress Parade Will End Stand In Monroe Today

The General Motors Parade of Progress will conclude its four-day stand at Forsythe Park today with the stage show and 26 major exhibits all in action from to 10 p. m.

Attendance at the traveling "circus of science" through Friday night totaled 17,169, according to assistant parade director Bruce Overbey. The figure included some 3,600 youngsters who attended special school showings on Friday morning.

Providing that good weather continues through today, Overbey predicted that attendance at the show may exceed 38,000.

A large portion of the audience at the Parade of Progress has consisted of family groups, he said.

Comments on the show from those attending ranged from amazement to just plain enjoyment from this visit into "the world of tomorrow."

General Motors' noted scientist and inventor, Charles F. "Boss" Kettering, probably hit the core of the reaction to the show when he once remarked, "We should all be concerned about the future, after all, we have to spend the rest of our lives there."

Immediately after the show closes tonight, preparations will be started for leaving the city on Tuesday morning. Personnel will start tearing down the Aerodome tent, Futurliners will be readied for the road and exhibits packed in their vans.

At 7 a. m. Tuesday the parade will depart for Little Rock, Arkansas where the show is scheduled to open on Thursday night.

general, Lee (Red) Porter of Gadsden.

Ferrell was present in a hotel room both times when the money was contributed to Porter in two payments, one for 10,000, the other for $8,000, the former czar of a fallen lottery empire testified.

Porter previously admitted receiving the two contributions in Birmingham and another at the airport in Montgomery from Davis' son, Godwin Jr.

The defeated candidate gave that testimony in a recent vote fraud trial.

The elder Davis didn't say he actually handed the $18,000 to Porter although the Gadsden attorney was in the room. He said he might have given the money to Bob Luckie, Birmingham advertising man who was handling Porter's campaign.

Davis said the "pot was made up" for Patterson's opponent at the Bama cafe in Phenix City, one of the gambling joints closed by the National Guard during the cleanup last summer.

The witness balked at telling the jury how much he gave personally but finally said it was $1,000.

expected to make history with a number of "firsts."

It will be the most widely attended explosion of all. Reporters are expected to pour out nearly a million words over Western Union wires in the next few days.

It will mark the first time an armored task force has staged a live atomic tank maneuver. Eight hundred officers and men, and some newsmen who will be chosen from a pool, will huddle inside 57 Gen. Patton tanks and 24 armored personnel carriers on a line only 3100 yards — or less than two miles — from ground zero. After the initial burst the tanks will clank forward as close to the blast site as safety will permit and will engage in maneuvers simulating an advance in the wake of a wartime atomic explosion. Other observers, plus about 30 newsmen and about 30 civil defense workers — including women for the first time — will crouch in a trench on the 3500 yard line from ground zero.

Interspersed between the 3500 yard line and the tower containing the atomic device are right angle rows of objects and installations which will be used as targets and test objects for the explosion.

Lined up for the blast are one and two story houses, metal industrial buildings, trucks, house trailers, automobiles, power transformers, power lines, gas storage tanks and pumping stations, a 250 watt radio station, and a variety of shelters. Some of the shelters are mere dugouts and others are large underground concrete vaults capable of sheltering more than 50 persons. The shelters are nearest the tower, a scant 1100 yards away. All but the shelters are expected to be seared to a crisp or else either heavily damaged.

The facilities are the focal point for the civil defense phase of the operation. The joint AEC-civil defense test is designed to obtain much needed information concerning the effects of an atomic blast on normal civilian houses and industrial buildings. AEC authorities emphasized that none of the homes have been reinforced. Instead, they have been erected along conventional lines so the structures will respond to the tremendous impact like any industrial building or any ordinary home in the Twin Cities.

The Tuesday explosion, AEC said will not be a "bomb" in the correct use of the word but a scientifically rigged device to be triggered off by a fantastic complex of electronic relays. Queried about the actual bulk or dimensions of the "device," Graves said only that "a man can't pick it up, I'll tell you that."

Sunday the observers and newsmen will get their first look at the closely guarded proving grounds. They will enter the area in special AEC convoys and get a close up view of the facilities on the testing lines arrayed out before the ominous steel tower.

Among leading Louisiana civil defense workers here for the test are Brig. Gen. Francis Woolfley, state director; Sheriff Bryan Clemmons of East Baton Rouge parish; Harvey Hales, Monroe fireman and civil defense worker; Gladys McCartney, Baton Rouge, mass feeding specialist; Arnold Taylor, New Orleans, communications specialist; Col. Powell Casey, Baton Rouge, National Guard headquarters detachment; A. B. Clarkson, Monroe, district civil defense director; Gen. Robert V. Mariast of New Orleans; Mayor - president Jesse Webb, Jr. of Baton Rouge, and Col. Henry Walden, civil defense director for Alexandria and Rapides parish.

Arkansas representatives include, among others, Maj. Gen. Sherman Clinger, state adjutant general; William M. Herndon, civil defense director for Little Rock; Owen Payne Jr., state civil defense director from Little Rock; Royce Thomas of Texarkana, Miller county CD director, and about 10 others.

Leg Of Monroe Man Broken In Accident

All friends of this worthy couple will be welcome at the reception this afternoon. Mr. Stroud has expressed a wish that there be no public affair staged in their behalf, but their insistent friends felt that it would not be proper to allow such outstanding residents to leave Monroe for good without a public expression of good wishes from their numberless friends.

Ridge Avenue Baptist church today proudly celebrates its 15th anniversary. Directed by the skilled and ever consecrated efforts of the pastor, Rev. A. T. Mitchell, this church has gone places. Each year has shown it is farther on the road to progress. Starting in a tin shed it has grown into a substantial, well - appointed church plant which today in dollars and cents totals an estimated $200,000. The church membership, Sunday school and youth groups of the church have kept pace.

Rev. Mitchell has time and again demonstrated his leadership. His hobby is found in the bringing out of talents in youth and a large number of new Baptist ministers are traced directly to the leadership and encouragement that comes from the work of Reverend Mitchell.

He also organized a large group of Baptist churches west of the river here into an association which is going places rapidly. There is no more dynamic church leader to be found hereabouts than Rev. A. T. Mitchell. He has met with astonishing success.

Mrs. E. E. Lawson will present her music students in recital Monday, April 25 at 8 p.m. A program of interest has been prepared and the public will be welcomed at Neville Auditorium on that night.

Mrs. Lawson's pupils include a large number of the promising young musicians of the Twin Cities. She is president of the Twin Cities Music Teachers association.

The St. Matthew's Mothers' club will hold a chicken dinner in the school cafeteria, Sunday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Money received will be used to help defray expenses of the Junior-Senior dance to be held in the near future.

The Y. W. C. A. will have "Open House" on Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at which time all friends of the "Y" are urged to attend and also an invitation is extended to bring all the family, too.

That men know what is expected when serving guests around a coffee table will be demonstrated. Those who will show how such things should be done comprise the following: Dr. Roy Robinson, Charles Wood Jr., Dr. B. L. Anderson, Rev. Wayne Gray, A. E. Allen, E. B. Ellison, and C. E. McKenzie.

from West Berlin to West Germany.

In confiscating the trucks at the Marienborn checkpoint in the Soviet zone, the East German guards accused the drivers of making and nature of their cargoes.

During the day a West Berlin anti-Communist organization reported East German police shot and fatally wounded a West Berlin resident who fell asleep on an elevated train and rode into the Soviet zone by mistake.

The organization, the Fighting Group Against Inhumanity, said Wilhelm Schwietzer, 45, a political refugee from East Germany, was shot Wednesday night and died several hours later.

The three Western commandants of Berlin—French, British and American—fired off a note to the Soviet commandant, Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, asking him personally to put an end "to the intolerable behavior" of East German police under Soviet control. Their actions, it said, have "seriously threatened the safety of life and property in the Western sectors of Berlin."

It will mark the first time an armored task force has staged a live atomic tank maneuver. Eight hundred officers and men, and some newsmen who will be chosen from a pool, will huddle inside 57 Gen. Patton tanks and 24 armored personnel carriers on a line only 3100 yards — or less than two miles — from ground zero. After the initial burst the tanks will clank forward as close to the blast site as safety will permit and will engage in maneuvers simulating an advance in the wake of a wartime atomic explosion. Other observers, plus about 30 newsmen and about 30 civil defense workers — including women for the first time — will crouch in a trench on the 3500 yard line from ground zero.

Interspersed between the 3500 yard line and the tower containing the atomic device are right angle rows of objects and installations which will be used as targets and test objects for the explosion.

Lined up for the blast are one and two story houses, metal industrial buildings, trucks, house trailers, automobiles, power transformers, power lines, gas storage tanks and pumping stations, a 250 watt radio station, and a variety of shelters. Some of the shelters are mere dugouts and others are large underground concrete vaults capable of sheltering more than 50 persons. The shelters are nearest the tower, a scant 1100 yards away. All but the shelters are expected to be seared to a crisp or else either heavily damaged.

The facilities are the focal point for the civil defense phase of the operation. The joint AEC-civil defense test is designed to obtain much needed information concerning the effects of an atomic blast on normal civilian houses and industrial buildings. AEC authorities emphasized that none of the homes have been reinforced. Instead, they have been erected along conventional lines so the structures will respond to the tremendous impact like any industrial building or any ordinary home in the Twin Cities.

The Tuesday explosion, AEC said will not be a "bomb" in the correct use of the word but a scientifically rigged device to be triggered off by a fantastic complex of electronic relays. Queried about the actual bulk or dimensions of the "device," Graves said only that "a man can't pick it up, I'll tell you that."

Sunday the observers and newsmen will get their first look at the closely guarded proving grounds. They will enter the area in special AEC convoys and get a close up view of the facilities on the testing lines arrayed out before the ominous steel tower.

Among leading Louisiana civil defense workers here for the test are Brig. Gen. Francis Woolfley, state director; Sheriff Bryan Clemmons of East Baton Rouge parish; Harvey Hales, Monroe fireman and civil defense worker; Gladys McCartney, Baton Rouge, mass feeding specialist; Arnold Taylor, New Orleans, communications specialist; Col. Powell Casey, Baton Rouge, National Guard headquarters detachment; A. B. Clarkson, Monroe, district civil defense director; Gen. Robert V. Mariast of New Orleans; Mayor - president Jesse Webb, Jr. of Baton Rouge, and Col. Henry Walden, civil defense director for Alexandria and Rapides parish.

Arkansas representatives include, among others, Maj. Gen. Sherman Clinger, state adjutant general; William M. Herndon, civil defense director for Little Rock; Owen Payne Jr., state civil defense director from Little Rock; Royce Thomas of Texarkana, Miller county CD director, and about 10 others.

All friends of this worthy couple will be welcome at the reception this afternoon. Mr. Stroud has expressed a wish that there be no public affair staged in their behalf, but their insistent friends felt that it would not be proper to allow such outstanding residents to leave Monroe for good without a public expression of good wishes from their numberless friends.

Ridge Avenue Baptist church today proudly celebrates its 15th anniversary. Directed by the skilled and ever consecrated efforts of the pastor, Rev. A. T. Mitchell, this church has gone places. Each year has shown it is farther on the road to progress. Starting in a tin shed it has grown into a substantial, well - appointed church plant which today in dollars and cents totals an estimated $200,000. The church membership, Sunday school and youth groups of the church have kept pace.

Rev. Mitchell has time and again demonstrated his leadership. His hobby is found in the bringing out of talents in youth and a large number of new Baptist ministers are traced directly to the leadership and encouragement that comes from the work of Reverend Mitchell.

He also organized a large group of Baptist churches west of the river here into an association which is going places rapidly. There is no more dynamic church leader to be found hereabouts than Rev. A. T. Mitchell. He has met with astonishing success.

Mrs. E. E. Lawson will present her music students in recital Monday, April 25 at 8 p.m. A program of interest has been prepared and the public will be welcomed at Neville Auditorium on that night.

Mrs. Lawson's pupils include a large number of the promising young musicians of the Twin Cities. She is president of the Twin Cities Music Teachers association.

The St. Matthew's Mothers' club will hold a chicken dinner in the school cafeteria, Sunday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Money received will be used to help defray expenses of the Junior-Senior dance to be held in the near future.

The Y. W. C. A. will have "Open House" on Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at which time all friends of the "Y" are urged to attend and also an invitation is extended to bring all the family, too.

That men know what is expected when serving guests around a coffee table will be demonstrated. Those who will show how such things should be done comprise the following: Dr. Roy Robinson, Charles Wood Jr., Dr. B. L. Anderson, Rev. Wayne Gray, A. E. Allen, E. B. Ellison, and C. E. McKenzie.

from West Berlin to West Germany.

In confiscating the trucks at the Marienborn checkpoint in the Soviet zone, the East German guards accused the drivers of making and nature of their cargoes.

During the day a West Berlin anti-Communist organization reported East German police shot and fatally wounded a West Berlin resident who fell asleep on an elevated train and rode into the Soviet zone by mistake.

The organization, the Fighting Group Against Inhumanity, said Wilhelm Schwietzer, 45, a political refugee from East Germany, was shot Wednesday night and died several hours later.

The three Western commandants of Berlin—French, British and American—fired off a note to the Soviet commandant, Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, asking him personally to put an end "to the intolerable behavior" of East German police under Soviet control. Their actions, it said, have "seriously threatened the safety of life and property in the Western sectors of Berlin."

Municipal Association Renames Top Officers

By YVONNE HERRON
(State Editor)

ALEXANDRIA, April 23 — The final session of the 18th annual municipal convention here today saw a re-election of the major officers of the organization and passage of a number of important resolutions.

One of the major highlights of Saturday's session was the disclosure that Leon Gary, mayor of Houma, was named Mayor of the Year. Mrs. Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, presented the award to Gary for outstanding improvements which have been made in the town of Houma since he was elected mayor. Gary is presently serving his third term in office.

Last year's Mayor of the Year award went to Mayor R. L. Turnage, of Farmerville.

Mayor P. Armand Viator, of New Iberia, was re-elected president and Frank Kees, mayor of Natchitoches, remained in the post of executive vice - president.

Claiming a spotlight before the convention was passage of a resolution to create a state planning commission to provide funds for the cost of public works performed under the authority of the commission from revenues derived from offshore oil or mineral leases.

Association President Viator said that he considered the resolution, which will be presented to the state legislature, the soundest and most practical the association ever adopted."

The act passed by the municipal group called for a creation of a body to be composed of seven members to be appointed by a certain pattern.

Another important resolution passed by the convention asked that federal control on producers and gatherers of natural gas be reversed.

Other important resolutions passed by the convention were: A proposed amendment to the constitution to authorize municipalities to increase the general ad valorem tax to ten mills.

An amendment to the constitution providing for the refunding of any sales taxes paid to the state of Louisiana by municipal corporations.

Constitutional amendment to provide for the refunding of any sales tax paid on gasoline, benzine, naptha or other motor fuel sold, used or consumed in the state by any municipal corporation in the furtherance of a legally authorized municipal purpose.

Heated debate took place over a resolution dealing with activities of the state highway department in the corporate limits of municipalities. Mayor Chep Morrison, of New Orleans, declared that the highway program would have to be approached on a "give and take basis." Mayors from smaller towns voiced disapproval of interference of the highway department in regulation of traffic lights and other matters. The resolution was finally passed after the strong debate.

A resolution, presented to the convention by Paul Goldman, of Monroe, asking that the entire state be placed on daylight savings time was voted down by a large majority.

Resolutions asking all cities to ban the sale of objectionable comic books and another to pass into law a uniform periodic mechanical inspection of motor vehicles throughout the state were also passed.

All of the nominations for vice-presidents of the eight congressional districts in the state were placed into office by unanimous vote of the organization. John E. Coon, mayor of Monroe, was elected vice - president of the fifth congressional district.

Cyrano Bergerac Production Billed Additional Night

"Cyrano de Bergerac" will be produced an additional night at Northeast State by adding a performance Monday at 8 p.m. to its original schedule. The extra evening of entertainment is being given as a result of continued request, George Brian, faculty director of the college production, announced last night.

The original plan called for a three-night run, Thursday through Saturday.

"Cyrano de Bergerac" is the largest and most elaborate drama which has ever been presented by Northeast. It is considerably more ambitious than "The Robe" of last year which won a wide acclaim throughout this area of the state.

A cast of thirty, a wardrobe of rich, colorful costumes, and carefully designed scenery and sound effects—all these factors have gone into the making of an ambitious performance of Edmund Rostand's play of 17th century France.

Frequent change of costumes and the five elaborate sets enhance the authenticity and attractiveness of the play which has a long history of popularity.

Last week's performances portrayed the author's skillfully blending of comedy and adventure.

Some of the major parts are carried by students who have had considerable experience. Gentry Jones, who plays the role of Cyrano, will be remembered for his portrayal of Marcellus in "The Robe." Sandra McAdams is seen in the part of Roxanne; Wayne Elliott is cast as Roxanne's lover; and Bill Salter fills the part of de Guice.

These principals and their supporting cast scored a success in the three performances given last week.

Since 1901 the expectation of life at age 10 has been increased about four years for white men and seven years for white women in the United States.

Offers To Talk

to end hostilities in the Formosa area.

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman expressed interest in the Chou statement but withheld further comment. But it was felt London would welcome the statement since it has long sought a peaceful solution of the Formosa question.

On Formosa itself the statement was described in official Chinese Nationalist eadquarters as "a peace offensive and a well-timed bit of propaganda."

Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan said he already had forwarded Chou's statement to Washington "with suggestions of my own. I think it is a great move for relaxing tension, particularly in the critical Far East."

Chou's statement was issued by his press representative following an informal luncheon attended by representatives of India, Indonesia, Burma, Pakistan, Ceylon, Thailand, the Philippines and Red China, where the subject of Formosa was discussed. The first five nations named are the Colombo powers who sponsored the 29-nation Asian-African conference.

Premier U Nu of Burma, who has assumed the role of an East-West negotiator, was among those who received Chou's statement favorably.

Asked whether he thought the United States would accept Chou's offer of negotiations, U Nu replied:

"Yes, I think so. That is also the opinion of all five Colombo states. I feel very strongly that direct talks between the two states will be helpful."

Indonesian Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo expressed hope also the United States would accept.

There was no immediate comment from India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines likewise reserved comment on the Chou statement, which was not read before a formal conference session.

A spokesman for the Peiping delegation, asked if Chou would have anything to add to the statement, replied "we will now await a response." A reporter asked if the statement meant Red China wished a 10-power conference such as Russia had once proposed. The spokesman answered sharply:

"We want direct negotiations."

Earlier in the day Chou had appeared before a closed session of the Conference's No. 1 Political Committee. He did not mention Formosa specifically, but was quoted by delegates as saying:

"We want to settle all our disputes with peaceful means. If there are any here who can facilitate settlement of disputes between China and the United States, they will be most welcome.

"I respect the political and economic systems of the United States, they will be most welcome.

"I respect the political and economic systems of the United States, and China has no intention of going to war with the United States."

Premier Bulganin

corps, including representatives of the United States, Britain and France, attended the reception.

It was given by Molotov at his Spiridonovka palace residence for the Polish premier and his government delegation here to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the Polish-Soviet pact.

Cyrankiewicz also answered questions fron. western correspondents.

He repeated his call, made in a speech two nights ago, for an eight-nation East European collective security pact including a rearmed East Germany to counterbalance NATO and West German rearmament.

WARY OF SPEAKERS

PERKINSTON, Miss., April 23—UP— Mississippi's state college board plans to look into the background of all speakers invited to address the state's institutions of higher learning.

Dr. E. R. Jobe, executive secretary of the board, says, "nobody's freedom is going to be suppressed but the people of Mississippi have the right to expect college presidents to be careful of the type of speakers they permit to appear at their institutions."

2 Students From Northeast Named To Demeter Posts

Two Northeast State students have been elected to national office of Demeter Fraternity, agricultural honor society. Their selection was made at the annual convention held this year at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette.

Bennie Robinson was chosen president of Demeter and Thad Busbice was selected secretary. Both students are from Rayville and are juniors at Northeast.

Delta Chapter of the college here will be host to next year's concention, Robinson announced.

Representing the local college chapter at the Lafayette meeting were Robinson, Busbice, Hazzie Schonfarber, Harry McKay, and the faculty sponsor, Foster Holdeman, assistant professor of agricultural engineering.

Delegates were entertained at luncheon following the business session, then they toured Southwestern's Agriculture Department.

But U. S. Says

an invitation to another "Munich" while other leaders took a cautious attitude.

Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said: "I think we should accept the statement of Chou and examine it on its merits."

Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee: "We should be willing to talk with Chou En-lai, or the head of any state if what appears to be bona fide proposals for the talks are presented. But in this case we don't know what the conditions will be.

"If Chou's proposals appear to be an effort to get us to violate our treaty with Formosa (pledging to defend the island), they should be rejected at the start. If they appear to be primarily propaganda they should be exposed as such.

"But if Chou intends to seek negotiations with an open and fair mind then it signifies a great change in the policy of Red China which has always insisted that the Formosa question is an internal matter."

Large Turnout Expected At Year Book Conference

Yearbook staffs and sponsors from 20 schools in Northeast Louisiana are planning to attend the yearboik clinic sponsored by Northeast State scheduled Wednesday in Brown Auditorium.

The number of staffs was reported Saturday noon, along with other representatives indicating the probable increase in attendance at the first project of its kind to be held in this area of the state.

Fair Park High School in Shreveport will have the largest delegation among schools out of the Twin Cities, according to responses received. Thirty students and their sponsors will be at the one-day conference.

It is still not too late for schools to make plans for the clinic, announced Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, director of Northeast publications. There also is no limit as to number of representatives taking advantage of the yearbook conference, she said.

Prior to the day's program, President and Mrs. Lewis C. Slater will be hosts at an informal social period at 9 a. m. in the president's campus home.

The group will then go to Brown Auditorium for the opening of the clinic at 9:30 by Dr. Otto W. Quale, a director of the National Scholastic Press Association and former member of the journalism faculty of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Quale, a representative from Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, and a representative from the Shreveport Engraving Company, Shreveport, will be in charge of discussions pertaining to various phases of yearbook work.

Displays and exhibits prepared by publishers in this area also will be included on the program. Students are asked to bring yearbooks from their own schools to add to the displays.

Dr. Quale will give emphasis to yearbook planning and content, including the all - school history, themes and plans, assignment calendar and ladder diagram.

Yearbook layout will be discussed by a member of the Taylor Publishing House personnel, who will consider combining the four page elements and blank space versus white space.

Photography and art work and its purposes for school annuals are to be emphasized by a Shreveport Engraving Company representative.

Also scheduled on the agenda will be copywriting and fitting, staff organization, advertising and financing. A period for questions and review of pertinent points brought out in the discussions will round out the program which will close at 3:30 p. m.

Responses which have been received from invitations to the clinic have been received from the following schools: A. L. Smith, Bastrop, Bernice, Crosley, Crowville, Delhi, Fair Park, Farmerville, Haynesville, Lake Providence, LaSalle, Mangham, Minden, Ouachita Parish High, Oak Grove, Rayville, Summerfield, Swartz, West Monroe High, and Weston.

Mayor Chep Morrison, of New Orleans, declared that the highway program would have to be approached on a "give and take basis.'" Mayors from smaller towns voiced disapproval of interference of the highway department in regulation of traffic lights and other matters. The resolution was finally passed after the strong debate.

A resolution, presented to the convention by Paul Goldman, of Monroe, asking that the entire state be placed on daylight savings time was voted down by a large majority.

Resolutions asking all cities to ban the sale of objectionable comic books and another to pass into law a uniform periodic mechanical inspection of motor vehicles throughout the state were also passed.

All of the nominations for vice-presidents of the eight congressional districts in the state were placed into office by unanimous vote of the organization. John E. Coon, mayor of Monroe, was elected vice - president of the fifth congressional district.

Cyrano Bergerac Production Billed Additional Night

"Cyrano de Bergerac" will be produced an additional night at Northeast State by adding a performance Monday at 8 p.m. to its original schedule. The extra evening of entertainment is being given as a result of continued request, George Brian, faculty director of the college production, announced last night.

The original plan called for a three-night run, Thursday through Saturday.

"Cyrano de Bergerac" is the largest and most elaborate drama which has ever been presented by Northeast. It is considerably more ambitious than "The Robe" of last year which won a wide acclaim throughout this area of the state.

A cast of thirty, a wardrobe of rich, colorful costumes, and carefully designed scenery and sound effects—all these factors have gone into the making of an ambitious performance of Edmund Rostand's play of 17th century France.

Frequent change of costumes and the five elaborate sets enhance the authenticity and attractiveness of the play which has a long history of popularity.

Last week's performances portrayed the author's skillfully blending of comedy and adventure.

Some of the major parts are carried by students who have had considerable experience. Gentry Jones, who plays the role of Cyrano, will be remembered for his portrayal of Marcellus in "The Robe." Sandra McAdams is seen in the part of Roxanne; Wayne Elliott is cast as Roxanne's lover; and Bill Salter fills the part of de Guice.

These principals and their supporting cast scored a success in the three performances given last week.

Since 1901 the expectation of life at age 10 has been increased about four years for white men and seven years for white women in the United States.

Offers To Talk

to end hostilities in the Formosa area.

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman expressed interest in the Chou statement but withheld further comment. But it was felt London would welcome the statement since it has long sought a peaceful solution of the Formosa question.

On Formosa itself the statement was described in official Chinese Nationalist eadquarters as "a peace offensive and a well-timed bit of propaganda."

Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan said he already had forwarded Chou's statement to Washington "with suggestions of my own. I think it is a great move for relaxing tension, particularly in the critical Far East."

Chou's statement was issued by his press representative following an informal luncheon attended by representatives of India, Indonesia, Burma, Pakistan, Ceylon, Thailand, the Philippines and Red China, where the subject of Formosa was discussed. The first five nations named are the Colombo powers who sponsored the 29-nation Asian-African conference.

Premier U Nu of Burma, who has assumed the role of an East-West negotiator, was among those who received Chou's statement favorably.

Asked whether he thought the United States would accept Chou's offer of negotiations, U Nu replied:

"Yes, I think so. That is also the opinion of all five Colombo states. I feel very strongly that direct talks between the two states will be helpful."

Indonesian Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo expressed hope also the United States would accept.

There was no immediate comment from India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines likewise reserved comment on the Chou statement, which was not read before a formal conference session.

A spokesman for the Peiping delegation, asked if Chou would have anything to add to the statement, replied "we will now await a response." A reporter asked if the statement meant Red China wished a 10-power conference such as Russia had once proposed. The spokesman answered sharply:

"We want direct negotiations."

Earlier in the day Chou had appeared before a closed session of the Conference's No. 1 Political Committee. He did not mention Formosa specifically, but was quoted by delegates as saying:

"We want to settle all our disputes with peaceful means. If there are any here who can facilitate settlement of disputes between China and the United States, they will be most welcome.

"I respect the political and economic systems of the United States, they will be most welcome.

"I respect the political and economic systems of the United States, and China has no intention of going to war with the United States."

Premier Bulganin

corps, including representatives of the United States, Britain and France, attended the reception.

It was given by Molotov at his Spiridonovka palace residence for the Polish premier and his government delegation here to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the Polish-Soviet pact.

Cyrankiewicz also answered questions fron. western correspondents.

He repeated his call, made in a speech two nights ago, for an eight-nation East European collective security pact including a rearmed East Germany to counterbalance NATO and West German rearmament.

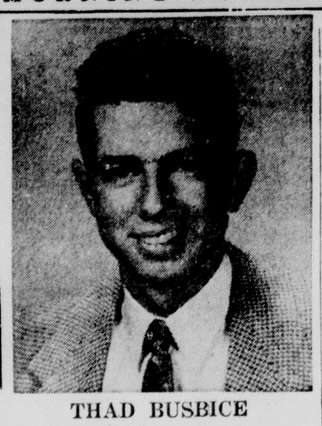

WARY OF SPEAKERS

PERKINSTON, Miss., April 23—UP— Mississippi's state college board plans to look into the background of all speakers invited to address the state's institutions of higher learning.

Dr. E. R. Jobe, executive secretary of the board, says, "nobody's freedom is going to be suppressed but the people of Mississippi have the right to expect college presidents to be careful of the type of speakers they permit to appear at their institutions."

2 Students From Northeast Named To Demeter Posts

Two Northeast State students have been elected to national office of Demeter Fraternity, agricultural honor society. Their selection was made at the annual convention held this year at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette.

Bennie Robinson was chosen president of Demeter and Thad Busbice was selected secretary. Both students are from Rayville and are juniors at Northeast.

Delta Chapter of the college here will be host to next year's concention, Robinson announced.

Representing the local college chapter at the Lafayette meeting were Robinson, Busbice, Hazzie Schonfarber, Harry McKay, and the faculty sponsor, Foster Holdeman, assistant professor of agricultural engineering.

an invitation to another "Munich" while other leaders took a cautious attitude.

Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said: "I think we should accept the statement of Chou and examine it on its merits."

Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee:

"We should be willing to talk with Chou En-lai, or the head of any state if what appears to be bona fide proposals for the talks are presented. But in this case we don't know what the conditions will be.

"If Chou's proposals appear to be an effort to get us to violate our treaty with Formosa (pledging to defend the island), they should be rejected at the start. If they appear to be primarily propaganda they should be exposed as such.

"But if Chou intends to seek negotiations with an open and fair mind then it signifies a great change in the policy of Red China which has always insisted that the Formosa question is an internal matter."

Large Turnout Expected At Year Book Conference

Yearbook staffs and sponsors from 20 schools in Northeast Louisiana are planning to attend the yearbook clinic sponsored by Northeast State scheduled Wednesday in Brown Auditorium.

The number of staffs was reported Saturday noon, along with other representatives indicating the probable increase in attendance at the first project of its kind to be held in this area of the state.

Fair Park High School in Shreveport will have the largest delegation among schools out of the Twin Cities, according to responses received. Thirty students and their sponsors will be at the one-day conference.

It is still not too late for schools to make plans for the clinic, announced Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, director of Northeast publications. There also is no limit as to number of representatives taking advantage of the yearbook conference, she said.

Prior to the day's program, President and Mrs. Lewis C. Slater will be hosts at an informal social period at 9 a. m. in the president's campus home.

The group will then go to Brown Auditorium for the opening of the clinic at 9:30 by Dr. Otto W. Quale, a director of the National Scholastic Press Association and former member of the journalism faculty of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Quale, a representative from Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, and a representative from the Shreveport Engraving Company, Shreveport, will be in charge of discussions pertaining to various phases of yearbook work.

Displays and exhibits prepared by publishers in this area also will be included on the program. Students are asked to bring yearbooks from their own schools to add to the displays.

Dr. Quale will give emphasis to yearbook planning and content, including the all - school history, themes and plans, assignment calendar and ladder diagram.

Yearbook layout will be discussed by a member of the Taylor Publishing House personnel, who will consider combining the four page elements and blank space versus white space.

Photography and art work and its purposes for school annuals are to be emphasized by a Shreveport Engraving Company representative.

Also scheduled on the agenda will be copywriting and fitting, staff organization, advertising and financing. A period for questions and review of pertinent points brought out in the discussions will round out the program which will close at 3:30 p. m.

Responses which have been received from invitations to the clinic have been received from the following schools: A. L. Smith, Bastrop, Bernice, Crosley, Crowville, Delhi, Fair Park, Farmerville, Haynesville, Lake Providence, LaSalle, Mangham, Minden, Ouachita Parish High, Oak Grove, Rayville, Summerfield, Swartz, West Monroe High, and Weston.

Soviet Officers Decide Not To Go To Elbe Reunion

WASHINGTON, April 23 —UP— Russian Army officers who had tentatively accepted an invitation to attend an "Elbe River reunion" here suddenly changed their minds Saturday and invited their American hosts to Moscow instead.

An organization called "The American Veterans of the Elbe River Link-up" is holding a reunion here this weekend to mark the 10th anniversary of the meeting of advance U. S. and Soviet Army patrols in Germany in 1945. Some two dozen American veterans are on hand for the occasion.

The organization sent an invitation through the Soviet embassy here for Russian veterans of the Elbe River meeting to attend the reunion. Earlier this week, the Soviet embassy delivered a reply signed by nine Russian army officers, including two lieutenant generals, who said "we accept your invitation . . . We are ready to leave for the United States as soon as the United States government grants us an entry permit."

Saturday, however, the organization's secretary, Joseph Polowsky, received a new note saying the Russians had "decided to celebrate in Moscow. . . and invite the American veterans to send their representatives to this meeting."

Polowsky said he doubted he would be able to go to Moscow.

The Twin Cities YMCA board of directors will meet Monday evening at 6:00 p. m. in the YMCA, 217 Breard street.

Although Occidentals often think of the Chinese as a rice-eating people, rice is not grown in the northern part of the country and many Chinese seldom eat rice.

Henry Busse

Trumpet Soloist Who Ushered In Sweet Jazz Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 23 —UP— Henry Busse, whose haunting trumpet solo in Paul Whiteman's arrangement of "When Day is Done" ushered in the era of sweet jazz, died Saturday at a hotel where he was still on tour at the age of 61.

The jolly, rotund little "Dutchman" with the exaggerated wax mustache had refused to go to a hospital when he suffered a preliminary heart seizure. A nurse sent to his room at 7 a. m. found him dead in the bathroom. Death was ascribed to heart failure.

Busse was a contemporary of the great pioneers of jazz — Bix Beiderbecke, Jack Teagarden, Frankie Trumbauer, the Dorsey brothers, Ferdie Grofe, Roy Bargy and a young crooner with a frog in his throat named Bing Crosby.

They all grew to prominence under "Pops" Whiteman and later made new fame with their own bands or song and instrumental groups. Busse was one of the brightest of all. He was the first trumpeter to use the mute and he developed a so-called shuffle rhythm in his background section not unlike the more modern boogey-woogey.

He composed two trumpet instrumental hits "Hot Lips" and "Wang Wang Blues" which, recorded back to back, were for many years a top seller.

Whiteman, who heard the news of his old trumpet player's death at Rosemont, N. J., said he was shocked.

"He was a wonderful character who made millions of friends," Whiteman said at his farm. "In addition to his innovations, he was a very fine legitimate musician. He was educated in the good old German school of music."

Busse was still puffing hard, his moon face distended to produce the sweet tones from his tightly muted horn, only an hour before he was stricken with the fatal attack. He played for a funeral directors convention dance Friday night and was to have appeared at the famed Peabody roof here Saturday night.

Busse called the desk of the Hotel Peabody at 4:45 a. m. Saturday, saying he had suffered an attack. A doctor came and worked over him for an hour, then advised him to go to a hospital. But Busse refused, saying he felt better. Less than three hours later he was found dead.

Mrs. Busse was reported flying here from her Brentwood, Calif., home to take her husband's body back to California. The leader's death left the band stunned and undecided.

Daring Offer To Introduce New Customers To The One Combination of Premium Gasoline and Motor Oil That Can Give You The Most Miles Per Gallon:

Skelly Guarantees You Either 10% More Miles Per Gallon

Or 10 Gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline FREE!

Switch to the Skelly Supreme "Power Pair" from any other brand of gasoline and motor oil. Then . . . if you don't get at least 10% more miles per gallon in the next 30 days than you got in the last 30 days, Skelly will give you 10 gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline absolutely FREE!

"What's the catch in this offer?" you may ask. "How can Skelly dare to guarantee more mileage when others merely claim it?"

There is no "catch." The octane rating of Skelly Supreme Gasoline has just been boosted to the highest level in Skelly history. And when you team up Skelly Supreme Gasoline and Skelly Supreme Motor Oil in your engine, you get power (and mileage) per dollar that no other combination of premium gasoline and motor oil can match. The industry's own tests prove it.

"But," you may say, "how can switching to Skelly Supreme Motor Oil increase my gasoline mileage?"

It can help these 3 ways:

1. Because Skelly Supreme Motor Oil has the world's highest tested viscosity index, it flows more freely during starting and warm-up—yet maintains a tougher protective film at high engine heats — giving you better lubrication, less mileage-stealing "friction-drag."

2. Minimizes combustion deposits, the main cause of mileage-wasting "pre-ignition."

3. Keeps hydraulic valve lifters, piston rings and cylinder walls free of sticky lacquer and gum, so these parts can function properly at all speeds and temperatures.

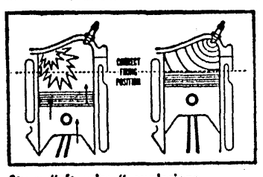

Result: a cleaner, properly lubricated engine that squeezes the most miles per gallon from every drop of gasoline.

Look at it this way. You buy gasoline and motor oil anyway. By switching to the Skelly Supreme Power Pair, and giving it a fair test for at least 30 days, you're bound to win—one way or the other.

You'll get 10% more mileage by switching to the Skelly Supreme Power Pair—or you get 10 gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline FREE!

New Higher Octane in Gasoline; Highest Tested V. I. in Motor Oil:

Stops "afterglow" explosions that rob you of mileage:
Ordinary premium gasolines (left) often allow hot, glowing engine deposits to ignite the fuel before piston reaches correct firing position. SK-100 concentrate in Skelly Supreme Gasoline prevents this power-wasting "pre-ignition" by eliminating trouble-causing "after-glow." Result: quiet, controlled combustion . . . more power . . . more miles from every gallon!

Premium Brands	Viscosity Index	Flash	Fire	Cold Test	Carbon Residue
Skelly Supreme Grade O	159.1	410°	445°	—45°	.06%
Competitive Brand A	155.7	370°	410°	—40°	.07%
Competitive Brand B	153.7	355°	390°	—35°	.18%
Competitive Brand C	144.3	385°	420°	—40°	.45%

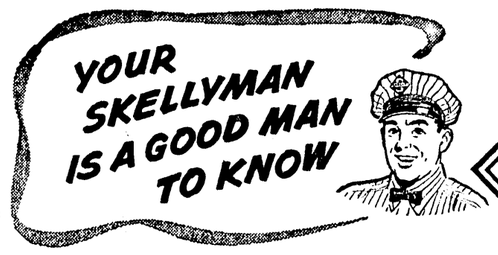

World's highest tested viscosity index . . . and lowest consumption!
By the oil industry's own rating system, Skelly Supreme Motor Oil beats all others tested—holds first place in all five of these important characteristics of any motor oil . . . gives better lubrication, less "friction-drag," more miles per gallon. And because it's the world's lowest consumption motor oil, you'll add less oil, if any, between changes.

So what can you lose? Drive into a Skelly station today and start your 30-day test of the Skelly Supreme Power Pair!

The famous Skelly Supreme "Power Pair": Skelly Supreme Gasoline, just stepped-up to the highest octane rating in Skelly history, and Skelly Supreme Motor Oil, with the world's highest tested viscosity index. These two superior products, each tops in its own field, are the result of years of Skelly research and development. Made of the finest components, and proved by the most stringent road tests, they have been specifically engineered to work together with the utmost compatibility to give you a cleaner, better lubricated, more efficient engine capable of delivering the most possible power—and miles—per dollar.

1. Drive into any Skelly station, have your crankcase drained and refilled with Skelly Supreme Motor Oil.
2. Fill up with Skelly Supreme Gasoline.
3. Register for the "10% More Miles" Test.
4. Use only the Skelly Supreme Power Pair for at least 30 days. Record each purchase and the mileage on the form provided.
5. After 30 days, if you have not averaged at least 10% more mileage, Skelly will give you a check for 10 gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline absolutely FREE!

Saturday, however, the organization's secretary, Joseph Polowsky, received a new note saying the Russians had "decided to celebrate in Moscow. . . and invite the American veterans to send their representatives to this meeting."

Polowsky said he doubted he would be able to go to Moscow.

Trumpet Soloist Who Ushered In Sweet Jazz Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 23 —UP— Henry Busse, whose haunting trumpet solo in Paul Whiteman's arrangement of "When Day is Done" ushered in the era of sweet jazz, died Saturday at a hotel where he was still on tour at the age of 61.

The jolly, rotund little "Dutchman" with the exaggerated wax mustache had refused to go to a hospital when he suffered a preliminary heart seizure. A nurse sent to his room at 7 a. m. found him dead in the bathroom. Death was ascribed to heart failure.

Busse was a contemporary of the great pioneers of jazz — Bix Beiderbecke, Jack Teagarden, Frankie Trumbauer, the Dorsey brothers, Ferdie Grofe, Roy Bargy and a young crooner with a frog in his throat named Bing Crosby.

They all grew to prominence under "Pops" Whiteman and later made new fame with their own bands or song and instrumental groups. Busse was one of the brightest of all. He was the first trumpeter to use the mute and he developed a so-called shuffle rhythm in his background section not unlike the more modern boogey-woogey.

He composed two trumpet instrumental hits "Hot Lips" and "Wang Wang Blues" which, recorded back to back, were for many years a top seller.

Whiteman, who heard the news of his old trumpet player's death at Rosemont, N. J., said he was shocked.

"He was a wonderful character who made millions of friends," Whiteman said at his farm. "In addition to his innovations, he was a very fine legitimate musician. He was educated in the good old German school of music."

Busse was still puffing hard, his moon face distended to produce the sweet tones from his tightly muted horn, only an hour before he was stricken with the fatal attack. He played for a funeral directors convention dance Friday night and was to have appeared at the famed Peabody roof here Saturday night.

Busse called the desk of the Hotel Peabody at 4:45 a. m. Saturday, saying he had suffered an attack. A doctor came and worked over him for an hour, then advised him to go to a hospital. But Busse refused, saying he felt better. Less than three hours later he was found dead.

Mrs. Busse was reported flying here from her Brentwood, Calif., home to take her husband's body back to California. The leader's death left the band stunned and undecided.

Daring Offer To Introduce New Customers To The One Combination of Premium Gasoline and Motor Oil That Can Give You The Most Miles Per Gallon:

Skelly Guarantees You Either 10% More Miles Per Gallon

Or 10 Gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline FREE!

Switch to the Skelly Supreme "Power Pair" from any other brand of gasoline and motor oil. Then . . . if you don't get at least 10% more miles per gallon in the next 30 days than you got in the last 30 days, Skelly will give you 10 gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline absolutely FREE!

"What's the catch in this offer?" you may ask. "How can Skelly dare to guarantee more mileage when others merely claim it?"

There is no "catch." The octane rating of Skelly Supreme Gasoline has just been boosted to the highest level in Skelly history. And when you team up Skelly Supreme Gasoline and Skelly Supreme Motor Oil in your engine, you get power (and mileage) per dollar that no other combination of premium gasoline and motor oil can match. The industry's own tests prove it.

"But," you may say, "how can switching to Skelly Supreme Motor Oil increase my gasoline mileage?"

It can help these 3 ways:

1. Because Skelly Supreme Motor Oil has the world's highest tested viscosity index, it flows more freely during starting and warm-up—yet maintains a tougher protective film at high engine heats — giving you better lubrication, less mileage-stealing "friction-drag."

2. Minimizes combustion deposits, the main cause of mileage-wasting "pre-ignition."

3. Keeps hydraulic valve lifters, piston rings and cylinder walls free of sticky lacquer and gum, so these parts can function properly at all speeds and temperatures.

Result: a cleaner, properly lubricated engine that squeezes the most miles per gallon from every drop of gasoline.

Look at it this way. You buy gasoline and motor oil anyway. By switching to the Skelly Supreme Power Pair, and giving it a fair test for at least 30 days, you're bound to win—one way or the other.

You'll get 10% more mileage by switching to the Skelly Supreme Power Pair—or you get 10 gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline FREE!

New Higher Octane in Gasoline; Highest Tested V. I. in Motor Oil:

Stops "afterglow" explosions that rob you of mileage: Ordinary premium gasolines (left) often allow hot, glowing engine deposits to ignite the fuel before piston reaches correct firing position. SK-100 concentrate in Skelly Supreme Gasoline prevents this power-wasting "pre-ignition" by eliminating trouble-causing "after-glow." Result: quiet, controlled combustion . . . more power . . . more miles from every gallon!

Premium Brands	Viscosity Index	Flash	Fire	Cold Test	Carbon Residue
Skelly Supreme Grade O	159.1	410°	445°	—45°	.06%
Competitive Brand A	155.7	370°	410°	—40°	.07%
Competitive Brand B	153.7	355°	390°	—35°	.18%
Competitive Brand C	144.3	385°	420°	—40°	.45%

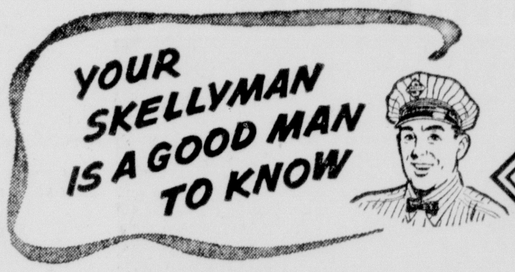

World's highest tested viscosity index . . . and lowest consumption! By the oil industry's own rating system, Skelly Supreme Motor Oil beats all others tested—holds first place in all five of these important characteristics of any motor oil . . . gives better lubrication, less "friction-drag," more miles per gallon. And because it's the world's lowest consumption motor oil, you'll add less oil, if any, between changes.

The famous Skelly Supreme "Power Pair": Skelly Supreme Gasoline, just stepped-up to the highest octane rating in Skelly history, and Skelly Supreme Motor Oil, with the world's highest tested viscosity index. These two superior products, each tops in its own field, are the result of years of Skelly research and development. Made of the finest components, and proved by the most stringent road tests, they have been specifically engineered to work together with the utmost compatibility to give you a cleaner, better lubricated, more efficient engine capable of delivering the most possible power—and miles—per dollar.

So what can you lose? Drive into a Skelly station today and start your 30-day test of the Skelly Supreme Power Pair!

1. Drive into any Skelly station, have your crankcase drained and refilled with Skelly Supreme Motor Oil.
2. Fill up with Skelly Supreme Gasoline.
3. Register for the "10% More Miles" Test.
4. Use only the Skelly Supreme Power Pair for at least 30 days. Record each purchase and the mileage on the form provided.
5. After 30 days, if you have not averaged at least 10% more mileage, Skelly will give you a check for 10 gallons of Skelly Supreme Gasoline absolutely FREE!

Tulsa Companies Stockholders To Vote On Merger

TULSA, Okla., April 23 (AP) — Stockholders of two Tulsa oil companies will vote on a proposal to merge their firms into a new petroleum giant in meetings here and at Wilmington, Del., May 10.

Their expected approval will create the Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co., the nation's 13th largest oil firm.

The company's birth will mark a high point in the ever successful business career of Clarence H. Wright, who has acquired an industry reputation as "the merging oil executive."

Wright will be chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the new 486 million dollar combine, the same job he holds now with Sunray.

The union of Sunray with Mid-Continent, by which the former will be the surviving corporation, is generally regarded as a "natural." Mid-Continent has had crude production inadequate to meet its requirements and has had to buy much of that processed at its 70,000 barrels-per-day refinery here.

Sunray has extensive crude production but has lacked sufficient refining and marketing facilities.

The merged companies will have crude oil production of some 90,000 barrels a day, refining capacity of 100,000 barrels daily and 5,500 employes.

There will be more than 2,700 bulk and service stations and more than 6,000 independent dealers and jobbers for marketing products by a wholly-owned subsidiary, D-X Sunray Oil Co., which will also handle the refining and crude pipe line activities.

The oil industry's largest in 23 years, the merger is one in a long series engineered by the 63-year-old Wright, one-time farm boy who began his career selling pop corn at the age of 10.

A trader by instinct and ability even then, he learned early how others' money could be matched with energy to build a business. He has been building ever since.

Business Briefs

G. F. Becker, president of United Electric Service, Inc. was host this week to 75 appliance dealers of Northeast Louisiana, East Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi at an appliance convention held at the firm's showrooms on Louisville Ave.

The meeting which featured 1955 models of the appliances distributed by the company was conducted by Garrett Stewart, the firm's sales manager. He was assisted by John Tannelhill, district sales manager for Servel, Inc. Evansville, Ind. who introduced the new 1955 Servel gas and electric refrigerators and freezers; Les Hopkins, district sales manager for Sylvania TV of St. Louis and Norman Peterson, representing the Apex Corporation of Cleveland, Ohio who demonstrated the 1955 Apex automatic Laundry equipment.

The Miracle of Food, a new merchandising program presented by Swift & Company as part of its 100th anniversary celebration will be presented to 125 retail food dealers in Monroe on April 29.

Using a traveling caravan of two huge trailer trucks, the local program will be hosted by D. M. Smith, Manager, for Swift nd Company. The trailers, of telescopic construction, unfold, forming a modern auditorium seating 125 persons. Within this ultra-modern structure, a program consisting of motion pictures, displays, and talks on the latest techniques of food processing and merchandising is being presented to retailers throughout 1955.

The program will be highlighted by a dinner sponsored by the local Swift unit.

Trucks take 89 per cent of U. S. food to its first market.

WANTS TRUSTEESHIP—Premier Sir John Kotelawala of Ceylon proposed Thursday that Formosa be placed under a trusteeship and that the United States withdraw the 7th Fleet from Formosan waters. Proposal, made in a press conference at the Afro-Asian meeting in Bandung, Indonesia, would write an end to Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek and leave Chinese Communists supreme. Matsu and Quemoy would be given to Peiping.

Cotton Futures Prices Follow Downward Path

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Cotton futures prices followed a downward course this week. Contracts for nearby delivery were the target of concentrated selling.

Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange took net losses which ranged from 15 cents to $1.30 a bale.

Prices were consistently on the downside except for a short-lived rally on Thursday which carried the list higher for that day. The upturn was credited to technical factors for the most part, although some bullish sentiment was generated by announcement of new U.S. government cotton loans to Yugoslavia and Spain.

For the week as a whole, probably the dominant influence on the market was consistent liquidation in the May contract which epressed the entire list. Other discouraging factors included the New England cotton textile workers' strike and announcement of a new government plan to dispose of surplus cotton in domestic and export markets.

Effects of the government disposal program was lightened, however, by indications that the government's price to the trade would be well above present market levels. The New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau pointed out in its weekly trade review that the Commodity Credit Corporation would have to set a price of 38.40 cents a pound on its middling one and one-sixteenth inch cotton, while the current market quotation is 36.17 cents a pound.

The bureau stressed that cotton to be offered for sale by the CCC will be largely confined to types and qualities in short supply in regular marketing channels. All told, 750,000 bales will be offered.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the Exchange at 58,000.

One Man Missing After Freighter Hits Fishing Boat

BELMAR, N. J., April 23—UP—The Bobby II, a party fishing boat carrying 60 persons, collided with the freighter SS Presient Buchanan, off Ambrose Light Saturday. One person was reported missing.

The U. S. Coast Guard station at Shark River was reported accompanying the stricken vessel into port.

Coast Guard officials in New York said the Bobby II was in danger of sinking and that one of the persons aboard was missing. The others aboard the fishing boat were transferred to the President Buchanan, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard station at Shark River said the Bobby II was scheduled to arrive here about 6 p. m. Coast guardsmen said the fishing boat's bow was crushed.

Shark river guardsmen also said there were reports that several of the Bobby II fishing party were thrown overboard by the collision and that all but one were picked up out of the water and taken aboard the 7,000-ton freighter.

The Coast Guard station at Sandy Hook reported three Coast Guard boats and a helicopter were at the scene, and that a search was underway for the missing passenger.

Good Business To End Of 1955 Is Predicted By Industrial Leaders

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Good business right through to the end of 1955.

That's how key industrial leaders sized up the nation's economy this week. Talk usually heard at this time about a "summer slump" was conspicuously absent.

The rosy forecasts were not unanimous. There were occasional warnings about falling farm prices, overextended credit on automobiles and homes, and "speculative fever" in Wall Street. At week's end the Federal Reserve Board hiked stock margins from 60 to 70 per cent. That means you have to put down 70 per cent of the price in cash when you buy a share of stock instead of 60 per cent as heretofore. The aim is to curb speculation.

The optimists—and they included men of such stature as General Motors' Harlow H. Curtice and American Telephone's Cleo F. Craig—could marshall plenty of solid facts and figures.

Curtice said GM smashed all records in the first three months this year in net sales, net income, unit sales, total employment and average weekly worker earnings—an accomplishment reflecting "the accelerating strength in the entire national economy." The nation's business he declared "will reach a new peak in 1955."

Craig announced that with the telephone business booming as never before, the Bell system earmarked about 1½ billion dollars this year for expanding its service. A new high in sales volume in 1955 was forecast by president Ralph Cordiner of General Electric Co. Morse G. Dial, president of Union Carbide & Carbon Corp., said he's looking for record sales this year; chairman H. E. Humphreys Jr. told stockholders of U.S. Rubber Co.: "Barring any unexpected decline in the rubber industry, our sales and profits for the year could come up to the best we've ever had."

You could see signs of optimism, too, in the changed attitude of many businessmen toward capital spending. Last year they spent less on new plant and equipment than the year before; now the trend is up again. According to a private survey—by McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.—business spending on capital improvements in 1955 will climb to nearly 29½ billion dollars. That would be a gain of 5 per cent over last year, and an all-time high.

Hopes for continuation of the boom into the usually slack summer months were geared this week to the apparently insatiable public appetite for the auto industry's 1955 models.

U.S. factories poured out 185,000 cars and 31,000 trucks—the highest weekly production ever recorded.

Despite record new car inventories there were no dealer complaints. General Motors said demand for its cars is outrunning the company's capacity to produce; president L. L. Colbert said Chrysler Corp. has "260,000 unfilled orders on the books and these are being added to steadily each week."

Signs continued to multiply that auto makers were using up steel faster than they could buy it.

Esso Employe Hurt

BATON ROUGE —UP— An Esso Standard Oil Co. employe was hospitalized today with painful burns suffered in what officials described as a "flash explosion" at an electric substation.

The man, Otis H. Bankston, Jr., 36, was burned over most of his body and was reported in critical condition. Esso said he worked as an electric lineman in a substation operating on about 18,000 volts.

Another member of Bankston's crew was slightly burned, officials said.

Tulsa Companies Stockholders To Vote On Merger

TULSA, Okla., April 23 (AP) — Stockholders of two Tulsa oil companies will vote on a proposal to merge their firms into a new petroleum giant in meetings here and at Wilmington, Del., May 10.

Their expected approval will create the Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co., the nation's 13th largest oil firm.

The company's birth will mark a high point in the ever successful business career of Clarence H. Wright, who has acquired an industry reputation as "the merging oil executive."

Wright will be chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the new 486 million dollar combine, the same job he holds now with Sunray.

The union of Sunray with Mid-Continent, by which the former will be the surviving corporation, is generally regarded as a "natural." Mid-Continent has had crude production inadequate to meet its requirements and has had to buy much of that processed at its 70,000 barrels-per-day refinery here.

Sunray has extensive crude production but has lacked sufficient refining and marketing facilities.

The merged companies will have crude oil production of some 90,000 barrels a day, refining capacity of 100,000 barrels daily and 5,500 employes.

There will be more than 2,700 bulk and service stations and more than 6,000 independent dealers and jobbers for marketing products by a wholly-owned subsidiary, D-X Sunray Oil Co., which will also handle the refining and crude pipe line activities.

The oil industry's largest in 23 years, the merger is one in a long series engineered by the 63-year-old Wright, one-time farm boy who began his career selling pop corn at the age of 10.

A trader by instinct and ability even then, he learned early how others' money could be matched with energy to build a business. He has been building ever since.

G. F. Becker, president of United Electric Service, Inc. was host this week to 75 appliance dealers of Northeast Louisiana, East Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi at an appliance convention held at the firm's showrooms on Louisville Ave.

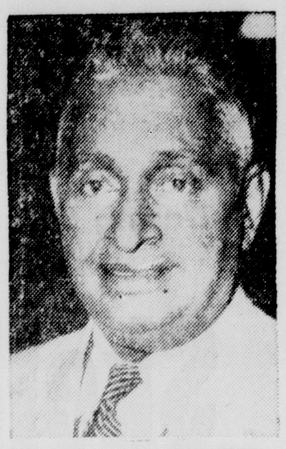

The meeting which featured 1955 models of the appliances distributed by the company was conducted by Garrett Stewart, the firm's sales manager. He was assisted by John Tannelhill, district sales manager for Servel, Inc. Evansville, Ind. who introduced the new 1955 Servel gas and electric refrigerators and freezers; Les Hopkins, district sales manager for Sylvania TV of St. Louis and Norman Peterson, representing the Apex Corporation of Cleveland, Ohio who demonstrated the 1955 Apex automatic Laundry equipment.

The Miracle of Food, a new merchandising program presented by Swift & Company as part of its 100th anniversary celebration will be presented to 125 retail food dealers in Monroe on April 29.

Using a traveling caravan of two huge trailer trucks, the local program will be hosted by D. M. Smith, Manager, for Swift nd Company. The trailers, of telescopic construction, unfold, forming a modern auditorium seating 125 persons. Within this ultra-modern structure, a program consisting of motion pictures, displays, and talks on the latest techniques of food processing and merchandising is being presented to retailers throughout 1955.

The program will be highlighted by a dinner sponsored by the local Swift unit.

Trucks take 89 per cent of U. S. food to its first market.

WANTS TRUSTEESHIP—Premier Sir John Kotelawala of Ceylon proposed Thursday that Formosa be placed under a trusteeship and that the United States withdraw the 7th Fleet from Formosan waters. Proposal, made in a press conference at the Afro-Asian meeting in Bandung, Indonesia, would write an end to Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek and leave Chinese Communists supreme. Matsu and Quemoy would be given to Peiping.

Cotton Futures Prices Follow Downward Path

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Cotton futures prices followed a downward course this week. Contracts for nearby delivery were the target of concentrated selling.

Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange took net losses which ranged from 15 cents to $1.30 a bale.

Prices were consistently on the downside except for a short-lived rally on Thursday which carried the list higher for that day. The upturn was credited to technical factors for the most part, although some bullish sentiment was generated by announcement of new U.S. government cotton loans to Yugoslavia and Spain.

For the week as a whole, probably the dominant influence on the market was consistent liquidation in the May contract which expressed the entire list. Other discouraging factors included the New England cotton textile workers' strike and announcement of a new government plan to dispose of surplus cotton in domestic and export markets.

Effects of the government disposal program was lightened, however, by indications that the government's price to the trade would be well above present market levels. The New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau pointed out in its weekly trade review that the Commodity Credit Corporation would have to set a price of 38.40 cents a pound on its middling one and one-sixteenth inch cotton, while the current market quotation is 36.17 cents a pound.

The bureau stressed that cotton to be offered for sale by the CCC will be largely confined to types and qualities in short supply in regular marketing channels. All told, 750,000 bales will be offered.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the Exchange at 58,000.

One Man Missing After Freighter Hits Fishing Boat

BELMAR, N. J., April 23—UP—The Bobby II, a party fishing boat carrying 60 persons, collided with the freighter SS Presient Buchanan, off Ambrose Light Saturday. One person was reported missing.

The U. S. Coast Guard station at Shark River was reported accompanying the stricken vessel into port.

Coast Guard officials in New York said the Bobby II was in danger of sinking and that one of the persons aboard was missing. The others aboard the fishing boat were transferred to the President Buchanan, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard station at Shark River said the Bobby II was scheduled to arrive here about 6 p. m. Coast guardsmen said the fishing boat's bow was crushed.

Shark river guardsmen also said there were reports that several of the Bobby II fishing party were thrown overboard by the collision and that all but one were picked up out of the water and taken aboard the 7,000-ton freighter.

The Coast Guard station at Sandy Hook reported three Coast Guard boats and a helicopter were at the scene, and that a search was underway for the missing passenger.

Good Business To End Of 1955 Is Predicted By Industrial Leaders

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Good business right through to the end of 1955.

That's how key industrial leaders sized up the nation's economy this week. Talk usually heard at this time about a "summer slump" was conspicuously absent.

The rosy forecasts were not unanimous. There were occasional warnings about falling farm prices, overextended credit on automobiles and homes, and "speculative fever" in Wall Street. At week's end the Federal Reserve Board hiked stock margins from 60 to 70 per cent. That means you have to put down 70 per cent of the price in cash when you buy a share of stock instead of 60 per cent as heretofore. The aim is to curb speculation.

The optimists—and they included men of such stature as General Motors' Harlow H. Curtice and American Telephone's Cleo F. Craig—could marshall plenty of solid facts and figures.

Curtice said GM smashed all records in the first three months this year in net sales, net income, unit sales, total employment and average weekly worker earnings—an accomplishment reflecting "the accelerating strength in the entire national economy." The nation's business he declared "will reach a new peak in 1955."

Craig announced that with the telephone business booming as never before, the Bell system earmarked about 1½ billion dollars this year for expanding its service. A new high in sales volume in 1955 was forecast by president Ralph Cordiner of General Electric Co. Morse G. Dial, president of Union Carbide & Carbon Corp., said he's looking for record sales this year; chairman H. E. Humphreys Jr. told stockholders of U.S. Rubber Co.: "Barring any unexpected decline in the rubber industry, our sales and profits for the year could come up to the best we've ever had."

You could see signs of optimism, too, in the changed attitude of many businessmen toward capital spending. Last year they spent less on new plant and equipment than the year before; now the trend is up again. According to a private survey—by McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.—business spending on capital improvements in 1955 will climb to nearly 29½ billion dollars. That would be a gain of 5 per cent over last year, and an all-time high.

Hopes for continuation of the boom into the usually slack summer months were geared this week to the apparently insatiable public appetite for the auto industry's 1955 models.

U.S. factories poured out 185,000 cars and 31,000 trucks—the highest weekly production ever recorded.

Despite record new car inventories there were no dealer complaints. General Motors said demand for its cars is outrunning the company's capacity to produce; president L. L. Colbert said Chrysler Corp. has "280,000 unfilled orders on the books and these are being added to steadily each week."

Signs continued to multiply that auto makers were using up steel faster than they could buy it.

Esso Employe Hurt

BATON ROUGE —UP— An Esso Standard Oil Co. employe was hospitalized today with painful burns suffered in what officials described as a "flash explosion" at an electric substation.

The man, Otis H. Bankston, Jr., 36, was burned over most of his body and was reported in critical condition. Esso said he worked as an electric lineman in a substation operating on about 18,000 volts.

Another member of Bankston's crew was slightly burned, officials said.

C. S. L. Poised For Tuesday's Openers

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

It's baseball time once again for the Twin Cities as fans of this area eagerly await the opportunity Tuesday night to see the "new look" to be offered by Manager Ed Head's Twin Cities Sports when they open their Cotton States League campaign at Legion Memorial Stadium here against "Salty" Parker's El Dorado Oilers.

Wholesale shifting of players is evident throughout the league as every club in the Class C circuit comes up with major league alignments for the first time in history. But most cities, like the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation, still hold complete ownership of their clubs while enjoying working agreements with the majors, and such outfits, without full financial backing of their major affiliate, need the full support of their fans to operate successfully. True, the New York Yankees, of which the Sports are a farm link, footed the bills of the recent training camp at Hattiesburg and are supplying us with talent, but Monroe and West Monroe fans have to carry the mail from there.

A fine exhibition record at Hattiesburg, where Head's crew compiled 14 victories against a lone loss, has done much to stimulate interest, but the fans should be warned that these games were chiefly for the purpose of giving all prospective talent a chance to show, that the Sports' rivals were Class D outfits in the Yankee system, and that meeting championship contention in the Cotton States is going to be something else again.

Head means every word he said when he declares, "We're a whole lot better ball club at this time of the year than we were a year ago," but if rival clubs are getting the expected help from the Milwaukee Braves (Vicksburg), Kansas City A's (Hot Springs), New York Giants (El Dorado), Baltimore Orioles (Pine Bluff), and Detroit Tigers (Greenville), every club in the circuit should be looking better than they were a year ago. The Cotton States could be entering the doorway to its fastest brand of ball.

"Baseball Appreciation Night" here tomorrow will afford fans an opportunity to become personally acquainted with the young athletes who will wear the livery of the Sports as long as they are able to meet the requirements of Manager Head. This two-dollar-a-plate affair is scheduled for 7 o'clock tomorrow night on the roof of Hotel Virginia, and tickets (the number is limited to capacity accommodations) are available at the office of the Chamber of Commerce. This banquet is strictly a pre-season get-acquainted-night, first ever held here for a pro ball club. It's not a money-raising affair as the price of a ticket foots the feed bill, including that of the "guests," our ball players. Don't buy a ticket unless you are going to attend or give it to someone who will. . . . don't want any empty seats for the first official greetings to the new Sports.

Atley Donald, the New York Yankee scout for this territory, who went to the Yanks as a pitcher a couple of decades ago by way of Louisiana Tech, is billed as the banquet's chief speaker. We've never known Atley to be a windjammer, so we figure his remarks will be straight from the shoulder and to the point, and, aside from the feed, the meeting will be chiefly for the purpose of letting the fans mill about with the young athletes as everybody gets acquainted.

Listed on the Sports' roster are outfielders Roy and Ray Mantle, the much-publicized Commerce, Okla., twins; "Chuck" Forbes, only holdover from '54, and Richie Windle; infielders Marshall Gilbert, Dick Lindsey, Vic Spatafora, Bob Maness, Ed Rippili, and Rod Kanehl; catchers Don Saatzer and Ford Arbogast; and pitchers Galen Hudspeth, Malvern Murphy, Bill Dietrich Jr., Jader Hoover, Don Robinson, Joe Yonkowski, Pete Rogers, Dave Palmer, Dick Kimball, Dave Oliphant, Mickey Madden, and Mack McCann.

Side activities in the promotion of baseball show Saul Adler has done another mighty fine job of preparing the scorecards to be offered fans at the stadium during each game. Ninety-two Twin Cities advertisers participate in making the program a success, and this year sixteen items of merchandise are to be given away to fans attending games.

Also, H. H. "Doc" Baur is hauling out his old beseball relics for a downtown window display at D. Masur and Sons. "Doc" began collecting his baseball momentos as a grammer school kid here around 1906 when Monroe's first pro baseball park was located on DeSiard street at the site of the present colored theater opposite the old City Cemetery. He will display a bat used at old City Grammer and City High School from 1906 until 1916; a baseball presented to him by the Detroit Tigers' Sam Crawford of 1911 when the Tigers were in spring training at the old Forsythe Park here; Comisky Park scorecards of the ill-famed 1919 World Series between the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago "Black Sox;" old-time scorecards from many other major league parks; plus thousands of color cards of individual baseball players of yesteryear, including Monroe's Bob Harmon when the latter was pitching for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Again, don't forget Tuesday night. Give your Sports a mighty send-off against El Dorado with a great turnout at Legion Memorial Stadium. This is your ball club. We figure it will be just as good as its support.

Circuit Prepared For 40th Season; Sports Get Oilers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The class C Cotton States League, which only six weeks ago faced the possibility of folding up, opens the baseball season Tuesday night in better shape than at the start of recent campaigns.

Optimism and question marks are the keynote or this set of 40th openers since the league began operations in 1902.

This year, all six of the clubs have obtained major league connections. Reports from spring training indicate that every team will field a stronger contender than it did last year, and there is optimism throughout the loop that the fans will respond to the improvements.

For the past three seasons, the Cotton States members have operated in the red or close to it. The fans shunned the parks of contenders as well as the league's weaker teams.

Six weeks ago, it appeared that Hot Springs would have to give up its franchise, and there was talk that the league wouldn't attempt to field teams this season.

But Mickey O'Neil, a veteran of 38 years in professional baseball, purchased the Bather franchise, and promptly negotiated a working agreement with the Kansas City Athletics. O'Neil brought in Joe Lutz, a veteran of class AAA baseball to manage the Bathers, which have received considerable player help from Kansas City.

Like most minor leagues, it's hard to choose the pennant favorites at this early date. None of the clubs are set at every position, and some of them desperately need experienced players.

However, the Vicksburg Billies, back in organized baseball for the first time since the old Southeastern League folded in 1950; the Monroe Sports, and the Greenville Bucks shape up as the early season front runners.

At Vicksburg, manager Fred (Pap) Williams, a 41-year-old first baseman, has eight young players from the Milwaukee Braves to help out a crew of proven Cotton States veterans. Among the familiar names on the Billies' roster are Roy Jayne, who led the league's pitchers with a 2.73 earned run average and 20 victories last year; outfielder Gene Pompelia, a .330 hitter at Meridian in 1954; and veteran shortstop Bill Carr, who hit 19 homers for El Dorado last season.

Monroe, where Ed Head, the old Brooklyn pitching ace is manager, is counting on its connections with the New York Yankees to keep it well stocked with young talent. Among others on the rookie-studded Monroe squad are outfielders Roy and Ray Mantle, brothers of Yankee star Mickey Mantle, and pitcher Bill Dietrich Jr., whose father once was the Chicago White Sox's ace.

Manager-owner Willis Hudlin at Greenville has a club which is heavy on experience. He boasts two fine pitchers in Bob Wiltse, who won 12 and lost 4 last season for the Bucks, and Maurice Kelly, who had a 10-7 record at Greenville. Also back are second baseman Hugh Glaze, who hit .335, and veteran Banks McDowell, one of the best center fielders in the league.

Hudlin has said that his new club is comparable to the 1954 unit which took the pennant by whipping runner up El Dorado on the final game of the season.

Things don't look so rosy for the Oilers, who will field a green, young team. Manager Salty Parker has only one returnee from last year's team, veteran outfielder Pel Austin, and he hasn't yet signed a contract. However, righthander George Bielik, who won 14 and lost 4 for El Dorado in 1952 before entering military service is back.

At Pine Bluff, new manager Bob Knoke also has only one veteran from 1954 back on his squad. He is outfielder Bobby Gonzales. The Judges appear to have a sharp fielding outfit, with fair hitting. However, Knoke has expressed some concern about the ability of his pitching staff to hurl well enough for consistent winning.

Hot Springs doesn't have anyone coming back from last year's squad, and wouldn't be too happy to get any of the former Bathers. Hot Springs finished a poor last in the previous campaign.

Most of the new Bathers are graduates of class D teams or transfers from class C loops. Many of them had good records last year, and hopes are running high in the Arkansas resort.

Opening night contests will match El Dorado at Monroe; Greenville at Vicksburg, and Pine Bluff at Hot Springs.

Northeast State anxiously awaits Tuesday's encounter with Louisiana Tech, defending co-champions of the Gulf State Conference, when the Bulldogs visit the Indians at 2:30 p. m. for their first engagement this season.

Not only does the outcome of this game have heavy bearings on the G. S. C. race but at stake is the prestige between the building rivalry of these two schools. In distance, 35 miles separates Northeast and Tech.

Coach George Luffey has his Indians in tip top condition for the rugged conference schedule which they must face this week.

After Tuesday's game with Tech, the Tribe entertains another set of Bulldogs from Southwestern on Friday. Due to an early rained out game the Tribe must play a double header.

Saturday the Indians again return to the field to meet the McNeese State Cowboys. Previously Northeast defeated McNeese 10 to 7 in a game at Lake Charles.

The Tribe's pitching staff is anchored by two veteran moundsmen in Billy Joe "Bo" Laird and All-G. S. C. Joe Jordan. Rookie hurlers which Luffey can call upon for duty, include Bob Watts, Dick Campbell, Tom Hutson and Carol George. He has yet to release the starting pitching assignments for these important four games.

C. S. L. Poised For Tuesday's Openers

It's baseball time once again for the Twin Cities as fans of this area eagerly await the opportunity Tuesday night to see the "new look" to be offered by Manager Ed Head's Twin Cities Sports when they open their Cotton States League campaign at Legion Memorial Stadium here against "Salty" Parker's El Dorado Oilers.

Wholesale shifting of players is evident throughout the league as every club in the Class C circuit comes up with major league alignments for the first time in history. But most cities, like the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation, still hold complete ownership of their clubs while enjoying working agreements with the majors, and such outfits, without full financial backing of their major affiliate, need the full support of their fans to operate successfully. True, the New York Yankees, of which the Sports are a farm link, footed the bills of the recent training camp at Hattiesburg and are supplying us with talent, but Monroe and West Monroe fans have to carry the mail from there.

A fine exhibition record at Hattiesburg, where Head's crew compiled 14 victories against a lone loss, has done much to stimulate interest, but the fans should be warned that these games were chiefly for the purpose of giving all prospective talent a chance to show, that the Sports' rivals were Class D outfits in the Yankee system, and that meeting championship contention in the Cotton States is going to be something else again.

Head means every word he said when he declares, "We're a whole lot better ball club at this time of the year than we were a year ago," but if rival clubs are getting the expected help from the Milwaukee Braves (Vicksburg), Kansas City A's (Hot Springs), New York Giants (El Dorado), Baltimore Orioles (Pine Bluff), and Detroit Tigers (Greenville), every club in the circuit should be looking better than they were a year ago. The Cotton States could be entering the doorway to its fastest brand of ball.

"Baseball Appreciation Night" here tomorrow will afford fans an opportunity to become personally acquainted with the young athletes who will wear the livery of the Sports as long as they are able to meet the requirements of Manager Head. This two-dollar-a-plate affair is scheduled for 7 o'clock tomorrow night on the roof of Hotel Virginia, and tickets (the number is limited to capacity accommodations) are available at the office of the Chamber of Commerce. This banquet is strictly a pre-season get-acquainted-night, first ever held here for a pro ball club. It's not a money-raising affair as the price of a ticket foots the feed bill, including that of the "guests," our ball players. Don't buy a ticket unless you are going to attend or give it to someone who will. . . . don't want any empty seats for the first official greetings to the new Sports.

Atley Donald, the New York Yankee scout for this territory, who went to the Yanks as a pitcher a couple of decades ago by way of Louisiana Tech, is billed as the banquet's chief speaker. We've never known Atley to be a windjammer, so we figure his remarks will be straight from the shoulder and to the point, and, aside from the feed, the meeting will be chiefly for the purpose of letting the fans mill about with the young athletes as everybody gets acquainted.

Listed on the Sports' roster are outfielders Roy and Ray Mantle, the much-publicized Commerce, Okla., twins; "Chuck" Forbes, only holdover from '54, and Richie Windle; infielders Marshall Gilbert, Dick Lindsey, Vic Spatafora, Bob Maness, Ed Rippili, and Rod Kanehl; catchers Don Saatzer and Ford Arbogast; and pitchers Galen Hudspeth, Malvern Murphy, Bill Dietrich Jr., Jader Hoover, Don Robinson, Joe Yonkowski, Pete Rogers, Dave Palmer, Dick Kimball, Dave Oliphant, Mickey Madden, and Mack McCann.

Side activities in the promotion of baseball show Saul Adler has done another mighty fine job of preparing the scorecards to be offered fans at the stadium during each game. Ninety-two Twin Cities advertisers participate in making the program a success, and this year sixteen items of merchandise are to be given away to fans attending games.

Also, H. H. "Doc" Baur is hauling out his old beseball relics for a downtown window display at D. Masur and Sons. "Doc" began collecting his baseball momentos as a grammer school kid here around 1906 when Monroe's first pro baseball park was located on DeSiard street at the site of the present colored theater opposite the old City Cemetery. He will display a bat used at old City Grammer and City High School from 1906 until 1916; a baseball presented to him by the Detroit Tigers' Sam Crawford of 1911 when the Tigers were in spring training at the old Forsythe Park here; Comisky Park scorecards of the ill-famed 1919 World Series between the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago "Black Sox;" old-time scorecards from many other major league parks; plus thousands of color cards of individual baseball players of yesteryear, including Monroe's Bob Harmon when the latter was pitching for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Again, don't forget Tuesday night. Give your Sports a mighty send-off against El Dorado with a great turnout at Legion Memorial Stadium. This is your ball club. We figure it will be just as good as its support.

Circuit Prepared For 40th Season; Sports Get Oilers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The class C Cotton States League, which only six weeks ago faced the possibility of folding up, opens the baseball season Tuesday night in better shape than at the start of recent campaigns.

Optimism and question marks are the keynote or this set of 40th openers since the league began operations in 1902.

This year, all six of the clubs have obtained major league connections. Reports from spring training indicate that every team will field a stronger contender than it did last year, and there is optimism throughout the loop that the fans will respond to the improvements.

For the past three seasons, the Cotton States members have operated in the red or close to it. The fans shunned the parks of contenders as well as the league's weaker teams.

Six weeks ago, it appeared that Hot Springs would have to give up its franchise, and there was talk that the league wouldn't attempt to field teams this season.

But Mickey O'Neil, a veteran of 38 years in professional baseball, purchased the Bather franchise, and promptly negotiated a working agreement with the Kansas City Athletics. O'Neil brought in Joe Lutz, a veteran of class AAA baseball to manage the Bathers, which have received considerable player help from Kansas City.

Like most minor leagues, it's hard to choose the pennant favorites at this early date. None of the clubs are set at every position, and some of them desperately need experienced players.

However, the Vicksburg Billies, back in organized baseball for the first time since the old Southeastern League folded in 1950; the Monroe Sports, and the Greenville Bucks shape up as the early season front runners.

At Vicksburg, manager Fred (Pap) Williams, a 41-year-old first baseman, has eight young players from the Milwaukee Braves to help out a crew of proven Cotton States veterans. Among the familiar names on the Billies' roster are Roy Jayne, who led the league's pitchers with a 2.73 earned run average and 20 victories last year; outfielder Gene Pompelia, a .330 hitter at Meridian in 1954; and veteran shortstop Bill Carr, who hit 19 homers for El Dorado last season.

Monroe, where Ed Head, the old Brooklyn pitching ace is manager, is counting on its connections with the New York Yankees to keep it well stocked with young talent. Among others on the rookie-studded Monroe squad are outfielders Roy and Ray Mantle, brothers of Yankee star Mickey Mantle, and pitcher Bill Dietrich Jr., whose father once was the Chicago White Sox's ace.

Manager-owner Willis Hudlin at Greenville has a club which is heavy on experience. He boasts two fine pitchers in Bob Wiltse, who won 12 and lost 4 last season for the Bucks, and Maurice Kelly, who had a 10-7 record at Greenville. Also back are second baseman Hugh Glaze, who hit .335, and veteran Banks McDowell, one of the best center fielders in the league.

Hudlin has said that his new club is comparable to the 1954 unit which took the pennant by whipping runner up El Dorado on the final game of the season.

Things don't look so rosy for the Oilers, who will field a green, young team. Manager Salty Parker has only one returnee from last year's team, veteran outfielder Pel Austin, and he hasn't yet signed a contract. However, righthander George Bielik, who won 14 and lost 4 for El Dorado in 1952 before entering military service is back.

At Pine Bluff, new manager Bob Knoke also has only one veteran from 1954 back on his squad. He is outfielder Bobby Gonzales. The Judges appear to have a sharp fielding outfit, with fair hitting. However, Knoke has expressed some concern about the ability of his pitching staff to hurl well enough for consistent winning.

Hot Springs doesn't have anyone coming back from last year's squad, and wouldn't be too happy to get any of the former Bathers. Hot Springs finished a poor last in the previous campaign.

Most of the new Bathers are graduates of class D teams or transfers from class C loops. Many of them had good records last year, and hopes are running high in the Arkansas resort.

Opening night contests will match El Dorado at Monroe; Greenville at Vicksburg, and Pine Bluff at Hot Springs.

Northeast State anxiously awaits Tuesday's encounter with Louisiana Tech, defending co-champions of the Gulf State Conference, when the Bulldogs visit the Indians at 2:30 p. m. for their first engagement this season.

Not only does the outcome of this game have heavy bearings on the G. S. C. race but at stake is the prestige between the building rivalry of these two schools. In distance, 35 miles separates Northeast and Tech.

Coach George Luffey has his Indians in tip top condition for the rugged conference schedule which they must face this week.

After Tuesday's game with Tech, the Tribe entertains another set of Bulldogs from Southwestern on Friday. Due to an early rained out game the Tribe must play a double header.

Saturday the Indians again return to the field to meet the McNeese State Cowboys. Previously Northeast defeated McNeese 10 to 7 in a game at Lake Charles.

The Tribe's pitching staff is anchored by two veteran moundsmen in Billy Joe "Bo" Laird and All-G. S. C. Joe Jordan. Rookie hurlers which Luffey can call upon for duty, include Bob Watts, Dick Campbell, Tom Hutson and Carol George. He has yet to release the starting pitching assignments for these important four games.

Seixas In River Oaks Net Finals Against Trabert

HOUSTON, April 23 (AP) —National champion Vic Seixas swept the two final sets today against a tiring Dick Savitt to take a tough five-set victory from the defending champion and former Wimbledon titlist and enter the finals of the 21st annual River Oaks Tennis Tournament.

Seixas had difficulty in the early sets meeting Savitt's booming service but all but came back after the intermission to grab the 5-7, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3 victory.

The national champion tomorrow meets his Davis Cup teammate, Tony Trabert, for the championship. Trabert, undefeated since a Feb. 1 loss in the Australian Nationals, is seeking his ninth straight tournament title. He has won six of the titles in final matches against Seixas.

Trabert moved into the finals yesterday with a quick 6-4, 6-2, 6-1 decision over Bernard Bartzen, the National Clay Courts champion.

Savitt led in points the first set, 39-34, lost the second, 29-32, and led in the third, 28-16. Seixas led the last two, 36-32, 39-28.

Erskine Masters Sal Maglie, 3-1, With Six-Hitter

BROOKLYN, April 23 (AP) —The Brooklyn Dodgers backed up the six - hit pitching of Carl Erskine with two eight - inning runs off their old nemesis, Sal Maglie, today and started a new winning streak with a 3-1 victory over the New York Giants.

Maglie, who had lifetime record of 22-8 against the Dodgers up until this season, ran out of gas in the eighth inning as Gil Hodges doubled, Sandy Amoros tripled high off the left field wall and Carl Furillo sent home the insurance run with a single. Until then, Maglie had duelled on equal terms with Erskine in a battle that thrilled a near capacity ladies crowd of about 32,000. Many of them ladies and kids. It was Maglie's second loss to Brooklyn in 1955.

The Giants, who had stopped Brooklyn's 10-game winning streak last night, threatened in the ninth as Mueller singled with one out. But Dusty Rhodes and Bobby Hofman, the world champions' premier pinch-hitters of 1954, were unable to get the ball out of the infield and Erskine was home free.

A near free- for - all was averted by the umpires in the fourth. The Dodgers had been complaining that Maglie was throwing at them. Maglie made gestures as though the ball was slipping out of his hand and that he was accidentally wild.

Jackie Robinson laid down the traditional get-even bunt in the fourth and, when Maglie failed to cover first base, bowled over Williams instead. Players from both sides rushed to the scene. There was a lot of arguing, but no swinging.

In the next inning Dark doubled into the left field corner, tried to make three bases and knocked the ball out of Robinson's hands with a bruising, head first slide.

The umpires took charge then and there were no untoward incidents, thereafter.

Qualifying For Municipal Amateur Begins Monday

Qualifying for the fifth annual Municipal Amateur Golf Tournament, a one-day meet scheduled for May 15, begins tomorrow over the Municipal Golf Club's course and continues through May 14 when pairings will be made.

Hugh A. Britt, club pro, also announced last night that the tournament committee of Jim Riddle, chairman, and Jim Harbuck and Ken Bartlett, have arranged a special junior flight for the tournament for boys under 16 years of age. Play will be on a handicap basis.

Early qualifiers will have the benefit of free use of Muny's facilities for practice rounds.

In the event of bad weather conditions on May 15, Britt said the tournament will be delayed until May 22.

Skowron Supplies Power As Yankees Maul Bosox

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP) — Big Bill Skowron, continuing his strong bid to play first base full-time for the New York Yankees, drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a double today as the New York Yankees subdue dthe Boston Red Sox, 7-2. Skowron ranks among the league leaders with 14 runs batted in.

The husky right - handed batter exploded his third circuit clout off starter Ike Delock in the third inning with two on and hit his two-bagger off reliever Ellis Kinder with the bases loaded in the seventh.

Johnny Kucks, 21-year-ol Jersey City righthander, was the winning pitcher with help from Tom Morgan. The youngster lost his grip in the sixth when Boston scored its second run. Morgan, who is developing into the Yankees' most reliable reliever, gave up only one hit in three and a third innings. He has allowed only one score in eight emergency innings.

White Hose Tie Modern Record For Team Score

KANSAS CITY, April 23 (AP) — Chicago's White Sox slugged the Kansas City Athletics 29-6 today, tying the modern major league scoring record for one team for one game as they lofted seven home runs out of gusty Municipal Stadium.

The rampaging Sox blasted little Bobby Shantz almost out of the park as Bob Nieman hit a 3-run homer, one of a pair for his day's work, in the first inning, and Sherm lollar greeted him with a leadoff homer in the second.

Chicago scored seven times in the second off Shantz and Leroy Wheat.

Besides Nieman's two homers, Lollar hit a pair, and Walt Dropo, Minnie Minoso and Jack Harshman, the Sox' starting and winning pitcher, each tossed a roundtripper into the pot.

Vic Power and Bill Renna also blasted homers high over the left field fence as the ball rode merrily on the wings of a strong south wind that blew up to 30 miles an hour at times.

The 29 runs equalled the modern record set in June 1950 by the Boston Red Sox in a 29-4 victory over the then St. Louis Browns (now the Baltimore Orioles). It fell one run short of tying the American League record of 36 runs for both teams in one game set by Boston in a 22-14 massacre of the Athletics when they were in Philadelphia, also in June of 1950.

The Chicago Cubs set the ancient one-team one-game scoring record with a 36-7 victory over Louisville in June, 1897.

Erskine Masters Sal Maglie, 3-1, With Six-Hitter

BROOKLYN, April 23 (AP) —The Brooklyn Dodgers backed up the six - hit pitching of Carl Erskine with two eight - inning runs off their old nemesis, Sal Maglie, today and started a new winning streak with a 3-1 victory over the New York Giants.

Maglie, who had lifetime record of 22-8 against the Dodgers up until this season, ran out of gas in the eighth inning as Gil Hodges doubled, Sandy Amoros tripled high off the left field wall and Carl Furillo sent home the insurance run with a single. Until then, Maglie had duelled on equal terms with Erskine in a battle that thrilled a near capacity ladies crowd of about 32,000. Many of them ladies and kids. It was Maglie's second loss to Brooklyn in 1955.

The Giants, who had stopped Brooklyn's 10-game winning streak last night, threatened in the ninth as Mueller singled with one out. But Dusty Rhodes and Bobby Hofman, the world champions' premier pinch-hitters of 1954, were unable to get the ball out of the infield and Erskine was home free.

A near free- for - all was averted by the umpires in the fourth. The Dodgers had been complaining that Maglie was throwing at them. Maglie made gestures as though the ball was slipping out of his hand and that he was accidentally wild.

Jackie Robinson laid down the traditional get-even bunt in the fourth and, when Maglie failed to cover first base, bowled over Williams instead. Players from both sides rushed to the scene. There was a lot of arguing, but no swinging.

In the next inning Dark doubled into the left field corner, tried to make three bases and knocked the ball out of Robinson's hands with a bruising, head first slide.

The umpires took charge then and there were no untoward incidents, thereafter.

Qualifying For Municipal Amateur Begins Monday

Qualifying for the fifth annual Municipal Amateur Golf Tournament, a one-day meet scheduled for May 15, begins tomorrow over the Municipal Golf Club's course and continues through May 14 when pairings will be made.

Hugh A. Britt, club pro, also announced last night that the tournament committee of Jim Riddle, chairman, and Jim Harbuck and Ken Bartlett, have arranged a special junior flight for the tournament for boys under 16 years of age. Play will be on a handicap basis.

The tournament, with E. E. Lawson of Monroe as defending champion, is open to any golfers in this area. While the Muny layout is open to any qualifiers, entrants may qualify on their home courses and submit their score with their entry fee. The entry deadline is 7 p.m., May 14.

Early qualifiers will have the benefit of free use of Muny's facilities for practice rounds.

In the event of bad weather conditions on May 15, Britt said the tournament will be delayed until May 22.

White Hose Tie Modern Record For Team Score

KANSAS CITY, April 23 (AP) — Chicago's White Sox slugged the Kansas City Athletics 29-6 today, tying the modern major league scoring record for one team for one game as they lofted seven home runs out of gusty Municipal Stadium.

The rampaging Sox blasted little Bobby Shantz almost out of the park as Bob Nieman hit a 3-run homer, one of a pair for his day's work, in the first inning, and Sherm lollar greeted him with a leadoff homer in the second.

Chicago scored seven times in the second off Shantz and Leroy Wheat.

Besides Nieman's two homers, Lollar hit a pair, and Walt Dropo, Minnie Minoso and Jack Harshman, the Sox' starting and winning pitcher, each tossed a roundtripper into the pot.

Vic Power and Bill Renna also blasted homers high over the left field fence as the ball rode merrily on the wings of a strong south wind that blew up to 30 miles an hour at times.

The 29 runs equalled the modern record set in June 1950 by the Boston Red Sox in a 29-4 victory over the then St. Louis Browns (now the Baltimore Orioles). It fell one run short of tying the American League record of 36 runs for both teams in one game set by Boston in a 22-14 massacre of the Athletics when they were in Philadelphia, also in June of 1950.

The Chicago Cubs set the ancient one-team one-game scoring record with a 36-7 victory over Louisville in June, 1897.

Nashua Nips Summer Tan To Take Wood Memorial

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP) —Nashua, 1954 2-year-old champion today edged Summer Tan in the $111,700 Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Apparently beaten a sixteenth of a mile from home, Nashua turned on the steam and won by a short nose in a time of 1:50 3-5 for the mile and one-eighth.

Summer Tan took the lead soon after the start and held it all the way in the two-horse duel until the pride of William Woodward, Jr's Belair Stud stuck his nose in front in the final stride.

Simmy was third, Cup Man fourth and Door Prize fifth in the field of five 3 - year - olds.

Nashua, in chalking up his 10th victory in 12 starts, paid $4.20 to win and $2.10 to place. Summer Tan returned $2.10 to place. There was no show betting.

A crowd of 41,721 saw the son of Nasrullah, current facorite for the May 7 running of the Kentucky Derby, pick up the purse of $75,100 and increase his total earnings to $477.440.

Longoria, Guerrette Headline Fight Card

RUGGED PUNCHER is Rockey Guerrette, (above) who meets equally rugged Tino "The Bull" Longoria tomorrow night in the feature 10-rounder at the Arena. 28 rounds of boxing are slated for the fistic card, as well as a one-fall wrestling match between Lee Fields and Frank Thompson.

Pro Mat Tussle Also On Lengthy Boxing Program

A ten - round boxing battle, featuring two of the most colorful fighters ever seen here, Tine, "The Bull" Longoria and Rocky Guerrette, headlines the fistic card at the Arena tomorrow night, with Gus Kallio promoting.

The regular weekly wrestling program, in the form of a single match, will also co - feature the card, and make it one of the most gala "fight nights" Kallio has ever put on.

Lee Fields, who is, without a doubt, the most rugged and most popular of the present day crop of matmen to appear here, takes on Scotsman Frank Thompson, in a 30 - minute time limit, one fall to win atch.

Both features are topnotch attractions, with the Longoria - Guerrette tussle especially creating fan interest. Both boys have lost to Clarence Cook, the Oak Grove master boxer-puncher, ut neigher was beaten before Cook knew he had a real battle on his hands.

Longoria and Cook fought to a nip- and - tuck decision, with "The Bull" finishing so strong that many Cook fans were relieved that it wasn't 15-rounder. The tough Mexican, who stands 5 - foot - nine and weighs 152, has a slambang style, and is a real action fighter.

Gurrette, at 147, hails from Hartford, Conn., and is the miniature double, both in appearance and punch, of Rocky Marciano. He was Cook's latest victim, but not before he floored Clarence early in the bout for an eight - count. The local fans, rooting themselves hoarse for Cook, screamed in unison for Clarence to use his famous left jab instead of trying to mix it, and, as a result, Cook survived the knockdown and won the thriller on a fifth - round TKO, as Gurrette bounced up and down off the canvas like a rubber ball from Cook's blows until he was groggy.

The fight between Longoria and Guerrette is a "rubber fight", for they have met twice and each holds one win. So their main event tomorrow night is a natural, not only in matching, but in ability.

The supporting card lists a six-round semi - final, between Bastrop's Johnny Mckein and Paul Farrar, Farmerville; a four-round preliminary between Huey Benney, Bastrop, and Ruhl Brumley, Oak Grove; and two Negro four-rounders, pitting Henry Purdon, Monroe against Allen Smith, Shreveport; and Jimmy Coleman, Bossier City, vs. Jimmy Fields, Farmerville.

Bucs Lose 8th Straight Near League-Loss Record

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 (AP) — Home runs by Willie Jones and rookie Stan Palys helped the Philadelphia Phillies beat Pittsburgh 8-0 today and sink the Pirates within one game of equalling the national league record for consecutive defeats at the start of the season. It was the eighth straight loss for the winless Pirates.

The veteran Murry Dickson, 38-year-old right hander, posted his second victory of the season for the Phillies with a neat four-hit shutout. Dickson, sometimes referred to as "the man of a hundred pitchs" hurled no-hit ball for four innings before Sid Gordon lashed a single to right.

The Brooklyn Dodgers set the national league record for nine straight defeats in 1918. The major league mark for defeats from the start of the season is 13 established by the Washington Senators of 1904 and tied by the Detroit Tigers of 1920.

Nashua Nips Summer Tan To Take Wood Memorial

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP) —Nashua, 1954 2-year-old champion today edged Summer Tan in the $111,700 Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

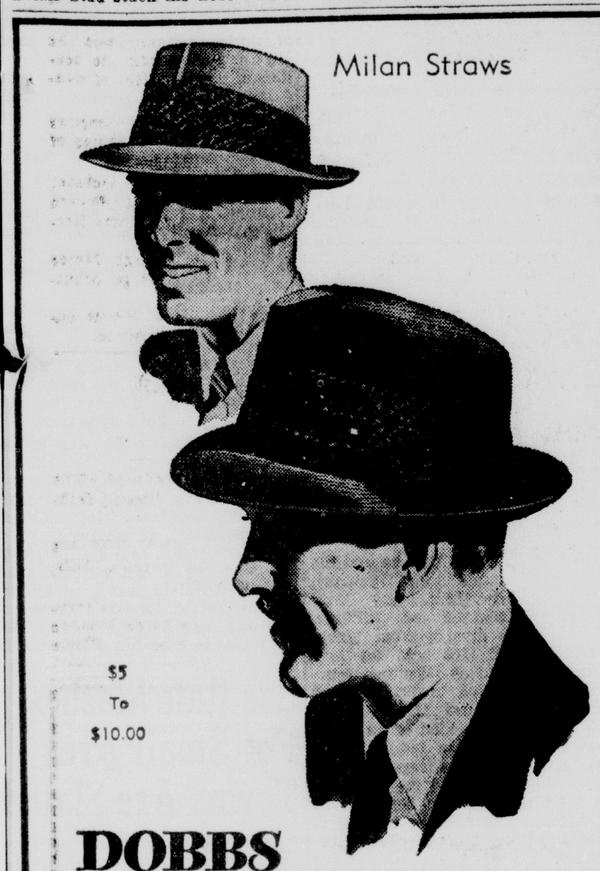

Apparently beaten a sixteenth of a mile from home, Nashua turned on the steam and won by a short nose in a time of 1:50 3-5 for the mile and one-eighth.

Summer Tan took the lead soon after the start and held it all the way in the two-horse duel until the pride of William Woodward, Jr's Belair Stud stuck his nose in front in the final stride.

Simmy was third, Cup Man fourth and Door Prize fifth in the field of five 3 - year - olds.

Nashua, in chalking up his 10th victory in 12 starts, paid $4.20 to win and $2.10 to place. Summer Tan returned $2.10 to place. There was no show betting.

A crowd of 41,721 saw the son of Nasrullah, current facorite for the May 7 running of the Kentucky Derby, pick up the purse of $75,100 and increase his total earnings to $477,440.

Longoria, Guerrette Headline Fight Card

Pro Mat Tussle Also On Lengthy Boxing Program

A ten - round boxing battle, featuring two of the most colorful fighters ever seen here, Tine, "The Bull" Longoria and Rocky Guerrette, headlines the fistic card at the Arena tomorrow night, with Gus Kallio promoting.

The regular weekly wrestling program, in the form of a single match, will also co - feature the card, and make it one of the most gala "fight nights" Kallio has ever put on.

Lee Fields, who is, without a doubt, the most rugged and most popular of the present day crop of matmen to appear here, takes on Scotsman Frank Thompson, in a 30 - minute time limit, one fall to win atch.

Both features are topnotch attractions, with the Longoria - Guerrette tussle especially creating fan interest. Both boys have lost to Clarence Cook, the Oak Grove master boxer-puncher, ut neigher was beaten before Cook knew he had a real battle on his hands.

Longoria and Cook fought to a nip- and - tuck decision, with "The Bull" finishing so strong that many Cook fans were relieved that it wasn't 15-rounder. The tough Mexican, who stands 5 - foot - nine and weighs 152, has a slambang style, and is a real action fighter.

Gurrette, at 147, hails from Hartford, Conn., and is the miniature double, both in appearance and punch, of Rocky Marciano. He was Cook's latest victim, but not before he floored Clarence early in the bout for an eight - count. The local fans, rooting themselves hoarse for Cook, screamed in unison for Clarence to use his famous left jab instead of trying to mix it, and, as a result, Cook survived the knockdown and won the thriller on a fifth - round TKO, as Gurrette bounced up and down off the canvas like a rubber ball from Cook's blows until he was groggy.

Bucs Lose 8th Straight Near League-Loss Record

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 (AP) — Home runs by Willie Jones and rookie Stan Palys helped the Philadelphia Phillies beat Pittsburgh 8-0 today and sink the Pirates within one game of equalling the national league record for consecutive defeats at the start of the season. It was the eighth straight loss for the winless Pirates.

The veteran Murry Dickson, 38-year-old right hander, posted his second victory of the season for the Phillies with a neat four-hit shutout. Dickson, sometimes referred to as "the man of a hundred pitchs" hurled no-hit ball for four innings before Sid Gordon lashed a single to right.

The Brooklyn Dodgers set the national league record for nine straight defeats in 1918. The major league mark for defeats from the start of the season is 13 established by the Washington Senators of 1904 and tied by the Detroit Tigers of 1920.

Ellender Thinks Capitol Building Still Adequate

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP) — Along with thousands of tourists, Sen. Ellender (D-La) took a proud look at the dome of the nation's Capitol today and promised a furious fight to prevent the building from becoming a museum.

"This fine old building is adequate for the Congress for many years to come," the fiery Louisiana senator exploded. "I'll battle all efforts to abandon it as long as I am here."

Ellender's outburst was a delayed protest against the recent comment by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) that the present Capitol, which was begun in 1793, is "becoming rapidly obsolete."

Bridges told the Senate that Congress now should be buying some nearby land to construct a "new modern capitol" where lawmakers could "function efficiently."

Conceding that he might stir up a tempest, Bridges said the present building could become "a historical monument, such as Mt. Vernon is today." He referred to the reconstructed home of George Washington on the bank of the Potomac.

Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) of the Senate Appropriations Committee agreed with Bridges.

Violently disagreeing, Ellender said he would fight the proposal to the last ditch.

"We've spent millions of dollars raising and repairing the roofs, installing air conditioning and providing vast space in new Senate and House office buildings," he said.

"Why, a new capitol building would cost from 100 to 150 million dollars. We'd have so much space that we'd have to rent out some to commercial outfits."

Instead, Ellender said he supports an old proposal, recently backed by House Speaker Rayburn, for rebuilding and extending the east front of the Capitol.

"I urged the same thing five or six years ago," Ellender said. "We could do it for maybe six or seven million dollars.

"The architect says it would give us 42 big extra rooms including some ample dining space for senators, representatives and their guests."

'Doom Town II' Atomic Blast Set For Tues. A. M.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 23—UP—An atomic device with twice the punch of those that blasted Japan into submission will be exploded against "Doom Town II" early Tuesday—weather permitting — to show how American cities would stand up against the blast, fire and radiation of nuclear warfare.

The only difference between the model community built on the Nevada desert 75 miles north of here and hundreds of American communities is that no one lives in Doom Town II.

Ten concrete, frame and cinder block homes and six metal industrial buildings have been erected on the Nevada proving grounds but their only occupants at "shot time"—5:20 a.m. PDT (6:20 a.m. CST) Tuesday—will be dummies.

The structures, interspersed with typical power, telephone and radio station towers, are located from one fifth of a mile to nearly three miles from the base of a 500-foot steel tower housing the experimental nuclear device.

More than 2,000 military and civilian observers—including women civil defense volunteers, for the first time—will crouch in trenches or huddle in heavy tanks less than two miles from the asphalted surface of "gorund zero" when the shot is fired.

Approximately 2,500 other men observe the explosion from hillside and women, including civil defense and state government officials from throughout the country, will positions several miles south of the Yucca Flat tower.

Immediately after the explosion, the tank-mounted troops, accompanied by a few newsmen, will maneuver through the blast-burned area moving as close to ground zero as possible.

Close range inspection of damage to the homes, simulated stores and shops, food supplies and other civil defense exhibits will not be permitted until the area is found radiologically safe. This is expected to be Wednesday morning.

Weather Halts Search For Boy In Vermilion Bay

NEW IBERIA, La., April 23 (AP)—Rough water and high winds in Vermilion Bay tonight halted the search for a 14-year-old boy who fell from the mast of his father's shrimp boat.

The boy, Robert Guidry of Golden Meadow, was untangling the mast rigging when high winds rocked the boat yesterday.

Sampson Guidry, his father, said he heard a thud and thought at first the trawler had struck a reef, but looked up and saw his son was gone.

He said the noise must have been the boy's body striking the boat's railing before he tumbled into the choppy sea.

LUCILLE MAE GRACE

Former Register State Land Office Will Be Candidate

Lucille May Grace, former register of the state land office, announced yesterday she will again be a candidate for the office in the 1956 Democratic primaries.

Defeated in 1952 for the post by Ellen Bryan Moore, Miss Grace had held the office since the death of her father, Fred J. Grace, in 1931, when she was appointed to the post by Huey P. Long. Thereafter she was elected each successive term until the lost election.

"I well realize," she said yesterday, "that the election of 1956 is still several months away, but to dispel any doubt about my future plans I now formally announce that I will be a candidate for register of the state land office."

Adding that she had given considerable thought to making the race, Miss Grace said she was making the announcement at this time "so that the many who have expressed an interest in my future may know of my plans."

Speaking of her record in the land office, Miss Grace pointed particularly to the case of the Tidelands oil.

"The first money to pour from the mineral leases into the state treasury from the water bottoms began under the administration of my father, the late Fred J. Grace," she said, "It was he, through legislative action, who gave the state of Louisiana this source of revenue which today is amounting to amazing figures. Millions and millions are pouring into the coffers of our state and as time goes on, the funds will increase far beyond our expectations."

"When previous national administrations sought to take from the states and particularly the coast states these rich oil producing water bottoms, Lucille May Grace was among the very first public officials to recognize the threat to our sovereign right, the first Louisiana officials to speak out against this unjust and threatening situation," she said.

"It gives me a sense of personal pride to know that I contributed in some measure to the millions of dollars that are now flowing into our treasury from tidelands revenue," she added. "I travelled the length and breath of Louisiana, speaking to the police jurors, sheriffs, assessors in their conventions. I went to every place where there was a gathering urging them to become interested in this great fight.

"In Washington, back in the days when Congressional committees were still listening to the voice of the people, I appeared, endeavoring to maintain Louisiana's claim to this rich treasure."

Concluding, Miss Grace said she is submitting to the voters "a record of honorable service and my wealth of experience" and an "established record of integrity and capability."

Killed By Auto Bomb

Trial Of Houston Man For Death Of Former Mother-In-Law To Open

SAN ANGELO, Tex., April 23 (AP)—Shy, quiet Harry L. Washburn comes to trial Monday with the defense that he was 400 miles away when a cleverly devised auto bomb blasted his former mother-in-law to death here Jan. 19.

Prosecutors claim only a wild midnight drive got the 38-year-old Houston contractor back home before the dynamite trap exploded.

Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver, 51, ranchwoman and civic leader, died when she pressed the starter of a family car that fateful morning.

Ten sticks of dynamite wired to the electrical system of the year-old car exploded, tossing chunks of the engine a block away.

Investigation of the wealthy and attractive woman's death caused a furore in this prosperous west Texas ranching center. It hasn't settled yet.

Washburn was arrested Jan. 29 and charged with murder. On Feb. 12 he and a tough jail-breaking ex-convict, Andrew H. Nelson, 45, who said he showed Washburn how to make a dynamited bomb, were indicted for murder.

Nelson's trial will be called later.

"They indicted the wrong people," Washburn said in jail.

"I was the one they were trying to get," Harry E. Weaver, 60, well-known architect and a non-salaried civilian consultant for the Navy Public Works Department, told The Associated Press.

Officers agreed with Mrs. Weaver's husband. They said her death was a "mistake" and that Washburn had plotted for nearly a year to ambush Weaver.

Mrs. Adela Heninger, 24, a sometimes professional woman wrestler known as "Nature Girl," told police Washburn wanted Weaver killed so he could extort $100,000 from Mrs. Weaver. She said Washburn dubbed Mrs. Weaver "a soft touch."

Weaver has said that he and his wife had trouble with Washburn after her daughter, now Mrs. Helen Willcockson of Billings, Mont., got a divorce from Washburn in 1950. He said he had asked dismissal of assault to murder charges filed in 1951 against Washburn because Mrs. Weaver "didn't want any kind of publicity that would hurt the family." The felony complaint charged Washburn with terrorizing the Weavers at their plush ranch home north of here and demanding that Mrs. Weaver give him a check for $20,000.

Weaver said his former son-in-law felt that the Weavers had interfered in the daughter's marriage.

Water Resources Board Okays Pact With Rainmakers

Meeting in special session here yesterday the board of directors of the Northeast Louisiana Water Resources Corporation voted to sign a contract with Ervin P. Krick, Inc., of Texas, to engage in rainmaking activities in a nine parish area during the remainder of the year.

The board explained that a canvass of business and professional people and large planters in the nine parish area had made possible the soliciting of sufficient funds to make the initial payment to the raining - making company. However, they said, several parishes have failed to raise sufficient funds, to meet their quota and the campaign will continue until enough money has been raised to make the next payment.

During the meeting W. M. Scott, Tallulah, and E. R. McDonald, Newellton, were appointed to investigate the legal process necessary to create a millage tax for the purpose of paying rain-makers in future years. The present contract will be effective through December.

Company representatives pointed out that this firm had also been approached by delegations from LaSalle, Concordia, and part of Catahoula parish concerning similar rain-making activities in those areas. He pointed out that it would be less expensive to residents of those parishes if they were served by a same operation as the Northeast Louisiana Water Resources Corporation.

The board of directors then passed a resolutions, permitting the three parishes to be served by the same operation, if and when they so desire, provided they have raised sufficient funds (1.6 cents per acre, plus $75 for forecast service and $100 parish operation expenses per parish. During the remainder of the year, the new parishes would have representation on the board of director, but no vote. A similar membership is presently held by Ward Nine of Catahoula parish.

Violent Storms Lash Wide Areas Of Southern U. S.

By UNITED PRESS

New tornadoes, a vast dust storm, brutal thunderstorms and hail lashed the southwest again Saturday.

A tornado that hit two miles west of Tarkio, Mo., during the early afternoon damaged farm buildings. A small tornado hit a farm east of Wewoka, Okla., before daylight, but there was little damage.

Three twisters came after a Friday night of mean weather that brought four tornadoes in Missouri, two in Oklahoma, two in Texas and one in Arkansas.

A tornado hit two farms south of Coin in southeastern Iowa and destroyed two barns, but no one was injured. South of Coin near Blanchard other farm damage was reported from twisters or wind storms. High winds in other Iowa areas caused additional destruction.

Dust yellowed the sky in West and Central Texas and Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, western New Mexico and part of western Nebraska. In some sectors of Oklahoma, it got so bad highway troopers discouraged travel.

The wind hit a 60-mile peak at Guymon, Okla., and visibility dropped to zero. It ranged from zero to 1,000 feet at many other points in the affected area and weather forecasters said the storm was growing.

Tornado alerts were issued in Arkansas, Missouri, including Kansas City, and 70 miles either side of a line from El Dorado, Ark., to Tupelo, Miss. A severe storm warning was issued for northeastern Oklahoma and for part of East Texas.

The weather bureau issued a new tornado warning for Arkansas late Saturday night. It said "numerous severe thunderstorms and one or two tornadoes are expected to occur until 3 a.m. Sunday in an area 50 miles either side of a line from Pine Bluff, Ark., to Bowling Green, Ky." It said a heavy squall line was between Walnut Ridge, Ark., and El Dorado, Ark., about 9 p.m. and moving eastward at 30 knots.

Part of the Kansas Relays were run in a rain and hailstorm. A squall line extending from St. Joseph, Mo., to Chanute, Kan., rolled northeast, spawning a series of violent thunderstorms.

Chanute, Kans., reported hail three-eights of an inch in diameter. The dust clouds were reported extending more than 12,000 feet high.

Visibility at Borger, in the Texas Panhandle, was an eighth of a mile at 2 p.m. The wind had dropped from a maximum of 55 miles an hour at Borger to 35, but all planes were grounded.

The worst of the dust in Texas was in the Panhandle, though the central part of the state was covered and the storm apparently was spreading all over the state.

Abilene reported two miles visibility, Mineral Wells a mile-and-a half, Fort Worth three miles, Dallas seven miles, Amarillo two-miles-and-a-half, and San Angelo four miles.

Dodge City, Kansas reported half a mile visibility, La Junta, Colo., reported a mile, and Hobbs, N.M., had a mile-and-a-half.

Stories, Rumors About Whitfield Being Studied

WASHINGTON, April 23—UP—The congressional Atomic Energy Committee is quietly sifting "stories and rumors" about Allen Whitfield, nominated by President Eisenhower to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D - N. M.) confirmed Saturday that his committee has undertaken a "careful check" of Whitfield's background. Whitfield, an Iowa attorney and prominent Republican, was appointed to a five-year term.

"We want to get to the bottom of stories and rumors that have been brought to us." Anderson said. He added that a member of the committee staff is making a second trip to Des Moines to gather information.

Other sources reported that a Sioux City, Iowa, tax case, in which Whitfield participated as an attorney, has figured in the committee's inquiry. Anderson refused to comment on those reports or to describe the nature of the stories being checked.

Another Democratic member said the committee, to date, has received nothing more than "suggestions" of improprieties. He said the future action of the committee will depend on whether any of them prove to have substance.

Anderson said the committee met on the nomination behind closed doors last week. Afterward committee aid Francis Cotter, who had made one trip to Des Moines, was instructed to return.

The chairman said the committee is trying to get full information on Whitfield just as it did in the case of Dr. John Von Neumann who was recently confirmed by the Senate as a member of the AEC.

Gas Rate Slashes For Small Area Towns Are Slated

BATON ROUGE, April 23 (UP)—A number of small Louisiana towns ranging from Bastrop to Slidell will receive rate reductions on natural gas bills starting May 15, the public service commission said today.

Commission chairman Wade O. Martin said the reductions will be retroactive to Aug. 1, 1954.

All the towns are served by the Louisiana Power and Light Co., which gets its gas from the United Gas Pipe Line Co.

Martin said towns affected in the South LP and L division are Amite, Covington, Hammond, Independence, Mandeville, Ponchatula and Slidell. About 8,000 customers there will get reductions amounting to about $31,600 a year, he said.

In the northern division, including Ferriday, Gilbert, Wisner, Forest, Mangham, Winnsboro, Bastrop, Collinston, Rayville, Bonita, Gallion and other rural areas, customers will get refunds at rates ranging from $1.88 to $2.18 per MCF.

The cuts are made possible, Martin explained, because the federal power commission has refused to permit United Gas to assess LP and L for the full amount of its gas hike.

Missing Barmaid Case Is Solved After 15 Years

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., April 23 (AP)—The 15-year-old mystery disappearance of a barmaid apparently was solved today with the discovery of a skeleton—minus the skull—which police said was that of Josie Fair.

Following the directions of Orville L. Warren, 57, and his wife, Gladys, 44, officers unearthed the bones after two hours of pre-dawn digging.

Shortly afterward they matched the skeleton with a previously unidentified skull found here in 1947, and coroner Fred Pearson officially identified the remains of the 30-year-old bar girl.

Each of the Warrens, who are charged with murder, have claimed the other actually killed the girl. Warren said he took her to his home here Feb. 18, 1940 for sex purposes, and that later his wife pushed Josie down the stairs.

The girl died about 20 minutes later, he added.

Mrs. Warren claims her husband killed Josie.

The body was buried beneath the concrete floor of the foundry where Warren was superintendent. The man said he buried the girl's decapitated body the following night while his wife stood watch.

Several days ago in Orlando, Fla., the Warrens gave Orange County Sheriff Dave Starr written statements charging each other with a string of killings in their home near Johnson City. The statement also told of numerous sex parties.

Police here were skeptical at first, but today's discovery gave an air of authenticity to the other killings mentioned in the statements. None of the other slayings were detailed, but police here plan to begin searching for additional bodies next week.

The bizarre case came to light after Warren was arrested in Orlando April 13 on a lunacy warrant sworn out by his wife. After being declared sane the next day, the machinist went to the sheriff's office there to make a statement.

The couple was returned to Tennessee yesterday.

PALSY DRIVE CHAIRMAN—Bobby Pappas, of Monroe, has been named chairman of the 1955 Cerebral Palsy campaign for the fifth district, embracing the 14 northeast Louisiana parishes. Pappas, a native of Little Rock, Ark., has been in Monroe for many years. He is past president of the Louisiana Restaurant Association and is now a member of the board. Ellender Thinks Capitol Building Still Adequate

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP) — Along with thousands of tourists, Sen. Ellender (D-La) took a proud look at the dome of the nation's Capitol today and promised a furious fight to prevent the building from becoming a museum.

"This fine old building is adequate for the Congress for many years to come," the fiery Louisiana senator exploded. "I'll battle all efforts to abandon it as long as I am here."

Ellender's outburst was a delayed protest against the recent comment by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) that the present Capitol, which was begun in 1793, is "becoming rapidly obsolete."

Bridges told the Senate that Congress now should be buying some nearby land to construct a "new modern capitol" where lawmakers could "function efficiently."

Conceding that he might stir up a tempest, Bridges said the present building could become "a historical monument, such as Mt. Vernon is today." He referred to the reconstructed home of George Washington on the bank of the Potomac.

Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) of the Senate Appropriations Committee agreed with Bridges.

Violently disagreeing, Ellender said he would fight the proposal to the last ditch.

"We've spent millions of dollars raising and repairing the roofs, installing air conditioning and providing vast space in new Senate and House office buildings," he said.

"Why, a new capitol building would cost from 100 to 150 million dollars. We'd have so much space that we'd have to rent out some to commercial outfits."

Instead, Ellender said he supports an old proposal, recently backed by House Speaker Rayburn, for rebuilding and extending the east front of the Capitol.

"I urged the same thing five or six years ago," Ellender said. "We could do it for maybe six or seven million dollars.

'Doom Town II' Atomic Blast Set For Tues. A. M.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 23—UP—An atomic device with twice the punch of those that blasted Japan into submission will be exploded against "Doom Town II" early Tuesday—weather permitting — to show how American cities would stand up against the blast, fire and radiation of nuclear warfare.

The only difference between the model community built on the Nevada desert 75 miles north of here and hundreds of American communities is that no one lives in Doom Town II.

Ten concrete, frame and cinder block homes and six metal industrial buildings have been erected on the Nevada proving grounds but their only occupants at "shot time"—5:20 a.m. PDT (6:20 a.m. CST) Tuesday—will be dummies.

The structures, interspersed with typical power, telephone and radio station towers, are located from one fifth of a mile to nearly three miles from the base of a 500-foot steel tower housing the experimental nuclear device.

More than 2,000 military and civilian observers—including women civil defense volunteers, for the first time—will crouch in trenches or huddle in heavy tanks less than two miles from the asphalted surface of "gorund zero" when the shot is fired.

Approximately 2,500 other men observe the explosion from hillside and women, including civil defense and state government officials from throughout the country, will positions several miles south of the Yucca Flat tower.

Immediately after the explosion, the tank-mounted troops, accompanied by a few newsmen, will maneuver through the blast-burned area moving as close to ground zero as possible.

Close range inspection of damage to the homes, simulated stores and shops, food supplies and other civil defense exhibits will not be permitted until the area is found radiologically safe. This is expected to be Wednesday morning.

Weather Halts Search For Boy In Vermilion Bay

NEW IBERIA, La., April 23 (AP)—Rough water and high winds in Vermilion Bay tonight halted the search for a 14-year-old boy who fell from the mast of his father's shrimp boat.

The boy, Robert Guidry of Golden Meadow, was untangling the mast rigging when high winds rocked the boat yesterday.

Sampson Guidry, his father, said he heard a thud and thought at first the trawler had struck a reef, but looked up and saw his son was gone.

He said the noise must have been the boy's body striking the boat's railing before he tumbled into the choppy sea.

Coast Guard storm warnings halted a search by a flotilla of more than 40 shrimp boats from Delcambre and other Gulf ports.

These plays to be staged are: "While the Toast Burned" by Mark Clarke Wests, "The Bishop and the Convict" by Pauline Phelps, and "His First Girl" by T. O. Hare.

LUCILLE MAE GRACE

Former Register State Land Office Will Be Candidate

Lucille May Grace, former register of the state land office, announced yesterday she will again be a candidate for the office in the 1956 Democratic primaries.

Defeated in 1952 for the post by Ellen Bryan Moore, Miss Grace had held the office since the death of her father, Fred J. Grace, in 1931, when she was appointed to the post by Huey P. Long. Thereafter she was elected each successive term until the lost election.

"I well realize," she said yesterday, "that the election of 1956 is still several months away, but to dispel any doubt about my future plans I now formally announce that I will be a candidate for register of the state land office."

Adding that she had given considerable thought to making the race, Miss Grace said she was making the announcement at this time "so that the many who have expressed an interest in my future may know of my plans."

Speaking of her record in the land office, Miss Grace pointed particularly to the case of the Tidelands oil.

"The first money to pour from the mineral leases into the state treasury from the water bottoms began under the administration of my father, the late Fred J. Grace," she said. "It was he, through legislative action, who gave the state of Louisiana this source of revenue which today is amounting to amazing figures. Millions and millions are pouring into the coffers of our state and as time goes on, the funds will increase far beyond our expectations."

"When previous national administrations sought to take from the states and particularly the coast states these rich oil producing water bottoms, Lucille May Grace was among the very first public officials to recognize the threat to our sovereign right, the first Louisiana officials to speak out against this unjust and threatening situation," she said.

"It gives me a sense of personal pride to know that I contributed in some measure to the millions of dollars that are now flowing into our treasury from tidelands revenue," she added. "I travelled the length and breath of Louisiana, speaking to the police jurors, sheriffs, assessors in their conventions. I went to every place where there was a gathering urging them to become interested in this great fight.

"In Washington, back in the days when Congressional committees were still listening to the voice of the people, I appeared, endeavoring to maintain Louisiana's claim to this rich treasure."

Concluding, Miss Grace said she is submitting to the voters "a record of honorable service and my wealth of experience" and an "established record of integrity and capability."

Killed By Auto Bomb

Trial Of Houston Man For Death Of Former Mother-In-Law To Open

SAN ANGELO, Tex., April 23 (AP)—Shy, quiet Harry L. Washburn comes to trial Monday with the defense that he was 400 miles away when a cleverly devised auto bomb blasted his former mother-in-law to death here Jan. 19.

Prosecutors claim only a wild midnight drive got the 38-year-old Houston contractor back home before the dynamite trap exploded.

Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver, 51, ranchwoman and civic leader, died when she pressed the starter of a family car that fateful morning.

Ten sticks of dynamite wired to the electrical system of the year-old car exploded, tossing chunks of the engine a block away.

Investigation of the wealthy and attractive woman's death caused a furore in this prosperous west Texas ranching center. It hasn't settled yet.

Washburn was arrested Jan. 29 and charged with murder. On Feb. 12 he and a tough jail-breaking ex-convict, Andrew H. Nelson, 45, who said he showed Washburn how to make a dynamited bomb, were indicted for murder.

Nelson's trial will be called later.

"They indicted the wrong people," Washburn said in jail.

"I was the one they were trying to get," Harry E. Weaver, 60, well-known architect and a non-salaried civilian consultant for the Navy Public Works Department, told The Associated Press.

Officers agreed with Mrs. Weaver's husband. They said her death was a "mistake" and that Washburn had plotted for nearly a year to ambush Weaver.

Mrs. Adela Heninger, 24, a sometimes professional woman wrestler known as "Nature Girl," told police Washburn wanted Weaver killed so he could extort $100,000 from Mrs. Weaver. She said Washburn dubbed Mrs. Weaver "a soft touch."

Weaver has said that he and his wife had trouble with Washburn after her daughter, now Mrs. Helen Willcockson of Billings, Mont., got a divorce from Washburn in 1950. He said he had asked dismissal of assault to murder charges filed in 1951 against Washburn because Mrs. Weaver "didn't want any kind of publicity that would hurt the family." The felony complaint charged Washburn with terrorizing the Weavers at their plush ranch home north of here and demanding that Mrs. Weaver give him a check for $20,000.

Weaver said his former son-in-law felt that the Weavers had interfered in the daughter's marriage.

Water Resources Board Okays Pact With Rainmakers

Meeting in special session here yesterday the board of directors of the Northeast Louisiana Water Resources Corporation voted to sign a contract with Ervin P. Krick, Inc., of Texas, to engage in rainmaking activities in a nine parish area during the remainder of the year.

The board explained that a canvass of business and professional people and large planters in the nine parish area had made possible the soliciting of sufficient funds to make the initial payment to the raining - making company. However, they said, several parishes have failed to raise sufficient funds, to meet their quota and the campaign will continue until enough money has been raised to make the next payment.

During the meeting W. M. Scott, Tallulah, and E. R. McDonald, Newellton, were appointed to investigate the legal process necessary to create a millage tax for the purpose of paying rain-makers in future years. The present contract will be effective through December.

Company representatives pointed out that this firm had also been approached by delegations from LaSalle, Concordia, and part of Catahoula parish concerning similar rain-making activities in those areas. He pointed out that it would be less expensive to residents of those parishes if they were served by a same operation as the Northeast Louisiana Water Resources Corporation.

The board of directors then passed a resolutions, permitting the three parishes to be served by the same operation, if and when they so desire, provided they have raised sufficient funds (1.6 cents per acre, plus $75 for forecast service and $100 parish operation expenses per parish. During the remainder of the year, the new parishes would have representation on the board of director, but no vote. A similar membership is presently held by Ward Nine of Catahoula parish.

Violent Storms Lash Wide Areas Of Southern U. S.

By UNITED PRESS

New tornadoes, a vast dust storm, brutal thunderstorms and hail lashed the southwest again Saturday.

A tornado that hit two miles west of Tarkio, Mo., during the early afternoon damaged farm buildings. A small tornado hit a farm east of Wewoka, Okla., before daylight, but there was little damage.

Three twisters came after a Friday night of mean weather that brought four tornadoes in Missouri, two in Oklahoma, two in Texas and one in Arkansas.

A tornado hit two farms south of Coin in southeastern Iowa and destroyed two barns, but no one was injured. South of Coin near Blanchard other farm damage was reported from twisters or wind storms. High winds in other Iowa areas caused additional destruction.

Dust yellowed the sky in West and Central Texas and Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, western New Mexico and part of western Nebraska. In some sectors of Oklahoma, it got so bad highway troopers discouraged travel.

The wind hit a 60-mile peak at Guymon, Okla., and visibility dropped to zero. It ranged from zero to 1,000 feet at many other points in the affected area and weather forecasters said the storm was growing.

Tornado alerts were issued in Arkansas, Missouri, including Kansas City, and 70 miles either side of a line from El Dorado, Ark., to Tupelo, Miss. A severe storm warning was issued for northeastern Oklahoma and for part of East Texas.

The weather bureau issued a new tornado warning for Arkansas late Saturday night. It said "numerous severe thunderstorms and one or two tornadoes are expected to occur until 3 a.m. Sunday in an area 50 miles either side of a line from Pine Bluff, Ark., to Bowling Green, Ky." It said a heavy squall line was between Walnut Ridge, Ark., and El Dorado, Ark., about 9 p.m. and moving eastward at 30 knots.

Part of the Kansas Relays were run in a rain and hailstorm. A squall line extending from St. Joseph, Mo., to Chanute, Kan., rolled northeast, spawning a series of violent thunderstorms.

Chanute, Kans., reported hail three-eights of an inch in diameter. The dust clouds were reported extending more than 12,000 feet high.

Visibility at Borger, in the Texas Panhandle, was an eighth of a mile at 2 p.m. The wind had dropped from a maximum of 55 miles an hour at Borger to 35, but all planes were grounded.

The worst of the dust in Texas was in the Panhandle, though the central part of the state was covered and the storm apparentiy was spreading all over the state.

Abilene reported two miles visibility, Mineral Wells a mile-and-a half, Fort Worth three miles, Dallas seven miles, Amarillo two-miles-and-a-half, and San Angelo four miles.

Dodge City, Kansas reported half a mile visibility. La Junta, Colo., reported a mile, and Hobbs, N.M., had a mile-and-a-half.

Stories, Rumors About Whitfield Being Studied

WASHINGTON, April 23—UP—The congressional Atomic Energy Committee is quietly sifting "stories and rumors" about Allen Whitfield, nominated by President Eisenhower to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D - N. M.) confirmed Saturday that his committee has undertaken a "careful check" of Whitfield's background. Whitfield, an Iowa attorney and prominent Republican was appointed to a five-year term.

"We want to get to the bottom of stories and rumors that have been brought to us." Anderson said. He added that a member of the committee staff is making a second trip to Des Moines to gather information.

Other sources reported that a Sioux City, Iowa, tax case, in which Whitfield participated as an attorney, has figured in the committee's inquiry. Anderson refused to comment on those reports or to describe the nature of the stories being checked.

Another Democratic member said the committee, to date, has received nothing more than "suggestions" of improprieties. He said the future action of the committee will depend on whether any of them prove to have substance.

Anderson said the committee met on the nomination behind closed doors last week. Afterward committee aid Francis Cotter, who had made one trip to Des Moines was instructed to return.

The chairman said the committee is trying to get full information on Whitfield just as it did in the case of Dr. John Von Neumann who was recently confirmed by the Senate as a member of the AEC.

Gas Rate Slashes For Small Area Towns Are Slated

BATON ROUGE, April 23 (UP)—A number of small Louisiana towns ranging from Bastrop to Slidell will receive rate reductions on natural gas bills starting May 15 the public service commission said today.

Commission chairman Wade O. Martin said the reductions will be retroactive to Aug. 1, 1954.

All the towns are served by the Louisiana Power and Light Co., which gets its gas from the United Gas Pipe Line Co.

Martin said towns affected in the South LP and L division are Amite, Covington, Hammond, Independence, Mandeville, Ponchatula and Slidell. About 8,000 customers there will get reductions amounting to about $31,600 a year, he said.

In the northern division, including Ferriday, Gilbert, Wisner, Forest, Mangham, Winnsboro, Bastrop, Collinston, Rayville, Bonita, Gallion and other rural areas, customers will get refunds at rates ranging from $1.88 to $2.18 per MCF.

The cuts are made possible, Martin explained, because the federal power commission has refused to permit United Gas to assess LP and L for the full amount of its gas hike.

Record Stock Market Rise Falters A Bit As Rumors Come True

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—The stock market's record rise faltered a little this week under the weight of rumors that came true.

Wall Street's traders and investors were nervous because the market's long advance made it an easy prey to reaction.

Most of the week there were Wall Street rumors that the Federal Reserve Board might raise margin requirements or gain boost the discount rate in an effort to brake the market's advance.

These rumors in themselves were enough to make jittery traders sell to take the profits they already had in hand.

On Friday night long after Wall Street had been deserted by all but a handful of clerks and watchmen, the Federal Reserve Board in Washington boosted margin requirements to 70 per cent from 60 per cent.

That means you now can borrow only 30 cents and must put up 70 cents of your own money for every dollar's worth of stock you buy.

Most stocks are bought for cash. Margin trading is a minor market factor right now. That speculative fringe, however, has been growing in importance. This week the loans to brokers and dealers for use in margin trading reached an 11-year peak at $1,820,000,000. That total is quite small, of course, when compared with the total market value of nearly 176 billion dollars of all securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

There was no indication that the board might raise the discount rate which has just been increased to 1¾ per cent from 1½ per cent. The discount rate is the amount the Federal Reserve charges its member banks for money they borrow. All interest rates tend to follow the direction of the discount rate.

Changing margin requirements and the discount rate are the two great tools the federal government has for regulating the amount of credit available for speculation in the stock market.

There is one great difference between them—changes in margins directly affect the stock market while changes in the discount rate affect all business including the stock market.

Margins last were raised early in January to 60 per cent from 50 per cent.

Brokers in January quickly got their margin accounts in order, and they contend that they still are in such condition that few, if any, calls will be necessary to get customers to put up more money.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Libby, McNeill & Libby up 3⅛ at 22⅞, Pennsylvania Railroad unchanged at 28, New York Central up 1⅝ at 42⅛, Budd off ⅛ at 21⅞, and Avco unchanged at 7⅞.

The bond market churned irregularly this week as interest rates inched upward.

The Treasury sold 1½ billion dollars of short-term bills at an average interest cost of 1.664 per cent, highest since the government paid 1.704 per cent in mid-December, 1953.

But the bond market refused to give ground in the face of the trend to higher interests rates. Some investment quality corporates eased, but others improved slightly. Government liens backed and filled, finally ending a trifle lower.

Record Stock Market Rise Falters A Bit As Rumors Come True

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—The stock market's record rise faltered a little this week under the weight of rumors that came true.

Wall Street's traders and investors were nervous because the market's long advance made it an easy prey to reaction.

Most of the week there were Wall Street rumors that the Federal Reserve Board might raise margin requirements or gain boost the discount rate in an effort to brake the market's advance.

These rumors in themselves were enough to make jittery traders sell to take the profits they already had in hand.

On Friday night long after Wall Street had been deserted by all but a handful of clerks and watchmen, the Federal Reserve Board in Washington boosted margin requirements to 70 per cent from 60 per cent.

That means you now can borrow only 30 cents and must put up 70 cents of your own money for every dollar's worth of stock you buy.

Most stocks are bought for cash. Margin trading is a minor market factor right now. That speculative fringe, however, has been growing in importance. This week the loans to brokers and dealers for use in margin trading reached an 11-year peak at $1,820,000,000. That total is quite small, of course, when compared with the total market value of nearly 176 billion dollars of all securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

There was no indication that the board might raise the discount rate which has just been increased to 1¾ per cent from 1½ per cent. The discount rate is the amount the Federal Reserve charges its member banks for money they borrow. All interest rates tend to follow the direction of the discount rate.

Changing margin requirements and the discount rate are the two great tools the federal government has for regulating the amount of credit available for speculation in the stock market.

There is one great difference between them—changes in margins directly affect the stock market while changes in the discount rate affect all business including the stock market.

Margins last were raised early in January to 60 per cent from 50 per cent.

Brokers in January quickly got their margin accounts in order, and they contend that they still are in such condition that few, if any, calls will be necessary to get customers to put up more money.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Libby, McNeill & Libby up 3⅛ at 22⅞, Pennsylvania Railroad unchanged at 28, New York Central up 1⅝ at 42⅛, Budd off ⅛ at 21⅞, and Avco unchanged at 7⅞.

The bond market churned irregularly this week as interest rates inched upward.

The Treasury sold 1½ billion dollars of short-term bills at an average interest cost of 1.664 per cent, highest since the government paid 1.704 per cent in mid-December, 1953.

But the bond market refused to give ground in the face of the trend to higher interests rates. Some investment quality corporates eased, but others improved slightly. Government liens backed and filled, finally ending a trifle lower.

School Board Releases Plans For Bonded Money

T. H. Scott, president of the Monroe city school board, released Saturday details of the disposition of funds, should the property owners of the city approve a $1,200,000 bond issue, which has been called for May 10. Scott, in announcing the plans for use of money to be raised in the issue, pointed out that the plans are tentative "upon what we are able to do with the amount obtained."

However, Scott explained, "we have definite plans, with the only thing 'tentative' as far as the board is concerned, is whether to build 12 or 14 classroom buildings or six or eight additions to present buildings. Of course, we hope to use the larger number, but this depends upon the funds available and the costs per room."

Basically, the bond issue is for the improvement and renovation of the older schools, usually referred to as the Lida Benton, Barkdull Faulk and Georgia Tucker [illegible] mar schools, and the addition to some existing buildings, plus the erection of three new grammar schools. These improvements will include both white and Negro buildings, it was specifically pointed out by the board president.

In connection with the three older grammar schools, Scott said the renovation will include things as the modernization of present plumbing facilities, complete repairing of the buildings and the addition of new electrical equipment where needed and possible with the rewiring, and a paint job.

"Nearly all of the wiring needs to be done over," Scott said, "in these three buildings. There have from time to time, been small repair jobs on the wiring systems, but a complete wiring has not been done. This we propose and earnestly want to do with this money."

Then turning to the new schools which are presently in existence, Scott said additions are "urgently needed" on Lexington, Plum Street and the Carver Schools. (The first two are white schools, with the Carver school being used by Negroes.)

Plans for these schools, all of which are tentative upon the passage of the bond issue and the amount needed for each room to be constructed, call for additions to be built of the same structure as the buildings. The Lexington and Carver schools will have eight new rooms, while Plum street will have six. These eight room additions will include seven classrooms with one for plumbing and toilet facilities.

The three new buildings, all elementary schools, will be of either 12 or 14 classrooms with additional rooms for the toilet facilities and principal offices. There will be two white schools and one Negro with the former located on the north and south sides and the Negro school in or near the Booker T. Washington area. The money dedicated to each of these schools will include the purchase of the site, Scott said.

This new Negro elementary school will considerably aid in the relief of conditions at the Clark Elementary school, school officials pointed out.

Scott pointed out that from 1929 to 1950 there had been no bond issues called for the construction of schools. "While we feel this is no fault of any of the boards during this time, due to the lack of substantial growth in the school population," Scott said, "this is showing up appreciably on the condition of the older school buildngs in our system. This is the reason we must use some of the presently proposed bond issue for renovation of these schools."

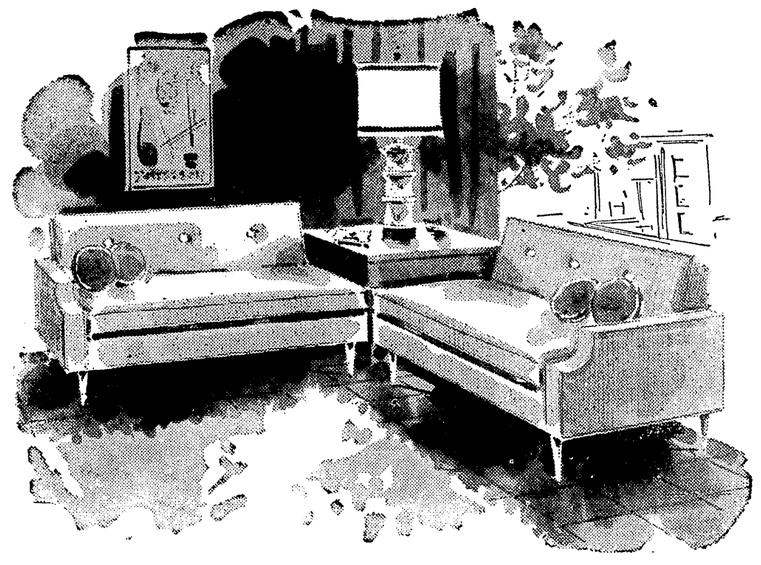

Three Americans out of eight use daylight saving time.

Monsignor J. C. Marsh read the nuptial mass and the Rev. David Debria gave the translation. Picturesque arrangements of Easter lilies formed a beautiful background for the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Della Williamson, organist, accompanied Charles Bigger who sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelus."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was of white florentine lace and tulle over satin with a sculptured bodice of scalloped lace and tulle folds highlighted by paillettes and seed pearls. The very full lace skirt featured a fan-shaped panel of pleated tulle which extended into a cathedral-length train. Her paillette and Pearl crown held a three-tiered illusion veil. She carried a mother of pearl missal with a white orchid and stephanotis.

For something old, the bride chose an heirloom brooch which belonged to her great grandmother.

Miss Carole Ann Tonore served as aid of honor. Her waltz-length gown was of nile green taffeta featuring a long torso and bouffant skirt. She carried talisman roses.

The bridesmaids' gowns were fashioned of pale orchid and were identical to the honor attendant. Miss Betty Britt, Miss Frances Fontana, Miss Anna Marie Danna and Miss Marietta Spatafora were the bride's attendants. They carried bouquets of dutch iris.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a beige lace and tulle model complimented by a matching orchid.

Mrs. Stratton, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a blue silk print trimmed in sequins. She wore matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception followed the wedding in the Mirror room of the Frances Hotel.

The bride's table was decorated in white and featured tulle wedding bells and greenery. Centering the table was the four-tiered wedding cake. Bridal slippers with arrangements of sweetheart roses and stephanotis were placed at the corners. White tapers in silver candelabra were used on each side.

Miss Maria Maggio presided at the guest book. Assisting with the courtesies were Miss E. L. McEnany, aunt of the bride, Mrs. L. McCarthy, Mrs. D. E. Bivins and Mrs. Ed Lohan.

Psychologist Speaks On Needs Of Children

On Thursday Mr. Robert C. Canedo, clinical psychologist, spoke to the Plum Street School P.-T. A. at its regular meeting. He spoke on the emotional needs of children and listed the eight needs as love, security, acceptance as a person, self-esteem, achievement, recognition, independence and authority.

He stated further that children do not need encouragement to grow for their entire drive is toward growth, real growth. How fast or how well they grow depends on the feelings of the adults about them and on the feelings within themselves.

Feeling free to grow and feeling able to grow are the keys to growth. Mr. Canedo concluded that parental love is the most powerful, most constructive force in a child's growth.

Also appearing on the program were Mr. W. S. Gannaway, member of the Monroe city school board and Mr. Van Odom, superintendent of city schools. They presented in a most understandable manner the need for the coming election on the school bonds.

The room count was won by Miss Minard's first grade and Mrs. Miller's sixth grade. Refreshments were served by the room mothers of the first grades.

Modern Homes Are Noisier

CHICAGO — Modern homes are noisier than old-fashioned ones says one manufacturer of building materials.

And the things that make them modern are making the noise.

Big picture windows hard surfaces on walls and ceilings extensive use of polished tile ,all tend to bounce sound waves rather than absorb them, according to the manufacturer. Celotex Corporation).

In older homes, furnaces generally were in high-ceilinged basements. Now, noisy heating units often are placed in utility rooms in the center or rear of a house.

The clatter of dishwashing often can be heard throughout one-story homes, now that kitchens frequently are separated only by a shoulder-high partition from the dining area.

MISS LONA GAYE NALE'S betrothal to Louie Gene Sanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sanford of Arcadia, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Nale of Truxno. The wedding will be an event of June 10 at 6 o'clock at the Bird Chapel Methodist Church in Truxno.

ELOY FOMINAYA, concert Master of the Twin Cities Symphony Orchestra, will be a featured artist in the final concert of the season on April 28 at 8:30 p.m. in Brown auditorium at Northeast State College.

Violinist To Be Presented At Final Symphony Concert

Eloy Fominaya, is a violinist of remarkable talents, who has to his credit an unusually broad experience with orchestral and symphonic organizations, as well as many honors attesting his virtuosity. It is with no small degree of pride that the Monroe-West Monroe Symphony Orchestra Association presents him, in concert, with the Orchestra on Thursday evening April, 28, as the featured artist in Mendelssohn's Concerto in E minor for violin and orchestra.

Fominaya, who is in his third year as assistant professor of music at N. E. College, is concert master of the Twin Cities Orchestra. He was one of the active participants in the formation of this organization, and has contributed his time and efforts unselfishly, from its inception to-date, toward the growth and success which it now enjoys.

All music lovers, who take pride in this amazingly fine young orchestra, will be deeply impressed by our good fortune in having a musician of his caliber in our midst, when they hear his brilliant playing on Thursday night, at Brown Auditorium, N. E. College.

A native of New York City, Mr. Fominaya received his early education in Washington D. C. He began his study of violin at the tender age of six, and has studied with such teachers as Josef Kasper, Mary Parks Clements, George Hrusa and Herbert Butler.

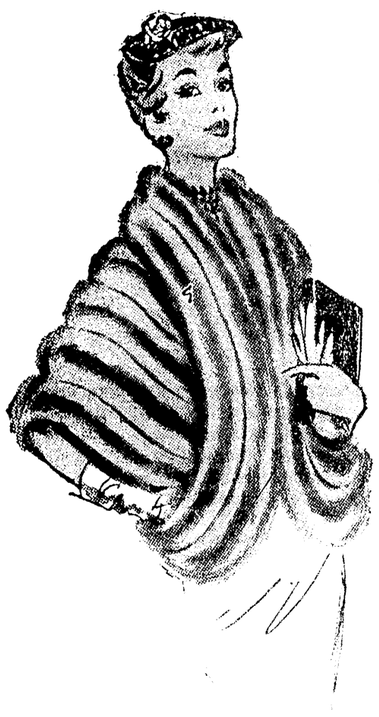

He attended Julliard School of Music, Lawrence College, Appleton Wisc., Columbia University, Michigan State College, Baylor University, and North Texas State College, Denton Texas. At Lawrence College, in 1950, he received his Bachelor of Music degree, cum laude, in violin and instrumental supervision. He received his Master's degree in music from the N. E. Texas State College, in violin and composition, in 1953.

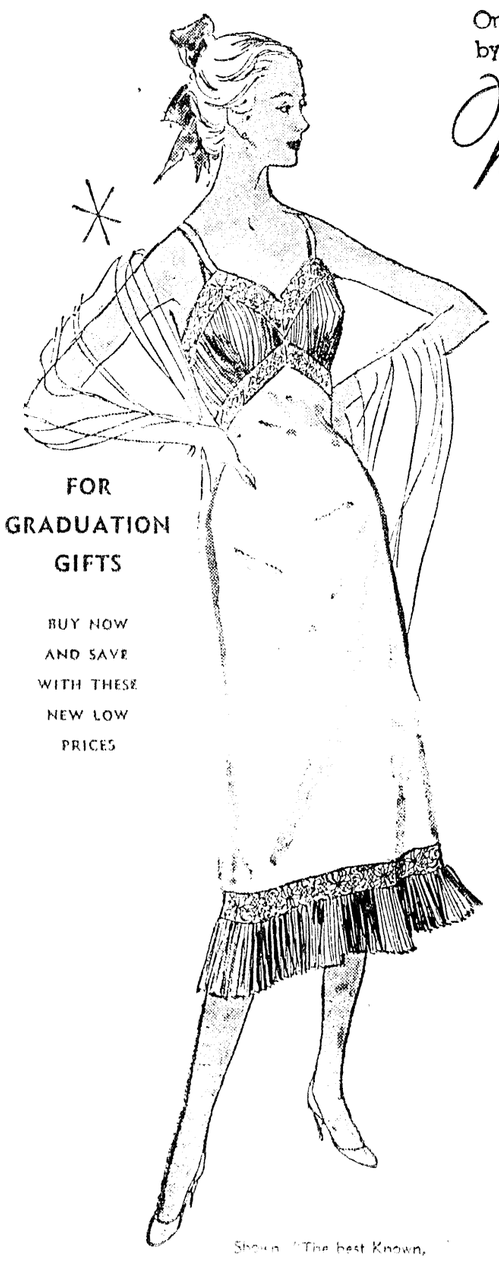

He has had extensive orchestral experience, serving as first violinist with the Maryland All State Orchestra, The Chicago Civic Orchestra, the Julliard Orchestra, Green Bay Symphony, Baylor Symphony and the North Texas Symphony, as well as being concert master with the Lawrence Symphony Orchestra and the Oshkosh, Wisc. Symphony.

He served with the fourth infantry division on a forward observation team, during World War II, participating in the Normandy invasion and successive engagements until VE day. He was awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart with cluster.

MRS. AIMEE COOK

Mrs. Aimee Cook Honored At Afternoon Tea

Mrs. Aimee Cook, who has followed the teaching profession for many years and who for the past several years has served as principal of the W. R. Mitchell school, and is now retiring, was honored at a tea on Sunday afternoon.

Receiving with Mrs. Cook, who was wearing a dress of blue linen with a purple orchid pinned at her shoulder were Mrs. Jack Gatlin, president of the P.-T. A., Mr. W. W. Ward, superintendent, Miss Gertrude Gregory, classroom supervisor, and Mrs. Willis Williams, former classroom supervisor.

Pouring tea and coffee during the party hours were Mrs. C. H. Tait, Mrs. Thomas Gilhula, Mrs. Jack Willis, Mrs. Robert McNeely, Mrs. E. J. Norman and Miss Fannie Oxford.

The tea girls were Miss Patty Williams, Miss Janice Gallien, Miss Kay Butler, Miss Judy Lebangood, Miss Judy Pankey, Miss Donna Thompson, and Miss Jennifer Chavis.

Girl Scout News

We'll be willing to bet that no youngsters in the Twin Cities had a happier time this week-end than the more-than-one-hundred Brownie Scouts, some twenty-five others and leaders and a few little brothers and sisters who spent the day at Pine Wood. It was their special day as a reward for selling a large number of cookies in the recent sale.

Starting with a flag ceremony by Troop 24, the day was filled with games and singing and getting acquainted, exploring the campsite - maybe for the first time - and having lunch together at noon. The large group was divided into patrols, with each patrol assigned to two adults and each given a different color ribbon to wear for identification.

Pine Wood was really humming with activity, as Troop 26 had spent Friday night there and was still in camp Saturday. They planned to cook their noon meal in another part of camp, undisturbed by the group of younger girls.

This week-end was not only a big one for the Brownies, but for the Senior Scouts as well. Twelve of them, Ingrid Peterson, Betty Hines, Betty Hemphill, Marie Nelson, Sue Grower, Malise Mapp, JoAnn Usrey, Nancy Breard, Beverly Rushing, Charlotte Bruscato, Linda Eby, and Daveen Barksdale, with Mrs. Robert Easterling, troop leader, Mrs. E. N. Hemphill and Mrs. J. W. Usrey, of the troop committee went to New Orleans for the State Senior Conference. The group is due back today and maybe we can pick up some interesting details by next Sunday.

For their first backyard cookout the girls of Troop 44 made campfire stew last week in the yard of Mrs. M. L. Dickerson. She and Mrs. Clyde Butler, leaders of the troop, helped the girls learn to build a fire, using safety precautions, to soap the outside of the cooking pot, to follow a kaper chart, and to make delicious campfire stew. After watching what went into the pot, and smelling the tantalizing aroma, the girls became so hungry that they could hardly wait to taste the stew. All ported they liked it, and second helpings were in order, so their leaders report.

That sounds like a good start for an outdoor-minded troop. These are the girls who, their leaders say, made an excellent job of their first cook out: Patricia Kemp, Gloria Alford, Cheryl Brooks, Elaine Butler, Amanda Cobb, Carol Culpepper, Sharon Cunningham, Jean Coates, Patricia Dickerson, Brenda Sue Ingram, Barbara Ann Koontz, Lereta Patton, Joyce Porter, Betty Strickland, Elizabeth Snapp and Janet Whitney.

We haven't told you about the overnight at camp that some of the girls of Troop 21 enjoyed a week or so ago. Mrs. Raymond Boyd, leader, helped the girls plan the day and evening so that there would be time for the group to learn lashing and to lash a table near one of the faucets at camp. To cut the right kind of sticks, learn how to lash them (the group had practiced once at meeting) and actually lash something useful for camp is no small job, but with the help of Senior Scout Betty Hemphill who went along, the girls did a very creditable job, their leader says. The following girls went to camp: Christine Sandl, Janet McBride, Lynda Bassett, Pat Bassett, Laura Gaviolle, Betty Lewis, Mary Evelyn Robinson, Barbara Worley and Marguerite May.

Leaders meeting is planned for Pine Wood for next Thursday, according to president Irma Ford. The plan is to leave at 8:30 or 9:00, take a nosebag lunch and a drinking cup. Coffee and cold drinks will be furnished. Most leaders will leave camp about 1:00. If kou'd like to go, plan to get up a carful of people, or call the office and someone will come for you. It

MISS MARILYN ALBRITTON, daughter of Mr. A. W. Albritton and the late Mrs. Albritton of Farmerville, La., will become the bride of Herbert Barefoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barefoot of this city. The wedding will be an event of May 7 at Park View Baptist Church.

Delta Beta Sigma Sorority Observes 25th Anniversary

Tau chapter of Delta Beta Sigma national high school sorority celebrated the 25th anniversary for the chapter with a Silver Anniversary Tea in the Weldman home on Essex Drive, Saturday from 3 to 5 in the afternoon. Members and pledges of the sorority were hostesses for alumnae and mothers of the sorority.

Arrangements for the tea were made by Miss Nell Coulter assisted by Mrs. Scott A. Hamilton, mother of the sorority.

Silver vases with floral arrangements of purple tulips and golden iris were used in the receiving rooms and throughout the Weldman home. Mrs. Richard Pierce, alumnae member and daughter, Peggy, Mrs. J. H. Trousdale, charter member and daughter, King, received members, their mothers and alumnae who formed a guest list of more than 250 callers to celebrate the anniversary.

A silver epergne of purple tulips interspersed with yellow pansies and fruit centered the lace covered tea table. Mrs. Ben Oliphant, lady sponsor and Mrs. Roy McCue, charter member poured punch from a silver bowl, small Tau embossed cakes, cheese straws and finger sandwiches on silver trays were served by Delta Beta Sigma pledges, and mothers of members, Mrs. A. G. Olcott and Mrs. George Forman.

Mrs. M. Weldman graciously circulated the guests to informal conversational groups so that alumnae members of the sorority could recall past events of the sorority. Tau chapter of Delta Beta Sigma was organized in 1930 by members of El Dorado, Ark. The Military Mollies and Triangle Club were local clubs for high school girls in Monroe who felt a national sorority would give them high ideals for sisterhood and far-reaching contacts with girls from other states.

Air Conditioning Held Healthful

OMAHA, Neb. — You can forget those fears that working in an air-conditioned building in the summer, then walking into a steaming-hot street will affect your health.

So says John W. James, Chicago, vice president of the American Society of Heating and Air Conditioning Engineers.

James said research experts have shown that there is no harmful "shock effect" from going into a warmer atmosphere.

It has not been determined, he said, which temperatures are most healthful. However he said it is known that cool air benefits sufferers of asthma and hay fever.

Many Women Start Day Eating Wrong

MADISON, Wis. — Research at a University of Wisconsin experimental station shows that three out of four women eat poor breakfasts.

Most of the women tested preferred toast and coffee or cereal and coffee for breakfast, while others started the day with fruit, toast, and coffee.

The experts said that these breakfasts don't give women the right amount of proteins and they recommend an egg or a glass of milk to remedy the situation.

Sesame seed is also known as "Benne" or "Bene" seed. It has a pleasant faintly nutty flavor and is good sprinkled on cookies, rolls and biscuits before baking.

MRS. AIMEE COOK

Mrs. Aimee Cook Honored At Afternoon Tea

Mrs. Aimee Cook, who has followed the teaching profession for many years and who for the past several years has served as principal of the W. R. Mitchell school, and is now retiring, was honored at a tea on Sunday afternoon.

In the auditorium of the school, members of the Parent - Teachers Association and Faculty, greeted the many friends in the Twin Cities and community who called during the hours of 3 and 6.

Bouquets of blush pink carnations, stock and gladioli were used with white tulips for decorations. The tea table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of the same blossoms. Pink candles burned in silver candelabra at either side.

Receiving with Mrs. Cook, who was wearing a dress of blue linen with a purple orchid pinned at her shoulder were Mrs. Jack Gatlin, president of the P.-T. A., Mr. W. W. Ward, superintendent, Miss Gertrude Gregory, classroom supervisor, and Mrs. Willis Williams, former classroom supervisor.

Pouring tea and coffee during the party hours were Mrs. C. H. Tait, Mrs. Thomas Gilhula, Mrs. Jack Willis, Mrs. Robert McNeely, Mrs. E. J. Norman and Miss Fannie Oxford.

The tea girls were Miss Patty Williams, Miss Janice Gallien, Miss Kay Butler, Miss Judy Lebangood, Miss Judy Pankey, Miss Donna Thompson, and Miss Jennifer Chavis.

Girl Scout News

We'll be willing to bet that no youngsters in the Twin Cities had a happier time this week-end than the more-than-one-hundred Brownie Scouts, some twenty-five others and leaders and a few little brothers and sisters who spent the day at Pine Wood. It was their special day as a reward for selling a large number of cookies in the recent sale.

Starting with a flag ceremony by Troop 24, the day was filled with games and singing and getting acquainted, exploring the campsite - maybe for the first time - and having lunch together at noon. The large group was divided into patrols, with each patrol assigned to two adults and each given a different color ribbon to wear for identification.

Pine Wood was really humming with activity, as Troop 26 had spent Friday night there and was still in camp Saturday. They planned to cook their noon meal in another part of camp, undisturbed by the group of younger girls.

This week-end was not only a big one for the Brownies, but for the Senior Scouts as well. Twelve of them, Ingrid Peterson, Betty Hines, Betty Hemphill, Marie Nelson, Sue Grower, Malise Mapp, JoAnn Usrey, Nancy Breard, Beverly Rushing, Charlotte Bruscato, Linda Eby, and Daveen Barksdale, with Mrs. Robert Easterling, troop leader, Mrs. E. N. Hemphill and Mrs. J. W. Usrey, of the troop committee went to New Orleans for the State Senior Conference. The group is due back today and maybe we can pick up some interesting details by next Sunday.

For their first backyard cookout the girls of Troop 44 made campfire stew last week in the yard of Mrs. M. L. Dickerson. She and Mrs. Clyde Butler, leaders of the troop, helped the girls learn to build a fire, using safety precautions, to soap the outside of the cooking pot, to follow a kaper chart, and to make delicious campfire stew. After watching what went into the pot, and smelling the tantalizing aroma, the girls became so hungry that they could hardly wait to taste the stew. All ported they liked it. and second helpings were in order, so their leaders report.

That sounds like a good start for an outdoor-minded troop. These are the girls who, their leaders say, made an excellent job of their first cook out: Patricia Kemp, Gloria Alford, Cheryl Brooks, Elaine Butler, Amanda Cobb, Carol Culpepper, Sharon Cunningham, Jean Coates, Patricia Dickerson, Brenda Sue Ingram, Barbara Ann Koontz, Lereta Patton, Joyce Porter, Betty Strickland, Elizabeth Snapp and Janet Whitney.

We haven't told you about the overnight at camp that some of the girls of Troop 21 enjoyed a week or so ago. Mrs. Raymond Boyd, leader, helped the girls plan the day and evening so that there would be time for the group to learn lashing and to lash a table near one of the faucets at camp. To cut the right kind of sticks, learn how to lash them (the group had practiced once at meeting) and actually lash something useful for camp is no small job, but with the help of Senior Scout Betty Hemphill who went along, the girls did a very creditable job, their leader says. The following girls went to camp: Christine Sandl, Janet McBride, Lynda Bassett, Pat Bassett, Laura Gaviolle, Betty Lewis, Mary Evelyn Robinson, Barbara Worley and Marguerite May.

Leaders meeting is planned for Pine Wood for next Thursday, according to president Irma Ford. The plan is to leave at 8:30 or 9:00, take a nosebag lunch and a drinking cup. Coffee and cold drinks will be furnished. Most leaders will leave camp about 1:00. If kou'd like to go, plan to get up a carful of people, or call the office and someone will come for you. It

MISS MARILYN ALBRITTON, daughter of Mr. A. W. Albritton and the late Mrs. Albritton of Farmerville, La., will become the bride of Herbert Barefoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barefoot of this city. The wedding will be an event of May 7 at Park View Baptist Church.

Delta Beta Sigma Sorority Observes 25th Anniversary

Tau chapter of Delta Beta Sigma national high school sorority celebrated the 25th anniversary for the chapter with a Silver Anniversary Tea in the Weldman home on Essex Drive, Saturday from 3 to 5 in the afternoon. Members and pledges of the sorority were hostesses for alumnae and mothers of the sorority.

Arrangements for the tea were made by Miss Nell Coulter assisted by Mrs. Scott A. Hamilton, mother of the sorority.

Silver vases with floral arrangements of purple tulips and golden iris were used in the receiving rooms and throughout the Weldman home. Mrs. Richard Pierce, alumnae member and daughter, Peggy, Mrs. J. H. Trousdale, charter member and daughter, King, received members, their mothers and alumnae who formed a guest list of more than 250 callers to celebrate the anniversary.

A silver epergne of purple tulips interspersed with yellow pansies and fruit centered the lace covered tea table. Mrs. Ben Oliphant, lady sponsor and Mrs. Roy McCue, charter member poured punch from a silver bowl, small Tau embossed cakes, cheese straws and finger sandwiches on silver trays were served by Delta Beta Sigma pledges, and mothers of members, Mrs. A. G. Olcott and Mrs. George Forman.

Mrs. M. Weldman graciously circulated the guests to informal conversational groups so that alumnae members of the sorority could recall past events of the sorority. Tau chapter of Delta Beta Sigma was organized in 1930 by members of El Dorado, Ark. The Military Mollies and Triangle Club were local clubs for high school girls in Monroe who felt a national sorority would give them high ideals for sisterhood and far-reaching contacts with girls from other states.

Charter members were: Happy Tidwell LaCour, Joy Steele McCue, Adelia Sandal, Lucille Mangham Trousdale, the late Jennie Hannah, Billie Stroud Cole and Johnnie Cox Green.

Elibzabeth Biedenharn Cutler was the first president and Elizabeth Kennedy Miller the first pledge.

Air Conditioning Held Healthful

OMAHA, Neb. — You can forget those fears that working in an air-conditioned building in the summer, then walking into a steaming-hot street will affect your health.

So says John W. James, Chicago, vice president of the American Society of Heating and Air Conditioning Engineers.

James said research experts have shown that there is no harmful "shock effect" from going into a warmer atmosphere.

It has not been determined, he said, which temperatures are most healthful. However he said it is known that cool air benefits sufferers of asthma and hay fever.

Many Women Start Day Eating Wrong

MADISON, Wis. — Research at a University of Wisconsin experimental station shows that three out of four women eat poor breakfasts.

Most of the women tested preferred toast and coffee or cereal and coffee for breakfast, while others started the day with fruit, toast, and coffee.

The experts said that these breakfasts don't give women the right amount of proteins and they recommend an egg or a glass of milk to remedy the situation.

Sesame seed is also known as "Benne" or "Bene" seed. It has a pleasant faintly nutty flavor and is good sprinkled on cookies, rolls and biscuits before baking.

May 3rd at 2:00 p.m. a parish wide celebration will be held at the Agriculture Building, honoring the members who pioneered in Extension and are still club members. These members will be awarded a certificate of recognition for their faithful service. The council has planned a program which will be followed by a tea. Guests are invited.

Each club is planning a club or community activity delebrating National Home Demonstration Week.

Some Suggestions for Flower Arrangements Leaders

When you are preparing your arrangement for May 3rd, here are a few suggestions given in one of the flower arrangement books. Give your flowers hours of water drinking before arranging them. This will help them to last longer. Crush or split the ends of all woody material before placing them in an arrangement, this aids plants to take water. Take off all leaves below the water line to prevent water from becoming foul. Charcoal tablets in water will help keep it pure. A little sugar added to the water will prolong the life of roses.

The library has a number of excellent books on Flower Arrangement as, "101 Ideas for Flower Arrangement" by Julia Clements; "The New Flower Arrangement for Everyone" by Dorothy Biddle and Dorathea Blem; "Flowers, Their Arrangement" by J. Gregory Conway.

Women Plan National HD Week

Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Club members will join 30,000 homemakers in more than a thousand Home Demonstration Clubs to demonstrate to other women the purpose of home demonstration work, and to define its contribution to family and community life.

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World," continues to be the theme for the observation of this significant occasion. Certainly it is greatly through the influence of the home, that man's destiny will be set. With better homes, better understanding among members of a family and a dedication of one's life to better living, people will build a better world of tomorrow.

Some of the home demonstration activities will be May 1st. Each Home Demonstration Club member will attend church.

May 2nd Ouachita women will be in charge of the TV program on Open House, 1:00 to 1:30 p.m. Club members putting on the program are: Mrs. Fred Riser, president of Ouachita Home Demonstration Council; Mrs. Merle Johnson, Lakeview Club, nutrition leader; Mrs. M. L. Spangler, McClendon Club, clothing leader and parlimentarian of Parish Council; Mrs. A. J. Hudson, Colony Club, house furnishing leader; Mrs. Loyd Coon, Liberty Club, pantry winner; Mrs. W. J. St. John, clothing leader, Swartz Club and little Miss Paula Hendricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hendricks, Jr., will help Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. St. John with the clothing work.

Other activities are: May 3rd—Flower arrangement workshop at 9:30 a.m. with Miss Winona Chauffe, L. S. U. Extension Service as guest instructor. These arrangements will be on display at afternoon meeting.

May 3rd at 2:00 p.m. a parish wide celebration will be held at the Agriculture Building, honoring the members who pioneered in Extension and are still club members. These members will be awarded a certificate of recognition for their faithful service. The council has planned a program which will be followed by a tea. Guests are invited.

Each club is planning a club or community activity delebrating National Home Demonstration Week.

Those not enrolled in a Home Demonstration Club and who desire to affiliate with one may contact the club president in your community or the agent. The presidents are: Mrs. Irvin Waller, Better Homemaker; Mrs. J. R. Lee, Bosco; Mrs. Cleburne White, Cadeville; Mrs. Lee Mann, Cheniere; Mrs. V. O. Wilson, Claiborne; Mrs. H. W. John Chapman—The Boy Who Loved Apple Trees

Not many people may remember the name of John Chapman. But his nickname of Johnny Appleseed has become an American legend. John was born in Springfield, Mass., in 1775. He loved the outdoors and the trees, especially the apple trees.

Along with the early settlers, he went west. He would clear a place in the forest, plant seeds, and trade or give away the trees to the settlers. In spite of wild animals and wild Indians, he made long journeys, usually on foot, to care for the trees or get a fresh supply of seeds from the cider mills.

The Indians considered him a medicine man because he knew all about plants which would make people well. His clothing usually was an old coffee sack with holes for his head and arms. His hat was a tin pan. Even in the winter, he lived outdoors. He was especially kind to little children who loved him.

During the war of 1812, when some settlers were in danger, he walked 60 miles through the wilderness for help. He died in March, 1847, on his way to tend to some apple trees.

This is the last of the week-long coloring series of famous Americans. Now you can have your own little history book.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Teen-Agers! Don't Neglect Nutrition For Slim Figure

Every once in a while I give a day to teen-agers. Usually I write about skin care (blackheads mostly), posture and how to be popular. Today I am going to write to teen-agers about nutrition which is not especially popular with them because they do not understand its importance. But it is a subject which should be number one on their list, if they wish to be popular or beautiful.

In a way, the teen-ager has problems in growing older which are more dramatic than those of the middle aged woman. Teen-agers are growing older so rapidly, while aging from middle age on is a gradual process, for which all adults are grateful.

But I am going to "lay it on the line" to teen-agers.

I wonder if they really think that mothers spend their energy in trying to see to it that they eat correctly because they have nothing more exciting to do? They do it because they know what it will mean to you now, and in the future.

Amazed

I have been amazed, because of the letters I receive from very young women and because of my personal observations, by how stupidly an otherwise intelligent teen-age girl can act when it comes to the food she consumes.

Let me give you a few quotations from letters to me from teen-agers:

"Do you think it right for young girls to practically starve themselves in order to keep thin? Most of my friends weigh under 105 and some weigh in the low nineties. They say that after starving a while they have no trouble staying thin. They say they don't care about food any more. I know that two of these girls are anemic.

"A lot of young girls seem to think that the slimmer they are the prettier they are. I am in favor of pep and good health and normal weight rather than trying to become 10 to 15 pounds under normal. I am 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh 128 pounds."

Diet Especially Important

A good diet is important at any age but especially during the teen years. You young women, and men, too, are flirting with real trouble if you do not take seriously the question of nutrition. Neglect may not catch up with you right away but it will sooner or later, and then it may be too late. You may have already ruined your health and your looks forever.

Foolish fads in eating habits will damage your skin and hair, and can make you look and feel like an old woman at 20 or 25.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Popularity," which was written for teen-agers, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: Read about what happened to the white rats who ate unwisely.

Fruit Dessert

NEW YORK — Dieters' dessert: Combine 2 cups each of fresh pineapple wedges and sliced fresh strawberries with 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and 3 tablespoons of sugar.

If you're not counting calories top the fruit mixture with lemon sherbet. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

Shriners Slate Ceremonial Here Saturday

The Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club will stage a ceremonial — including a downtown parade, a dinner and a dance — Saturday, April 30, in Monroe and West Monroe, according to an announcement made today by T. Leo Rogers, president of the group.

Approximately 50 will be inducted at the ceremony.

El Karubah Temple of Shreveport will send a patrol, a drum and bugle corps, a band, chanters and sandmen — all of whom will participate in a parade at 1:30 p.m. The group will assemble at the I. C. depot here, then will proceed west on DeSiard over the old bridge and through West Monroe to the high school, where the installation ceremony will be held.

Dinner will be served at 5:30 at the West Monroe High School cafeteria for novices, Shriners and their wives. A dance will be held at 9 p.m. at the Rainbow Club with music by Mel Spain and his band.

Officials of the Northeast Louisiana Club say that this will be the first installation ceremony to be held in Monroe for more than two years.

All Shriners and their wives are urged to attend the dance.

Add a dash of spice to pastry for apple pie! For a recipe based on two cups of flour, use three-quarters teaspoon nutmeg.

The Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club will stage a ceremonial — including a downtown parade, a dinner and a dance — Saturday, April 30, in Monroe and West Monroe, according to an announcement made today by T. Leo Rogers, president of the group.

Approximately 50 will be inducted at the ceremony.

El Karubah Temple of Shreveport will send a patrol, a drum and bugle corps, a band, chanters and sandmen — all of whom will participate in a parade at 1:30 p.m. The group will assemble at the I. C. depot here, then will proceed west on DeSiard over the old bridge and through West Monroe to the high school, where the installation ceremony will be held.

Dinner will be served at 5:30 at the West Monroe High School cafeteria for novices, Shriners and their wives. A dance will be held at 9 p.m. at the Rainbow Club with music by Mel Spain and his band.

Officials of the Northeast Louisiana Club say that this will be the first installation ceremony to be held in Monroe for more than two years.

Louisiana Will Present State Flag In Procession

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 23 (Special) —Louisiana will be remembered at Washington Cathedral, Sunday, May 1st, when the State Flag will be carried with the American Flag at the head of the ecclesiastical processions at the eleven and four o'clock services.

Miss Margaret Brown of Baton Rouge and Miss Janie Lee of Shreveport, students at the National Cathedral School for Girls will represent their state as color guards at the 11 a.m. service.

State Services at the Washington Cathedral are held throughout the year and are as much a part of Cathedral tradition as are other great events, national and international, which take place at this imposing Gothic editice known to hundreds of thousands who have attended its services and given it financial support.

As yet unfinished, the Cathedral is rightly called "a house of prayer and devotion for all the people" and its pulpit is open to clergymen of many denominations.

The regional chairman for Louisiana is Mrs. Charles E. Coates of Baton Rouge. Other representatives include members from cities all over the state. From Monroe Mrs. Fagan Cox is the representative.

Methodist Church Executive Visits In Monroe Area

Dr. A. Dudley Ward, executive secretary of the general board of social and economic relations of the Methodist Church will visit in Monroe over the week end.

Dr. Ward is an authority on American economy and American opinions and attitudes. The elder son of English emigrants to Canada he is now a naturalized American citizen.

While in Monroe Dr. Ward will preach Sunday morning at the St. Paul Methodist Church where Dr. Ben Oliphint, chairman of the conference board of social and economic relations is pastor. At the evening hour at 7:30 Dr. Ward will preach at First Methodist Church.

He has served as pastor, as staff member of the Federal Council of Churches (now National Council), as editor and has recently written "The American Economy — Attitudes and Opinions" which is now in the printer's hands.

Dr. Ward hopes through his present position "to find ways and means to keep local churches and individual Methodists apply Christian principles to the social, political, and economic problems, which they face in their communities."

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to hear Dr. Ward at both the St. Paul's Methodist Church, Sunday morning and First Methodist Church, Sunday evening.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: We hear a great deal about telling the facts of life to our children. My mother never told me the facts of life and I never had any difficulty. Do you really think it's important? M. H.

ANSWER: Yes, I think it is vitally important. We are living in a totally different era than when you were a girl. his is a sex-conscious age. Television, radio, the comics, the magazine shelves, class room discussions — all bring sex before our young people. I heard an educator say the other day that children of ten know more than college students did a generation ago about these things. It would be far better for them to learn it from their mother and father than from the gutter. To be a real dad to a real boy or a real mother to a real girl is one of the biggest tasks in the world. Experience proves this to be true. However, when the boy and girl stand at the threshold of manhood and womanhood, then it is that parents need to enjoy the esteem confidences and fellowship of youth. During this transition period powerful forces are at work within the physical body, the intellect, and the inner personality. This calls for parents to be real pals to their children and to convey information that is necessary for their moral, physical, and spiritual protection.

I would go at this matter carefuly, cautiously, and prayerfuly. It seems to me that a little information at a time is most beneficial. Remember that the facts of life are God ordained and God given for constructive purposes. A straight forward talk with your children may save heartache later on.

QUESTION: — Matt. 28:1-2 gives us the correct time for the glorious Resurrection just before sunset on the Sabbath day. That day was the Seventh Day Sabbath. I will pay any preacher, teacher or Bible student twenty - five hundred dollars that proves to me that Sunday is the Lord's day and the Sabbath day by the Holy Bible, King James version. J. C. M.

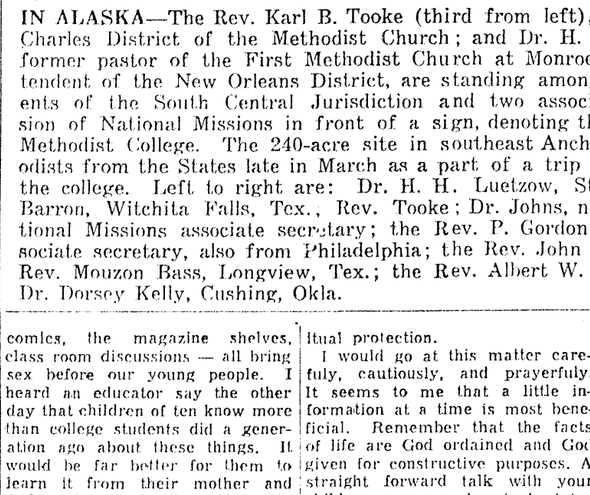

ANSWER:—Matt. 28:1 says "In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre." This verse does not say "Just before sunset on the Sabbath Day" but "As it began to dawn toward the first day of the week." Webster defines "dawn" to begin to grow light in the morning." So this certainly does not mean sunset on the Sabbath Day but dawn on the first day of the week. Mk. 16:9 says "Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils." Could language state any plainer that Jesus was risen early the first day of the week?

The church of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ was established on the first day of the week. Acts 2:1 "And when the day of pentecost was fully come," Pentecost always came on the first day of the week. Lev. 23:15-16 says "And ye shall count unto you from the morrow after the Sabbath from the day that ye brought the sheaf of the wave offering; seven sabbaths shall be counted: even unto the morrow after the seventh Sabbath shall ye number fifty days; and ye shall offer a new meat offering unto the Lord."

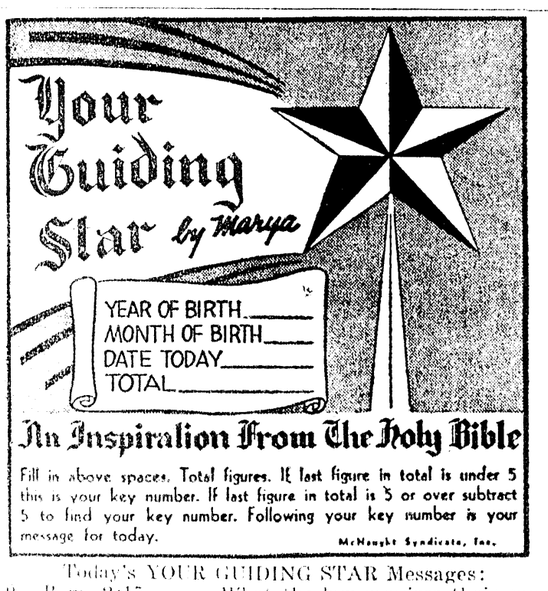

The early christians met on the first day of the week to observe the Lord's supper. Acts 20:7 "And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight." Also they were given instructions to give of their means upon the first day of the week 1 Cor. 16:2 "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God has prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come."

All of these quotations are from the King James Version of the Bible. Mk. 16:9 clearly says Christ was risen early the first day of the week and we can see from these other references that the christians met on the first day of the week to observe the Lord's supper, to lay by in store, or in brief to worship God Almighty. I believe that to the honest and sincere reader that this is plain enough.

Return To God Will Avert War, Scientist Says

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 23 (Special) — "I feel that the only way we can ward off another conflict is by a national return to God," Dr. George Schweitzer, noted atomic scientist said here this week.

"Furthermore," he said, "it is my belief that this national return to God must be a result of cumulative personal committments."

The youthful scientist, who is a professor at the University of Tennessee's Graduate School maintained in conjunction with the Atomic Energy Commission's installation at Oak Ridge, Tenn., also said that the effects of radioactive fall - out from H-bomb explosions is not known. In commenting on his opinion he cited the variety of opinions expressed by leading men in the field of radiation genetics.

Doctor Schweitzer will speak Saturday and Sunday to some 1500 Louisiana Baptist students who will be attending a retreat at Dry Creek Baptist Encampment near DeRidder April 22-24.

Others on the program, according to Rev. Udell Smith, State Student secretary, will be Dr. R. Houston Smith of Pineville, Dr. Pail Roberts of Lake Charles, Rev. Jaroy Weber of West Monroe and Rev. Stafford Rogers of New Iberia.

The students will come from campuses of all colleges in the state.

Koreans Study For The Ministry

That even among youth in Communist - controlled North Korea there remains a knowledge of and desire for Christianity and its services, is the story that comes from India. Writing from Jabalpur (Jubbulpore), India, seat of Leonard Theological College (Methodist), Miss Louise Campbell, a Methodist missionary from Illinois, tells this story:

"At Christmas time two Korean students came to Leonard College to study for the ministry. They are two of the eighty-eight Korean prisoners of war who refused repartriation to North Korea, electing rather to come to a neutral country. Of this number twenty are Christians. Neither of these two boys had served very long in the North Korean Army — less than three weeks each. They spent three and a half years as prisoners. One is the only son of an aged widow, a Methodist minister's son. Another is one of a large family, members of the Presbyterian Church. Neither boy knows anything of his family since leaving home. They have a sense of urgency about the Christian message; there is a purposefulness that is lacking in many of our other students. They are intense and earnest, working hard to acquire a knowledge of both English and Hindi."

Baptist Students Open 3-Day Dry Creek Retreat

DRY CREEK, La., April 23 (Special)—Some 1500 Baptist students from all colleges in the state arrived here April 22 for their annual spring retreat, which lasts through Sunday.

Among the featured speakers will be Dr. George Schweitzer, noted atomic scientist who is a professor at the University of Tennessee's Graduate School at Oak Ridge.

Speaking in Knoxville last week, the scientist said, "I feel that the only way we can ward off another conflict is by a national return to God. Furthermore, it is my belief that this national return to God must be a result of cumulative personal committments."

Commenting on the controversy being waged as to the effects of radioactive fall - out from nuclear explosions, the scientist said, "The simple answer is that we do not know. There seems to be a variety of opinion, even among top-notch men in the field of radiation genetics."

During World War II the youthful scientist was engaged in work which had a direct relation to the development of the A-bomb. Since the war he has confined his activities to the peacetime use of atomic energy.

Doctor Schweitzer's hobby is investigation in the realm of religion. The Baptist students will hear some of his conclusions on the matter of religion when he speaks Saturday night and Sunday morning at the retreat.

Other speakers on the April 22-24 retreat program will include Dr. R. Houston Smith of Pineville, Dr. Paul Roberts of Lake Charles, Rev. Jaroy Weber of West Monroe and Rev. Stafford Rogers of New Iberia, according to an announcement made in Alexandria this week by Rev. Udell Smith, director of student work for Louisiana Baptists.

Bishop Martin Is Saluted In Church Magazine

Bishop Paul E. Martin of Little Rock, who has presided over the Arkansas - Louisiana Episcopal area of the Methodist Church since 1944, is saluted in the May issue of The Church School magazine.

The magazine cover features a pen and ink portrait of Bishop Martin, and a page one article pays tribute to his "outstanding leadership in the ministry as a pastor, district superintendent and bishop."

The Rev. Walter N. vernon, Jr., editor, writes in his editorial salute: "Bishop Martin brings to all of the responsibilities assigned to him an alert mind, a spirit of good will, a ready grasp of the issues involved, and a deep concern for furthering the cause of the Kingdom of God . . . One of his outstanding traits is his interest in people, and his versatility is well demonstrated in his serving effectively as chairman of two different divisions of the Methodist Board of Education."

Bishop Martin is also cited for his services as president of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Washington, D. C., and as a trustee of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex.; Centenary College, Shreveport, La.; Dillard University, New Orleans, La.; the Arkansas Methodist Children's Home, Little Rock; the Methodist Home-Hospital, New Orleans; and the Western Methodist Assembly, Mt. Sequoyah, Ark.

Methodist Church Executive Visits In Monroe Area

Dr. A. Dudley Ward, executive secretary of the general board of social and economic relations of the Methodist Church will visit in Monroe over the week end.

Dr. Ward is an authority on American economy and American opinions and attitudes. The elder son of English emigrants to Canada he is now a naturalized American citizen.

While in Monroe Dr. Ward will preach Sunday morning at the St. Paul Methodist Church where Dr. Ben Oliphint, chairman of the conference board of social and economic relations is pastor. At the evening hour at 7:30 Dr. Ward will preach at First Methodist Church.

He has served as pastor, as staff member of the Federal Council of Churches (now National Council), as editor and has recently written "The American Economy — Attitudes and Opinions" which is now in the printer's hands.

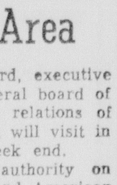

Dr. Ward hopes through his present position "to find ways and means to keep local churches and individual Methodists apply Christian principles to the social, political, and economic problems, which they face in their communities."

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to hear Dr. Ward at both the St. Paul's Methodist Church, Sunday morning and First Methodist Church, Sunday evening.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: We hear a great deal about telling the facts of life to our children. My mother never told me the facts of life and I never had any difficulty. Do you really think it's important? M. H.

ANSWER: Yes, I think it is vitally important. We are living in a totally different era than when you were a girl. his is a sex-conscious age. Television, radio, the comics, the magazine shelves, class room discussions — all bring sex before our young people. I heard an educator say the other day that children of ten know more than college students did a generation ago about these things. It would be far better for them to learn it from their mother and father than from the gutter. To be a real dad to a real boy or a real mother to a real girl is one of the biggest tasks in the world. Experience proves this to be true. However, when the boy and girl stand at the threshold of manhood and womanhood, then it is that parents need to enjoy the esteem confidences and fellowship of youth. During this transition period powerful forces are at work within the physical body, the intellect, and the inner personality. This calls for parents to be real pals to their children and to convey information that is necessary for their moral, physical, and spiritual protection.

I would go at this matter carefuly, cautiously, and prayerfuly. It seems to me that a little information at a time is most beneficial. Remember that the facts of life are God ordained and God given for constructive purposes. A straight forward talk with your children may save heartache later on.

QUESTION: — Matt. 28:1-2 gives us the correct time for the glorious Resurrection just before sunset on the Sabbath day. That day was the Seventh Day Sabbath. I will pay any preacher, teacher or Bible student twenty - five hundred dollars that proves to me that Sunday is the Lord's day and the Sabbath day by the Holy Bible, King James version. J. C. M.

ANSWER:—Matt. 28:1 says "In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre." This verse does not say "Just before sunset on the Sabbath Day" but "As it began to dawn toward the first day of the week." Webster defines "dawn" to begin to grow light in the morning." So this certainly does not mean sunset on the Sabbath Day but dawn on the first day of the week. Mk. 16:9 says "Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils." Could language state any plainer that Jesus was risen early the first day of the week?

The church of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Chirst was established on the first day of the week. Acts 2:1 "And when the day of pentecost was fully come," Pentecost always came on the first day of the week. Lev. 23:15-16 says "And ye shall count unto you from the morrow after the Sabbath from the day that ye brought the sheaf of the wave offering; seven sabbaths shall be counted: even unto the morrow after the seventh Sabbath shall ye number fifty days; and ye shall offer a new meat offering unto the Lord."

The early christians met on the first day of the week to observe the Lord's supper. Acts 20:7 "And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight." Also they were given instructions to give of their means upon the first day of the week 1 Cor. 16:2 "Upon the first day of the week let everyone of you lay by him in store, as God has prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come."

All of these quotations are from the King James Version of the Bible. Mk. 16:9 clearly says Christ was risen early the first day of the week and we can see from these other references that the christians met on the first day of the week to observe the Lord's supper, to lay by in store, or in brief to worship God Almighty. I believe that to the honest and sincere reader that this is plain enough.

Return To God Will Avert War, Scientist Says

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 23 (Special) — "I feel that the only way we can ward off another conflict is by a national return to God," Dr. George Schweitzer, noted atomic scientist said here this week.

"Furthermore," he said, "it is my belief that this national return to God must be a result of cumulative personal committments."

The youthful scientist, who is a professor at the University of Tennessee's Graduate School maintained in conjunction with the Atomic Energy Commission's installation at Oak Ridge, Tenn., also said that the effects of radioactive fall - out from H-bomb explosions is not known. In commenting on his opinion he cited the variety of opinions expressed by leading men in the field of radiation genetics.

Doctor Schweitzer will speak Saturday and Sunday to some 1500 Louisiana Baptist students who will be attending a retreat at Dry Creek Baptist Encampment near DeRidder April 22-24.

Others on the program, according to Rev. Udell Smith, State Student secretary, will be Dr. R. Houston Smith of Pineville, Dr. Pail Roberts of Lake Charles, Rev. Jaroy Weber of West Monroe and Rev. Stafford Rogers of New Iberia.

The students will come from campuses of all colleges in the state.

Koreans Study For The Ministry

That even among youth in Communist - controlled North Korea there remains a knowledge of and desire for Christianity and its services, is the story that comes from India. Writing from Jabalpur (Jubbulpore), India, seat of Leonard Theological College (Methodist), Miss Louise Campbell, a Methodist missionary from Illinois, tells this story:

"At Christmas time two Korean students came to Leonard College to study for the ministry. They are two of the eighty-eight Korean prisoners of war who refused repartriation to North Korea, electing rather to come to a neutral country. Of this number twenty are Christians. Neither of these two boys had served very long in the North Korean Army — less than three weeks each. They spent three and a half years as prisoners. One is the only son of an aged widow, a Methodist minister's son. Another is one of a large family, members of the Presbyterian Church. Neither boy knows anything of his family since leaving home. They have a sense of urgency about the Christian message; there is a purposefulness that is lacking in many of our other students. They are intense and earnest, working hard to acquire a knowledge of both English and Hindi."

Baptist Students Open 3-Day Dry Creek Retreat

DRY CREEK, La., April 23 (Special)—Some 1500 Baptist students from all colleges in the state arrived here April 22 for their annual spring retreat, which lasts through Sunday.

Among the featured speakers will be Dr. George Schweitzer, noted atomic scientist who is a professor at the University of Tennessee's Graduate School at Oak Ridge.

Speaking in Knoxville last week, the scientist said, "I feel that the only way we can ward off another conflict is by a national return to God. Furthermore, it is my belief that this national return to God must be a result of cumulative personal committments."

Commenting on the controversy being waged as to the effects of radioactive fall - out from nuclear explosions, the scientist said, "The simple answer is that we do not know. There seems to be a variety of opinion, even among top-notch men in the field of radiation genetics."

During World War II the youthful scientist was engaged in work which had a direct relation to the development of the A-bomb. Since the war he has confined his activities to the peacetime use of atomic energy.

Doctor Schweitzer's hobby is investigation in the realm of religion. The Baptist students will hear some of his conclusions on the matter of religion when he speaks Saturday night and Sunday morning at the retreat.

Other speakers on the April 22-24 retreat program will include Dr. R. Houston Smith of Pineville, Dr. Paul Roberts of Lake Charles, Rev. Jaroy Weber of West Monroe and Rev. Stafford Rogers of New Iberia, according to an announcement made in Alexandria this week by Rev. Udell Smith, director of student work for Louisiana Baptists.

Bishop Martin Is Saluted In Church Magazine

Bishop Paul E. Martin of Little Rock, who has presided over the Arkansas - Louisiana Episcopal area of the Methodist Church since 1944, is saluted in the May issue of The Church School magazine.

The magazine cover features a pen and ink portrait of Bishop Martin, and a page one article pays tribute to his "outstanding leadership in the ministry as a pastor, district superintendent and bishop."

The Rev. Walter N. vernon, Jr., editor, writes in his editorial salute: "Bishop Martin brings to all of the responsibilities assigned to him an alert mind, a spirit of good will, a ready grasp of the issues involved, and a deep concern for furthering the cause of the Kingdom of God . . . One of his outstanding traits is his interest in people, and his versatility is well demonstrated in his serving effectively as chairman of two different divisions of the Methodist Board of Education."

Bishop Martin is also cited for his services as president of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Washington, D. C., and as a trustee of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex.; Centenary College, Shreveport, La.; Dillard University, New Orleans, La.; the Arkansas Methodist Children's Home, Little Rock; the Methodist Home-Hospital, New Orleans; and the Western Methodist Assembly, Mt. Sequoyah, Ark.

Bearded Iris In Bloom Now

This is the month of bearded iris. Mrs. W. R. Gates, 404 Linderman, West Monroe, will have literally hundreds of plants in bloom today. (Barring weather hazards between today and Sunday). Don't miss seeing these blossoms while they're at their height. For an iris show that any gardener can grow, go by Mrs. S. W. Barnett's, 607 McGuire, Monroe.

Gardening

The bridal wreath and primrose jasmine have finished blooming. Both can be pruned now. Get the old wood out of the way and give the new wood a chance. Next spring you'll be surprised at the long sprays of beautiful flowering branches you have. But, please—when you prune don't jutst go out and lop off the top. Some people just go out and cut off two or three feet straight across the top. The result is really horrible. You know, pruning stimulates new growth, and you get the growth where the cut is made. So if you cut straight across the top, your shrub gets a thick bushy top knot and next year the only bloom you'll get will be on this bushy top of new growth. The bottom of the plant gets no pruning so the base of your shrub gets more woody, bare and leggy.

Here's the way to prune to have an interesting, graceful shrub. Stand off from the shrub, grasp one of the long, old branches with the left hand and remove the entire branch, making the cut where it joins another branch or where it comes out of the ground. Keep up until the oldest wood and any dead or diseased branches are removed.

Now, if you've allowed a plant to go unpruned for so long it is in very bad shape with little new growth and sparse blooms, the best thing is to cut it off within six inches of the ground and let it sprout out again. If you haven't already fertilized these plants get busy with 8-8-8.

Other shrubs such as mock orange, weigelia and deutzia will need the same type pruning after they bloom.

I was examining the crepe myrtles this morning. New growth is coming out again, but only about half way down each limb. I believe the ends of these limbs are dead, but I'll wait about another two or three weeks to be sure before cutting off any part of the plant. before the freeze came, these crepe myrtles had been pruned so this cutting back will be the second trimming. In my many years experience I've never seen a freeze this late nor pruned crepe myrtles twice, so we'll just have to wait and see the result on our blooms.

A good question was asked by one of Monroe's fine gardeners. Mr. Quinton answered this on radio, but in case you didn't hear—the question was this, "What happens to the violets in August, they just seem to disappear?" First, violets must be transplanted every three years or they choke to death. Second: the sow bugs now are working on the roots, weakening the violet plant and when the hot weather comes, they just can't get through the summer. ('I've just had better luck killing sow bugs with 50 per cent liquid chlordane than with 50 per cent DDT that I told you about last Sunday). Third: the red spider kills the violet plants during the hot weather. (Sulphur will revent the red spider but it takes malathion to kill them after they appear).

Something New

An ideal that may start a trend in food packaging just made its debut at the National Packaging Exposition in Chicago. Its the use of food products in fold up metal tubes. The manufacturers council predicts that tubes soon will hold much of the American publics' semi - liquid or paste-like products such as jelly, catsup, peanut butter, fish and meat pastes, mustary, mayonnaise, cheese spreads, and honey.

Don't think for a minute that all the new spring and summer styles are for women only. The menfolk are coming in for their share of attention on the fashion scene, too! As a case in point, take the way a New York manufacturer of mens clothing has given a new twist to the old idea of two - pants suits. He offers an extra half - pair of pants with each of his spring suits. Customers who buy a suit get a matching pair of Bermuda shorts.

Announcements

The program for "Open House" on KNOE-TV, 1 o'clock Monday through Friday is as follows: Monday the West Carroll agents will bring you a fine demonstration on raising tomatoes; Tuesday, Pat Bryan and Billie Jo Cook from Northeast La. State college will give a demonstration on biscuit making and variations of the basic recipe; Wednesday is flower arrangement day with Mrs. Jardine and then we'll do some gardening; Thursday is marketing day when you'll get the best buys for the week; Friday Roger Manning will bring you some fine cooking and a member of the Federated Women's Club will show you a day's menu you can prepare if you suddenly find yourself in an emergency, without lights, fuel or water.

See you next Sunday.

HERE'S A GARDENER'S HANDY HAVEN—Without blocking her kitchen window view, this gardener has tacked a handy haven onto the end of her home. A potting table beneath the window has enough space below for supplies and the siding was extended to form two similar tool storage compartments on each end.

Dream Work Shop For Gardeners Is Handy, Attractive

Gardeners, here's your dream work shop. Now you see it, now you don't. It is big and spacious with plenty of work room and storage space for everything from small tools and pots to power lawn mowers. When not in use, it folds right back into the walls of the home. It is sheer magic.

This gardener's haven can be added to a home already built, or included in original plans. The most successful ones are built around and close to the outside kitchen wall. There are two ressons for this. The potting table and work surface is hip level high, so will not interfere with kitchen window vision. Then, too, if you need water piped to the potting table, you save money by tapping into your kitchen water line.

Beneath the work table, doors conceal storage for pots, fertilizer, small tools, potting compounds and other bulky and heavy material. To give the gardener privacy, and most of them prefer to work without outside bother or interruption, two storage units in some cases have been added to the house and these protrude beyond the potting bench, one at each end, to form a cozy work area.

The secret of these additions to the home is to build them of the identical siding material as the home. If your home is western red cedar boards and battens, your problem of making these additions appear as part of the home is much easier. However, any of the drop siding patterns of cedar, Douglas fir or west coast hemlock are as easily blended.

When designed right into the wall, the tall storage compartments have a common roof line. They have full height doors, generally held by a catch lock, and handle storage of all tall tools, wheelbarrows, hose and lawn mowers.

In some homes, this clever gardener's haven around the potting table has been recessed and an overhanging eave gives the gardener protection against the elements while still permitting him to work outdoors with his potting and year - around work.

A breakfast nook, adjoining the kitchen, can form one of the projecting wings at one end of the potting table, with only one storage unit needed on the other end. When not in use, all the storage doors close to become part of the home, and the only visible evidence is the exposed, but neat work table surface.

The gardener won't wish to make a muddy spot in his lawn, so will probably build a brick or flat stone floor around the work bench, or in some cases a well-drained floor of fir two - by - fours gives him something solid to stand on.

This cozy, space - saving work area is especially valuable where the lawn and garden area is small. In modern basementless homes, it is ideal and it eliminated the necessity for sheds which do not always fit into the general landscaping scheme.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Fertilize Lawn For Thick Grass

After the first great spurt of spring growth, your plants may need more fertilizer. Shrubs and plants that were killed back in the freeze will need light feedings about every two weeks to keep them growing. Small plants must not have too much fertilizer dumped on them, of course, and shrubs that were killed way back should be fed lightly and frequently until they have got up to some size again. This program of coaxing them along can go on till the first of July when all fertilizing must stop to let woody plants harden off for the coming winter.

Lawns are ravenous at this time of the year. You can tell easily if your lawn needs feeding. If the grass is dark reen, it may need no fertilizer. If the grass is a yellow green, it almost surely does need feeding. The fertilizer ads are right when they say that the better fed lawn has thicker grass in it and the thicker the grass, the less weeds have a chance to grow. Starving grass just hasn't a chance to survive very long in our hot summers here in the south. If you know that your lawn is growing on a thin layer of topsoil, you can help it by dashing a light sprinkling a quarter of an inch deep over the grass and then fertilizing it. The soil added to the top should be the very richest topsoil you can obtain. It must be quite dry so that it will scatter easily and disappear down into the blades of grass without burying them. As soon as the soil is on, scatter your fertilizer, and then sprinkle soil and fertilizer into the turf with water. Some of the very best turfs have been built up in this way.

Old Bermuda grass lawns get so full of dead grass that they become too dense to cut with a mower. Some gardeners rake the dead grass out in September when they plant annual rye grass in their Bermuda lawns. It is just as easy to scatter dry topsoil and fertilizer over them in spring. Water the soil and fertilizer in, and, after the new grass has thatched the lawn together again, you can mow. The only drawbacks to this practice are that you must be sure to get your soil on the surface evenly and that it will take ten days to two weeks for the new Bermuda to grow into the soil and bind it back together again.

Do not forget to feed your trees at this time of the year. The hole punching method is the easiest and most effective way. If you do not want those humps of grass in your lawn under the trees when the feeding has been done, then be sure to leave the last three inches of the holes unfilled with fertilizer and fill them back up with just plain rich soil. More and more southern towns are getting tree service from trained people who have the equipment to feed trees. If you do not wish to feed your own trees, you can call in the tree service people. They usually blow holes into the soil with compressed air and then fill them with fertilizer. Some companies inject liquid tree fertilizer into the soil around shade trees.

Shallow rooted trees like dogwoods can be fed without making holes in the soil. Dogwoods should have at all times a mulch of humus of some kinds over their root systems just as they have the decayed and decaying leaves over them in the woods. A half-and-half mixture of bone meal and cotton - seed meal can be scattered over the mulch around your small trees once a year between October and July. Complete fertilizers are beneficial, too, but be sure that you have a mulch on before using them on dogwoods.

Succotash salad is a fine accompaniment to leftover cold beef, lamb or ham. To prepare it cook frozen cut green beans and cut corn and drain; marinate in French dressing flavored with onion. Serve on salad greens.

Lady Forgets Her Purse

Telegraph operator H. G. Howard found the purse and reported his find to the Central Vermont Railway offices.

He was told to drive with the purse 12 miles to Monteplier Junction, where Mrs. McKeen's train was held until he arrived.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Iris Time At Peak In Twin Cities

The blue-ribbon flower show on exhibit at the Garden Center this week was presented by the Newellton Garden Club. In the arrangement section blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. J. R. Whitaker for a distinctive modern arrangement. Mrs. Whitaker's container was a beautiful piece of driftwood with an interesting curved root attached in a vertical position. Pothos (devil's ivy) was arranged spiral fashion around the curved root, with a spray of red geranium flowers in the natural focal area where the driftwood and the root joined. Geranium leaves were arranged at the base and added depth and interest to the composition. A cup type needle point holder was concealed behind the arrangement providing water to keep the plant material fresh—a most interesting and different arrangement. Mrs. W. A. Chapman chose for her container a flat brass bowl on a teakwood stand. A beautiful vertical design was created with tall spikes of native grasses, with April daffodils enhancing the line. Rosettes of variegated pittosporum were clustered at the base of the arrangement.

Mrs. J. W. Hogue designed a lovely triangular arrangement. For a container Mrs. Hogue used a large brown compote of classic design, in which she arranged pale yellow gladiolus and spikes of palm in a triangular pattern. A group of deeper yellow chrysanthemums was placed at the base of the design. The arrangement was placed against a chartreuse background. Color harmony very appealing. In the horticulture section Mrs. J.R. Whitaker was awarded blue ribbons for the following: Red amaryllis, Sweet William and Orchid Cactus. The bloom of this cactus flower is most spectacular and created much comment. It was fully six inches across salmon red with the inner petals suffused with violet, and the contrasting white stamens. This plant is a member of the epiphyllum family. It is of tropical origin and suitable for window or greenhouse culture.

Also on display this week were seven named varieties of iris from the garden of Mrs. Kent Womack of Monroe. Mrs. Womack has one hundred and thirty-four varieties in her collection.

This is iris time and we have many fine growers in this area and the blooms should be at their peak this week. It is to be remembered, however, that the late freeze damaged all the gardens and the display may not be so dazzling as in other years. Be sure to visit some or all of these gardens and select your iris for next year. I am listing the names of iris fanciers that I know about, if there are others who have Iris gardens please let us know. Mrs. Kent Womack, 1111 South 1st St., Monroe, Mrs. W. R. Gates, 404 Linderman Avenue, West Monroe, Mr. G. B. Folds, 2607 Swiss St., West Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hipp, Calhoun, La. and Mr. M. T. Young, 800 S. Lincoln St., Tallulah, La. If you are interested in Louisiana Native Iris be sure to visit the Sidney L. Conger Gardens in Arcadia.

Attention: Garden Club Presidents! Please send us the names of your new elected presidents. This information is necessary for our files so that we may send current information to you with accuracy, efficiency and dispatch. A copy of your new year book is most welcome too, as the exchange of ideas between clubs throughout the district is most helpful in planning programs and books. Don't forget those flower show dates! The Bayou DeSiard Garden Club's theme is "Spring Fiesta". Arrangement classes have titles such as: Mission Bells, a church arrangement. "La Gondrina," The Swallow — interpretive arrangement with blue and white predominating, etc. Show date is May 4. The Welcome Garden Club flower show date is May 5 — Theme "Hit Parade of May Flowers," song titles, for example "Three Loves Have I," an arrangement using three flowers and foliage. "My Hearts Delight," an informal arrangement featuring roses. Monroe Garden Club show on May 10 is featuring Country Fair, with such titles as "Ferris Wheel," an oval arrangement against a dark blue background. These schedules promise interesting and unusual shows. Be sure to see them.

Bearded Iris In Bloom Now

This is the month of bearded iris. Mrs. W. R. Gates, 404 Linderman, West Monroe, will have literally hundreds of plants in bloom today. (Barring weather hazards between today and Sunday). Don't miss seeing these blossoms while they're at their height. For an iris show that any gardener can grow, go by Mrs. S. W. Barnett's, 607 McGuire, Monroe.

Gardening

The bridal wreath and primrose jasmine have finished blooming. Both can be pruned now. Get the old wood out of the way and give the new wood a chance. Next spring you'll be surprised at the long sprays of beautiful flowering branches you have. But, please—when you prune don't jutst go out and lop off the top. Some people just go out and cut off two or three feet straight across the top. The result is really horrible. You know, pruning stimulates new growth, and you get the growth where the cut is made. So if you cut straight across the top, your shrub gets a thick bushy top knot and next year the only bloom you'll get will be on this bushy top of new growth. The bottom of the plant gets no pruning so the base of your shrub gets more woody, bare and leggy.

Here's the way to prune to have an interesting, graceful shrub. Stand off from the shrub, grasp one of the long, old branches with the left hand and remove the entire branch, making the cut where it joins another branch or where it comes out of the ground. Keep up until the oldest wood and any dead or diseased branches are removed.

Now, if you've allowed a plant to go unpruned for so long it is in very bad shape with little new growth and sparse blooms, the best thing is to cut it off within six inches of the ground and let it sprout out again. If you haven't already fertilized these plants get busy with 8-8-8.

Other shrubs such as mock orange, weigelia and deutzia will need the same type pruning after they bloom.

I was examining the crepe myrtles this morning. New growth is coming out again, but only about half way down each limb. I believe the ends of these limbs are dead, but I'll wait about another two or three weeks to be sure before cutting off any part of the plant. before the freeze came, these crepe myrtles had been pruned so this cutting back will be the second trimming. In my many years experience I've never seen a freeze this late nor pruned crepe myrtles twice, so we'll just have to wait and see the result on our blooms.

A good question was asked by one of Monroe's fine gardeners. Mr. Quinton answered this on radio, but in case you didn't hear—the question was this, "What happens to the violets in August, they just seem to disappear?" First, violets must be transplanted every three years or they choke to death. Second: the sow bugs now are working on the roots, weakening the violet plant and when the hot weather comes, they just can't get through the summer. ('I've just had better luck killing sow bugs with 50 per cent liquid chlordane than with 50 per cent DDT that I told you about last Sunday). Third: the red spider kills the violet plants during the hot weather. (Sulphur will revent the red spider but it takes malathion to kill them after they appear).

Something New

An ideal that may start a trend in food packaging just made its debut at the National Packaging Exposition in Chicago. Its the use of food products in fold up metal tubes. The manufacturers council predicts that tubes soon will hold much of the American publics' semi - liquid or paste-like products such as jelly, catsup, peanut butter, fish and meat pastes, mustary, mayonnaise, cheese spreads, and honey.

Don't think for a minute that all the new spring and summer styles are for women only. The menfolk are coming in for their share of attention on the fashion scene, too! As a case in point, take the way a New York manufacturer of mens clothing has given a new twist to the old idea of two - pants suits. He offers an extra half - pair of pants with each of his spring suits. Customers who buy a suit get a matching pair of Bermuda shorts.

Announcements

The program for "Open House" on KNOE-TV, 1 o'clock Monday through Friday is as follows: Monday the West Carroll agents will bring you a fine demonstration on raising tomatoes; Tuesday, Pat Bryan and Billie Jo Cook from Northeast La. State college will give a demonstration on biscuit making and variations of the basic recipe; Wednesday is flower arrangement day with Mrs. Jardine and then we'll do some gardening; Thursday is marketing day when you'll get the best buys for the week; Friday Roger Manning will bring you some fine cooking and a member of the Federated Women's Club will show you a day's menu you can prepare if you suddenly find yourself in an emergency, without lights, fuel or water.

See you next Sunday.

HERE'S A GARDENER'S HANDY HAVEN—Without blocking her kitchen window view, this gardener has tacked a handy haven onto the end of her home. A potting table beneath the window has enough space below for supplies and the siding was extended to form two similar tool storage compartments on each end.

Dream Work Shop For Gardeners Is Handy, Attractive

Gardeners, here's your dream work shop. Now you see it, now you don't. It is big and spacious with plenty of work room and storage space for everything from small tools and pots to power lawn mowers. When not in use, it folds right back into the walls of the home. It is sheer magic.

This gardener's haven can be added to a home already built, or included in original plans. The most successful ones are built around and close to the outside kitchen wall. There are two ressons for this. The potting table and work surface is hip level high, so will not interfere with kitchen window vision. Then, too, if you need water piped to the potting table, you save money by tapping into your kitchen water line.

Beneath the work table, doors conceal storage for pots, fertilizer, small tools, potting compounds and other bulky and heavy material. To give the gardener privacy, and most of them prefer to work without outside bother or interruption, two storage units in some cases have been added to the house and these protrude beyond the potting bench, one at each end, to form a cozy work area.

The secret of these additions to the home is to build them of the identical siding material as the home. If your home is western red cedar boards and battens, your problem of making these additions appear as part of the home is much easier. However, any of the drop siding patterns of cedar, Douglas fir or west coast hemlock are as easily blended.

When designed right into the wall, the tall storage compartments have a common roof line. They have full height doors, generally held by a catch lock, and handle storage of all tall tools, wheelbarrows, hose and lawn mowers.

In some homes, this clever gardener's haven around the potting table has been recessed and an overhanging eave gives the gardener protection against the elements while still permitting him to work outdoors with his potting and year - around work.

A breakfast nook, adjoining the kitchen, can form one of the projecting wings at one end of the potting table, with only one storage unit needed on the other end. When not in use, all the storage doors close to become part of the home, and the only visible evidence is the exposed, but neat work table surface.

The gardener won't wish to make a muddy spot in his lawn, so will probably build a brick or flat stone floor around the work bench, or in some cases a well-drained floor of fir two - by - fours gives him something solid to stand on.

This cozy, space - saving work area is especially valuable where the lawn and garden area is small. In modern basementless homes, it is ideal and it eliminated the necessity for sheds which do not always fit into the general landscaping scheme.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Fertilize Lawn For Thick Grass

After the first great spurt of spring growth, your plants may need more fertilizer. Shrubs and plants that were killed back in the freeze will need light feedings about every two weeks to keep them growing. Small plants must not have too much fertilizer dumped on them, of course, and shrubs that were killed way back should be fed lightly and frequently until they have got up to some size again. This program of coaxing them along can go on till the first of July when all fertilizing must stop to let woody plants harden off for the coming winter.

Lawns are ravenous at this time of the year. You can tell easily if your lawn needs feeding. If the grass is dark reen, it may need no fertilizer. If the grass is a yellow green, it almost surely does need feeding. The fertilizer ads are right when they say that the better fed lawn has thicker grass in it and the thicker the grass, the less weeds have a chance to grow. Starving grass just hasn't a chance to survive very long in our hot summers here in the south. If you know that your lawn is growing on a thin layer of topsoil, you can help it by dashing a light sprinkling a quarter of an inch deep over the grass and then fertilizing it. The soil added to the top should be the very richest topsoil you can obtain. It must be quite dry so that it will scatter easily and disappear down into the blades of grass without burying them. As soon as the soil is on, scatter your fertilizer, and then sprinkle soil and fertilizer into the turf with water. Some of the very best turfs have been built up in this way.

Old Bermuda grass lawns get so full of dead grass that they become too dense to cut with a mower. Some gardeners rake the dead grass out in September when they plant annual rye grass in their Bermuda lawns. It is just as easy to scatter dry topsoil and fertilizer over them in spring. Water the soil and fertilizer in, and, after the new grass has thatched the lawn together again, you can mow. The only drawbacks to this practice are that you must be sure to get your soil on the surface evenly and that it will take ten days to two weeks for the new Bermuda to grow into the soil and bind it back together again.

Do not forget to feed your trees at this time of the year. The hole punching method is the easiest and most effective way. If you do not want those humps of grass in your lawn under the trees when the feeding has been done, then be sure to leave the last three inches of the holes unfilled with fertilizer and fill them back up with just plain rich soil. More and more southern towns are getting tree service from trained people who have the equipment to feed trees. If you do not wish to feed your own trees, you can call in the tree service people. They usually blow holes into the soil with compressed air and then fill them with fertilizer. Some companies inject liquid tree fertilizer into the soil around shade trees.

Shallow rooted trees like dogwoods can be fed without making holes in the soil. Dogwoods should have at all times a mulch of humus of some kinds over their root systems just as they have the decayed and decaying leaves over them in the woods. A half-and-half mixture of bone meal and cotton - seed meal can be scattered over the mulch around your small trees once a year between October and July. Complete fertilizers are beneficial, too, but be sure that you have a mulch on before using them on dogwoods.

Succotash salad is a fine accompaniment to leftover cold beef, lamb or ham. To prepare it cook frozen cut green beans and cut corn and drain; marinate in French dressing flavored with onion. Serve on salad greens.

Garden Center Notes

Iris Time At Peak In Twin Cities

The blue-ribbon flower show on exhibit at the Garden Center this week was presented by the Newellton Garden Club. In the arrangement section blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. J. R. Whitaker for a distinctive modern arrangement. Mrs. Whitaker's container was a beautiful piece of driftwood with an interesting curved root attached in a vertical position. Pothos (devil's ivy) was arranged spiral fashion around the curved root, with a spray of red geranium flowers in the natural focal area where the driftwood and the root joined. Geranium leaves were arranged at the base and added depth and interest to the composition. A cup type needle point holder was concealed behind the arrangement providing water to keep the plant material fresh—a most interesting and different arrangement. Mrs. W. A. Chapman chose for her container a flat brass bowl on a teakwood stand. A beautiful vertical design was created with tall spikes of native grasses, with April daffodils enhancing the line. Rosettes of variegated pittosporum were clustered at the base of the arrangement.

Mrs. J. W. Hogue designed a lovely triangular arrangement. For a container Mrs. Hogue used a large brown compote of classic design, in which she arranged pale yellow gladiolus and spikes of palm in a triangular pattern. A group of deeper yellow chrysanthemums was placed at the base of the design. The arrangement was placed against a chartreuse background. Color harmony very appealing. In the horticulture section Mrs. J.R. Whitaker was awarded blue ribbons for the following: Red amaryllis, Sweet William and Orchid Cactus. The bloom of this cactus flower is most spectacular and created much comment. It was fully six inches across salmon red with the inner petals suffused with violet, and the contrasting white stamens. In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

By GALE ROBLINS
(Guest Columnist)

Glamour Is A Product

HOLLYWOOD, April 23 — Glamour is one of the leading items on the Hollywood production schedule. It's an ingredient which interjects enormous Audience appeal into its motion pictures. Its language is international, disregarding all barriers. Just try to imagine Hollywood without glamour and you'd visualize a town or industry, if you prefer, suffering from a terrible type of malnutrition. Hollywood and glamour are just about as compatible as hot dogs and mustard or, if you would like to place this conversation on a higher social plane, champagne and caviar.

To a considerable degree, glamour is a manufactured product. Of course, you must start with certain eye - appealing elements but from then on, artisans take over and produce amazing results. But, naturally, you must begin the glamourizing process with a base which, translated, means a good figure (architecture, if you wish and an attractive or interesting face, or both. When Jimmie asked me to write an article, I decided, as an actress, glamour would be my topic.

Many a topflight Hollywood star, now recognized for his or her acting talents, got his or her professional start due to an attractive appearance. Perhaps they were discovered while modeling, in the cast of a play or perhaps on television. But without their attractive physical assets, the chances are they would never had had an opportunity to perform on the screen.

Hollywood spends hundreds of thousands of dollars each year to develop glamourous personalities. Perhaps millions. Talent scouts comb all sorts of media in quest of fresh types of beauty which, in addition, has acting potentialities. The stage, television, night clubs and every conceivable source of new talent is carefully scrutinized by experts in this field.

But the camera is the final critic in connection with new talent. A young hopeful may look like a million Fort Knox dollars but a photographic test will determine whether or not all the promised beauty and personality will reach the screen. Far too often does this promise fail to materialize under the camera's critical examination.

Assuming that the screen test compliments the tyro and he or she lands a film role, then comes a prolonged glamourizing process, especially in the case of the female of the specie. This involves tedious hours in the studio makeup, hair - dressing and wardrobe departments. The subject is carefully studied to determine what makeup will enhance her beauty and develop her personality. Much attention is paid to wardrobe which will compliment her figure and emphasize its good features. Also very important is the hair-do, which must be designed to accentuate her appeal.

In some cases physical exercises are prescribed in order to further develop the figure. This can be an arduous task. In the same category dancing is employed occasionally to develop not only body but poise and grace as well.

Another element which figures prominently in the development of a glamour personality is dramatic training, often in the studio drama school. Not only does it teach the newcomer the techniques of acting but also develops voice quality and improves projection, all of which add up to glamour. It is very important to form good habit patterns in this respect.

The glamourizing process continues in high tempo in the actual playing of a role in a production. By this I mean, good photography has a tremendous value in emphasizing and stressing the appeal of the actress. Coupled with this is expert direction which guides the player emotionally and otherwise into a good performance. Many a Hollywood personality owes much of his or her success to understanding and effective directors—much more than some of the stars will admit perhaps. Some of the wiser beginners take private dramatic lessons from qualified coaches and thus expedite their careers.

Still another important step in the glamourizing routine is the making of motion picture stills. Most of these are in the "cheesecake" category and involve posing in bathing suits and flimsy apparel which is not prudish in character. Photos of this type are widely published by newspapers and magazines throughout the world and because of the eye - appeal involved, the subjects to not have to have any important "name" value. This may be a corny routine, in the opinion of the sophisticates, but it is mighty effective in building up a public awareness of a certain young and attractive player.

Many career - wise beginners (and well - established personalities, too) make it a practice never to appear in public unless they are well - groomed. Nothing perhaps is quite as disillusioning to a fan as to see his or her favorite star, whom she associates in her imagination with minks and yachts slouching along the street in a pair of old slacks.

North, Pass; East, 1 heart; South, 1 spade; West, Pass.

North, 2 spades; East, 3 diamonds; South, Pass; West, 3 hearts.

North, Pass; East, 4 hearts; South, 4 spades; West, Pass.

North, Pass; East, Double; South Pass; West, Pass.

North, Pass.

Opening lead: Ten of diamonds.

The mere fact that one has been doubled in a high contract does not necessarily indicate that the doubler should be finessed for the missing trump honor. When the auction reaches the top levels, one member of the defending team is just as apt to double as the other, and many of these doubles come as a matter of course. Yet in a recent tournament, every declarer who reached four spades on today's hand failed to bring in the contract by the margin of a trick or two.

West chose to open the ten of diamonds, which was taken in dummy. Then followed the ace and a small trump and the jack went to West's queen, whose third round of trumps prevented an eventual club ruff and set the declarer two tricks.

The bidding revealed that East's hand consisted mostly of hearts and diamonds, with perhaps a value in clubs. This reduced his chances of holding three spades. That is to say, percentages favored finding the queen of spades with West. Accordingly, upon winning the opening lead, declarer should take the unavoidable club finesse. The queen will be covered by East's king. The jack of spades should then be led and permitted to ride. A low trump is then led to the ace but the last trump should not be extracted.

Handling of the fourth club must be considered. If the clubs divide, 3-3, there is no need to draw the trump immediately. If the clubs divide 4-2, there is no use to draw the trump, for then a club trick will have to be lost.

Proper technique is to lead two more clubs. If everyone follows, the last trump is drawn and the 13th club is good. If the clubs do not break, then West, who has the outstanding trump, must follow, as dummy ruffs the fourth round of the suit. Now when declarer retains the lead he draws West's trump.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. It's the desire of women for importance — and pretty expensive for Dad or the husband. Being "the best - dressed woman" gives a woman the feeling of being a leader, though all she leads is the fashion parade. It is purely accidental if the new styles are more beautiful. Overalls and diapers are about all that escape changing fashions.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Learn a few slight of hand tricks. Be sure you learn them perfectly so you won't fizzle. Also, watch the children more than adults. Experiments show they see through magician's tricks — just as they see through parents' tricks —better than adults. For information about best book for learning magic tricks send self - addressed, stamped envelope to me care of this newspaper.

Do you really want to be popular? Understanding why is the first step. Tests and rules are made easy in "Popularity" booklet. Non-profit, send 15c, coin only, and stamped, fully addressed reply envelope to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, c-o this newspaper.

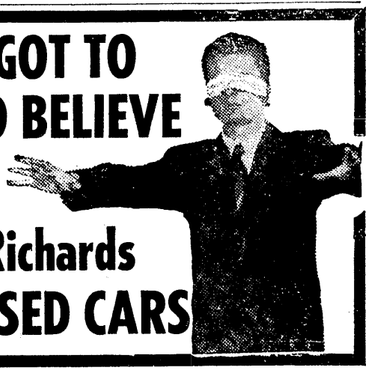

Answer to Question No. 3

3. W. C. Weston International Optical expert, told a London conference of illuminating engineers, that poor lighting in home and school causes children to squint and frown. Result: distortion of the facial muscles and often permanent damage to the child's looks. He added all children and adults should read with material 13 or 14 inches from the eyes and if they don't, they need immediate expert attention. "persons who don't frown or squint are usually happier persons" he added.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

By GALE ROBLINS
(Guest Columnist)

Glamour Is A Product

HOLLYWOOD, April 23 — Glamour is one of the leading items on the Hollywood production schedule. It's an ingredient which interjects enormous Audience appeal into its motion pictures. Its language is international, disregarding all barriers. Just try to imagine Hollywood without glamour and you'd visualize a town (or industry, if you prefer) suffering from a terrible type of malnutrition. Hollywood and glamour are just about as compatible as hot dogs and mustard or, if you would like to place this conversation on a higher social plane, champagne and caviar.

To a considerable degree, glamour is a manufactured product. Of course, you must start with certain eye - appealing elements but from then on, artisans take over and produce amazing results. But, naturally, you must begin the glamourizing process with a base which, translated, means a good figure (architecture, if you wish and an attractive or interesting face, or both. When Jimmie asked me to write an article, I decided, as an actress, glamour would be my topic.

Many a topflight Hollywood star, now recognized for his or her acting talents, got his or her professional start due to an attractive appearance. Perhaps they were discovered while modeling, in the cast of a play or perhaps on television. But without their attractive physical assets, the chances are they would never had had an opportunity to perform on the screen.

Hollywood spends hundreds of thousands of dollars each year to develop glamourous personalities. Perhaps millions. Talent scouts comb all sorts of media in quest of fresh types of beauty which, in addition, has acting potentialities. The stage, television, night clubs and every conceivable source of new talent is carefully scrutinized by experts in this field.

But the camera is the final critic in connection with new talent. A young hopeful may look like a million Fort Knox dollars but a photographic test will determine whether or not all the promised beauty and personality will reach the screen. Far too often does this promise fail to materialize under the camera's critical examination.

Assuming that the screen test compliments the tyro and he or she lands a film role, then comes a prolonged glamourizing process, especially in the case of the female of the specie. This involves tedious hours in the studio makeup, hair - dressing and wardrobe departments. The subject is carefully studied to determine what makeup will enhance her beauty and develop her personality. Much attention is paid to wardrobe which will compliment her figure and emphasize its good features. Also very important is the hair-do, which must be designed to accentuate her appeal.

In some cases physical exercises are prescribed in order to further develop the figure. This can be an arduous task. In the same category dancing is employed occasionally to develop not only body but poise and grace as well.

Another element which figures prominently in the development of a glamour personality is dramatic training, often in the studio drama school. Not only does it teach the newcomer the techniques of acting but also develops voice quality and improves projection, all of which add up to glamour. It is very important to form good habit patterns in this respect.

The glamourizing process continues in high tempo in the actual playing of a role in a production. By this I mean, good photography has a tremendous value in emphasizing and stressing the appeal of the actress. Coupled with this is expert direction which guides the player emotionally and otherwise into a good performance. Many a Hollywood personality owes much of his or her success to understanding and effective directors—much more than some of the stars will admit perhaps. Some of the wiser beginners take private dramatic lessons from qualified coaches and thus expedite their careers.

Still another important step in the glamourizing routine is the making of motion picture stills. Most of these are in the "cheesecake" category and involve posing in bathing suits and flimsy apparel which is not prudish in character. Photos of this type are widely published by newspapers and magazines throughout the world and because of the eye - appeal involved, the subjects to not have to have any important "name" value. This may be a corny routine, in the opinion of the sophisticates, but it is mighty effective in building up a public awareness of a certain young and attractive player.

Many career - wise beginners (and well - established personalities, too) make it a practice never to appear in public unless they are well - groomed. Nothing perhaps is quite as disillusioning to a fan as to see his or her favorite star, whom she associates in her imagination with minks and yachts slouching along the street in a pair of old slacks.

To many Hollywoodites intent upon climbing the professional ladder glamour is a full - time career.

North, Pass; East, 1 heart; South, 1 spade; West, Pass.

North, 2 spades; East, 3 diamonds; South, Pass; West, 3 hearts.

North, Pass; East, 4 hearts; South, 4 spades; West, Pass.

North, Pass; East, Double; South Pass; West, Pass.

North, Pass.

Opening lead: Ten of diamonds.

The mere fact that one has been doubled in a high contract does not necessarily indicate that the doubler should be finessed for the missing trump honor. When the auction reaches the top levels, one member of the defending team is just as apt to double as the other, and many of these doubles come as a matter of course. Yet in a recent tournament, every declarer who reached four spades on today's hand failed to bring in the contract by the margin of a trick or two.

West chose to open the ten of diamonds, which was taken in dummy. Then followed the ace and a small trump and the jack went to West's queen, whose third round of trumps prevented an eventual club ruff and set the declarer two tricks.

The bidding revealed that East's hand consisted mostly of hearts and diamonds, with perhaps a value in clubs. This reduced his chances of holding three spades. That is to say, percentages favored finding the queen of spades with West. Accordingly, upon winning the opening lead, declarer should take the unavoidable club finesse. The queen will be covered by East's king. The jack of spades should then be led and permitted to ride. A low trump is then led to the ace but the last trump should not be extracted.

Handling of the fourth club must be considered. If the clubs divide, 3-3, there is no need to draw the trump immediately. If the clubs divide 4-2, there is no use to draw the trump, for then a club trick will have to be lost.

Proper technique is to lead two more clubs. If everyone follows, the last trump is drawn and the 13th club is good. If the clubs do not break, then West, who has the outstanding trump, must follow, as dummy ruffs the fourth round of the suit. Now when declarer retains the lead he draws West's trump.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. It's the desire of women for importance — and pretty expensive for Dad or the husband. Being "the best - dressed woman" gives a woman the feeling of being a leader, though all she leads is the fashion parade. It is purely accidental if the new styles are more beautiful. Overalls and diapers are about all that escape changing fashions.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Learn a few slight of hand tricks. Be sure you learn them perfectly so you won't fizzle. Also, watch the children more than adults. Experiments show they see through magician's tricks — just as they see through parents' tricks —better than adults. For information about best book for learning magic tricks send self - addressed, stamped envelope to me care of this newspaper.

Do you really want to be popular? Understanding why is the first step. Tests and rules are made easy in "Popularity" booklet. Nonprofit, send 15c, coin only, and stamped, fully addressed reply envelope to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, c-o this newspaper.

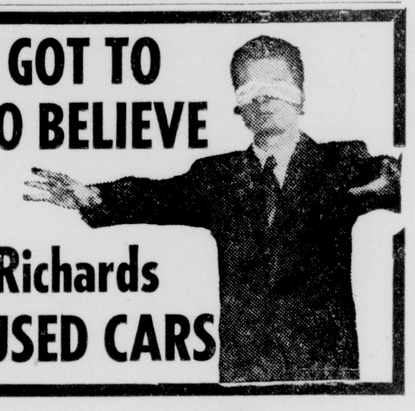

Answer to Question No. 3

3. W. C. Weston International Optical expert, told a London conference of illuminating engineers, that poor lighting in home and school causes children to squint and frown. Result: distortion of the facial muscles and often permanent damage to the child's looks. He added all children and adults should read with material 13 or 14 inches from the eyes and if they don't, they need immediate expert attention. "persons who don't frown or squint are usually happier persons" he added.

MOSES and Miriam

by John Lehti

AFTER JOSEPH'S DEATH IN EGYPT, THE DESCENDANTS OF ISRAEL ARE OPPRESSED MORE AND MORE BY EACH SUCCEEDING PHARAOH...UNTIL THEY ARE FINALLY REDUCED TO THE STATUS OF ABJECT SLAVES...AND BY THE TIME, POSSIBLY, WHEN AMENHOTEP III IS THE REIGNING PHARAOH...

Portions of this story, included to show every-day life and customs of ancient times, have been based on historical research. These portions, though unrecorded in the Bible are not contrary to, nor do they change in any way, the biblical account which may be read in Exodus, Chap. I, Chap. 2:1-10

KHAMOTEP AS MY SCRIBE AND CENSUS KEEPER, YOU KNOW THE ISRAELITE SLAVES MULTIPLY SO FAST THAT SOON THEY SHALL OUTNUMBER THEIR MASTERS! WHAT IS TO BE DONE ABOUT IT?

OH MIGHTY PHAROAH, THOU SON OF RE, BELOVED OF PTAH...IN THY DIVINE WISDOM YOU SHALL KNOW HOW TO DEAL WITH THESE LOWLY ANIMALS!

...THE MIGHTY RULER PROBABLY SPENDS MANY HOURS THINKING OF THE PROBLEM OF THE ISRAELITES...

YES...BEING A SON OF THE GODS HAS ITS BENEFITS! WHATEVER I THINK OF IS BOUND TO BE RIGHT!

...NOW AMENHOTEP MUST DECIDE WHAT TO DO ABOUT THE INCREASING NUMBERS OF ISRAELITES...

HM-M-M- IF THE ISRAELITES OUTNUMBER US, THEY ARE DANGEROUS TO EGYPT. IF WE SHOULD GO TO WAR, THEY MAY JOIN OUR ENEMIES AND FIGHT AGAINST US.

A TREACHEROUS SITUATION, O BULL OF THE NILE!

SO LET US DEAL WISELY WITH THEM... BRING THE HEBREW MIDWIVES TO ME!

ON THE PHARAOH'S ORDERS, THE HEBREW MIDWIVES ARE BROUGHT TO COURT.

HENCEFORTH, EVERY SON THAT IS BORN TO THE ISRAELITES SHALL BE KILLED... BUT THE DAUGHTERS SHALL BE ALLOWED TO LIVE!

AND NOT LONG AFTER THIS EDICT, OUTSIDE A HUT IN GOSHEN...

SHOULD I REJOICE THAT I HAVE BROUGHT INTO LIFE ANOTHER BOY TO BE KILLED BY PHARAOH?

REJOICE, AMRAM! GOD HAS GIVEN YOU AND JOCHEBED ANOTHER SON!

BUT AS THE MONTHS PASS, THE BABY IS SUCCESSFULLY HIDDEN...

HE IS SUCH A BEAUTIFUL BABY, AMRAM.

YES, BELOVED, BUT WE CANNOT HIDE HIM FOREVER FROM THE PHARAOH'S LAW.

JOHN LEHTI

AND THEN...

FATHER! FATHER! EGYPTIAN SOLDIERS ARE SEARCHING THE CAMP FOR NEWBORN BOYS—THEY'RE GOING TO KILL THEM!

WHAT CAN WE DO TO SAVE OUR BABY?
